NOW REGARDED AS RAID FOR SUPPLIES

LITTLE DANGER REMAINING

"The situation in Fukien is improving, and there is no immediate danger to Foochow," was an authoritative statement made to the Telegraph this morning.

Reports received locally are to the effect that the Communists have now evacuated Yangchow and have retired to a point more than thirty miles from Yenping. It is now believed by the foreign authorities that their recent incursion, towards Yenping was not a serious attempt to capture Foochow but was merely a raid to obtain supplies.

H.M.S. Bridgewater, a sloop, attached to the China Station, left Hongkong yesterday at about 4.30 p.m. for Foochow where she will relieve the Wishart. The Bridgewater is expected to arrive at Foochow to-morrow afternoon, and the Wishart to return here on Monday.

At the present time there are two Japanese destroyers and one Japanese cruiser, the American gunboat Sacramento, and the Wishart standing by at Foochow watching foreign interests.

TOKYO VIEWS:

Tokyo, Aug. 31.

The Government has instructed the Minister to Peking to seek the opinion of the British Minister with a view to adopting a unanimous policy in connection with the protection of foreign residents in Fukien.

The Japanese Minister called on the British Minister this morning and had a satisfactory conversation. Similar instructions have been dispatched to the Japanese consular officials at Foochow and co-operation among the foreign gunboats in Foochow will be sought.

YUNGTING TROUBLE.

Japanese intelligence at Foochow reports that Yenping has not been captured by bandits, but disturbances at Yungting and places about seventy miles from Foochow remain serious. The garrison troops at Foochow, according to the Japanese, consists of only about 1,000 men which is considered inadequate. Both the Chinese officials and residents are most apprehensive. The provincial authorities have removed their archives to place of safety. There are now three Japanese warships at Foochow alone.

H.M.S. Cornwall returns from her summer cruise in the north on Monday and will sail for Hong Kong on Tuesday.

THE DRYEST EVER

SUNSHINE RECORD BEATEN TO A FRIZZLE

REMARKABLE DATA

A whole series of fresh records have been contributed to Royal Observatory weather data as the result of Hongkong's driest August since statistics of weather conditions have been officially kept.

The Royal Observatory has been functioning for about 49 years and never in the whole of that time has the Colony experienced such a remarkable August.

During the whole of the month only 1.73 inches of rain were registered by the instruments at the Royal Observatory. It fell upon eight days, the total estimated duration being twelve hours.

PREVIOUS RECORD.

The previous record for a dry August was set in 1906 when 3.97 inches were registered at the Royal Observatory, falling on ten days, with an estimated duration of twenty-two hours.

In August, 1914, the next driest, only 4.21 inches fell, on sixteen days, the duration being 17 hours. At ten o'clock this morning, no measurable rainfall had been registered at the Royal Observatory for fourteen days, which is in itself an all-time record for the month of August.

In 1906, the longest period without rain was ten days, and in 1914, the longest period was only five days.

As was perhaps to be expected in the circumstances, the amount of sunshine also constitutes a new record.

SUNSHINE RECORD.

During the month, there were 299.5 hours of sunshine which is the highest on record, not only for August, but for any month during any year. The previous sunshine record was established in October, 1929, when 288.6 hours were officially recorded.

Cloudiness in August, 51 per cent, set a new low record, and the relative humidity, 78 per cent, was equal to the lowest on record during the month of August.

CONSOLING THOUGHT.

Further interesting data have been made available by Mr. C. W. Jeffries, the Director of the Royal Observatory, which may afford some cause for consolation to the Water Authority.

After the previous record dry August, in 1906, no less than 30.60 inches of rain were registered at the Royal Observatory during September.

After the 1914 dry August, 19.98 inches of rain fell during September.

DEPUTATION ON GERMANY

MR. MAXTON SEES SIR JOHN SIMON

London, Aug. 31.

The Foreign Secretary, Sir John Simon, to-day received a deputation from the Independent Labour Party, headed by Mr. James Maxton M.P.

According to Mr. Maxton, the deputation desired to express to the Foreign Secretary the intense feeling among the working classes in regard to the treatment of certain people and the present regime in Germany.

Mr. Maxton says the Foreign Secretary assured the deputation that the British Government were watching happenings in Germany with the closest attention.

Our photo shows a trench dug by the architects of the compound of St. John Cathedral in an endeavour to trace the home of the ants which have been ravaging the roof. The arrow points to where small nests were discovered and indicate the trench dug. A public appeal has been launched through the Telegraph and South China Morning Post for financial aid. The cost of repairs to the Cathedral will be at least $5,000 and the need is urgent.

COTTON PARLEY DELEGATES

JAPANESE LEADER INTERVIEWED

BRITAIN AND JAPAN

The Japanese delegation to the Indo-Japanese Trade Conference, which is opening at Simla on September 21, arrived in the Colony this morning by the N.Y.K. liner Hakusan Maru.

The delegation is headed by Mr. Sawada, Minister Plenipotentiary without portfolio. He is accompanied by Mr. Terano, Director of the Trade Bureau of the Ministry of Commerce and eighteen representatives of the Japanese Government and leaders in Japanese industry.

Interviewed this morning by a representative of the Telegraph, Mr. Sawada said that the delegation will be joined at Simla by members of the Japanese Consulate General at Calcutta and the tri-partite parley between Indian, Japanese and British interests will begin.

TWO GROUPS.

The Japanese delegation is in two groups; one, representing the Government of Japan, which will negotiate the Treaty of Commerce with the Indian Government; and the other, representative business men, who will discuss trade relations with representatives of Indian commercial interests.

The latter group will, after the parley, proceed to London where discussions are to take place with representatives of British commerce; and, providing the outcome of the Simla Conference is satisfactory and the Trade Treaty negotiated, Mr. Sawada will, with the Japanese Government representatives, proceed to London for further negotiations.

VERY CONFIDENT.

Regarding the prospects of a satisfactory conclusion being reached at the Simla Conference, Mr. Sawada stated he was very confident that the objects of the parley would be achieved, that is, putting trade relations on a better foundation.

Mr. Sawada said, "The Japanese delegation is imbued with a determination to bring about a state of good-will between the countries involved. We are approaching the Conference with an open mind and shall do everything in our power to bring about a satisfactory working agreement which will be to the mutual benefit and advantage of the three countries; India, Japan, and Britain. We realise it is necessary for the peace of the world, Britain, and Japan must come together, as they always have in the past, and we are determined to bring about a better understanding between them."

ENID WILSON WINNING

IN SEMI-FINAL OF U.S. OPEN

LATEST RESULTS

Highland Park, Aug. 31.

Miss Enid Wilson, holder of the British title, and sole English challenger, continued on her winning path in the American women's golf championship to-day and qualified for the semi-final.

Playing in the quarter-finals, she defeated Miss Glutting by 2 and 1. Miss Wilson now meets Miss van Wie, who beat her opponent by a hole, in the semi-final.

The complete results of to-day's matches were:

Miss Enid Wilson beat Miss Glutting 2 and 1.
Miss Hicks beat Miss Robinson 4 and 3.
Miss van Wie beat Miss Cheney one up.
Miss Orcutt beat Miss Hill one up.—Reuter.

tries. We also realise the interdependence of the countries in matters of trade.

TRADE CONNEXIONS.

Mr. Sawada pointed out that India has always been closely connected with Japan in trade. During the past 80 years or so, Japan has been a great purchaser of India's raw materials, particularly cotton, and until last year the balance of trade has always been in favour of India; that is, Japan has bought more from India than she has sold to that country. Now, owing to the rapid progress which has been made in Japanese industry, the balance of trade has shifted in favour of Japan.

SLUM CLEARANCE

LIVERPOOL APPROVES BIG PROGRAMME

GOVERNMENT'S ACTIVITY

London, Aug. 31.

A slum clearance scheme estimated to cost £7,400,000 was to-day approved by the Liverpool Corporation Housing Committee.

The scheme includes the demolition of 12,742 slum houses and the erection in their place of 16,692 houses to accommodate 40,600 people. Building operations, which will extend over several years, will employ 1,000 men.

The scheme is to be submitted for approval to the Minister of Health who called upon all local authorities affected to produce by the end of September five-year schemes for the definite elimination of the slum evil.

Many schemes have already been submitted and are receiving the consideration of Ministry. A few have been judged insufficiently drastic and have been returned to the local authorities for prompt amendment.

SLUM EVIL GONE

Numerous progressive boroughs have already freed themselves of the slum evil but in other instances local difficulties have been encountered which will be swept aside in the campaign now being undertaken by the Health Ministry.

Several London Boroughs have shown notable zeal in tackling the problem inherited from past days when conditions of housing out of all keeping with modern ideas of sanitation were considered quite normal.

BERMONDSEY EXAMPLE.

Bermondsey, for instance, where a few years ago whole areas consisted of hovels of the worst type, has replaced these by pleasant flats equipped with baths, airy rooms, kitchens and electric light.

Bermondsey is mainly inhabited by riverside workers and is entirely a poor area. But the manner in which those who were previously slum dwellers have responded to the opportunity of living in better surroundings is a complete answer to the sceptics who doubted the social effect of good housing condition.—British Wireless.

TRAM MISHAP

YOUNG WOMAN BADLY INJURED

Serious head injuries were sustained by Cham Kwok-yui, a girl aged 19 years, when she fell from a moving tram in Des Voeux Road at 11 a.m. this morning.

The girl, who recently arrived in Hongkong from Pakhal, Konmoon was standing in the open doorway of the third class compartment of a westward bound tram, and it is stated, stepped to the bottom stair preparatory to alighting at the Pedder Street intersection.

After first aid treatment, she was conveyed to the Government Civil Hospital by ambulance.

EMIGRATION OF JEWS

TRANSFERENCE OF SAVINGS

PREMATURE PRESS REPORT

Berlin, Aug. 31.

A report that the emigration of Jews to Palestine is to be furthered by a decree has been published in the Berlin Courier. The publication is officially described as premature.

According to the report, emigrants can now place amounts exceeding one thousand Palestine pounds—the sum now allowed to be exported by emigrants—to the credit of the Trustee Society to be formed in Palestine which is to be used for payment of German goods delivered to Palestine.

Jews who are not emigrating at present, but are building homes in Palestine, can do likewise, but the total credit is not to exceed 3,000,000 marks for the present, in order to avoid unduly straining the reserves of the Reichsbank.—Reuter.

MUNICH CARRIES ON CAMPAIGN

CURRENCY FAKE CHARGES

Munich, Aug. 31.

The steady stream of anti-American propaganda continues to issue from the German broadcasting station in Munich.

Last night, the broadcaster was Herr Knaus, the chief Nazi official of Styria.

He accused Austria of faking its currency, in the course of a long condemnatory harangue, declaring that the State printing presses were uttering notes without any financial backing.

He asserted that all Austrian officials in Styria had been paid by the Government with two notes having the same values, the same numbers and the same dates.—Reuter.

London, Aug. 31.

The hopes encouraged by the more favourable bulletin regarding Lord Grey were disappointed to-day when his condition became less satisfactory and there was a diminution in strength.

To-night it was stated that his condition was extremely serious. It is understood that he is in a state of coma and cannot be aroused.

HIGE SALARIES OFFERED

VOTING BY THE FARMERS

London, Aug. 31.

A small band of super-milkmen is wanted by the Government. They will be Administrative Officers under the new milk marketing scheme, and their salaries will be higher in some cases than those of Cabinet Ministers.

No appointment will, however, be made until the result is known of the ballot among the farmers recording approval or disapproval of the scheme.

Voting papers have been supplied to nearly 250,000 milk producers and they are to be returned to the National Milk Marketing Board by Saturday.

The result of the poll is to be announced next week, probably on Wednesday.

It is stated that the majority in favour of the scheme is secured. The Milk Marketing Board will control the sale of all milk in the British Isles, except the Irish Free State.

The manager, whose salary is to range from £5,000 to £7,500, must be between the ages of 40 and 60. This super milkman must have wide experience of organisation and administration.

TWICE PREMIER'S SALARY.

At the maximum salary he will be paid nearly twice the amount received by the Prime Minister.

The four other super milkmen are to be: Accountant (35 to 40), salary £2,500 to £3,000; Registrar and Statistician (35 to 45), salary £1,000 to £1,250; Secretary (35 to 48), salary £2,000 to £2,500; Marketing Officer (40 to 55), salary £2,500 to £3,000.

On the question of the ages for applicants an official of the National Farmers' Union, upon whose recommendation the scheme is founded, stated:—

"Earl de la Warr, Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Agriculture, pointed out in the House of Lords that this is a tremendous experiment in attempting to organise a hitherto unorganised industry with a turnover of more than £50,000,000 annually. The officials who are to administer the scheme must be men of experience and tried ability."

POTATO IMPORT CONTROL

MORE GOVERNMENT INTERVENTION

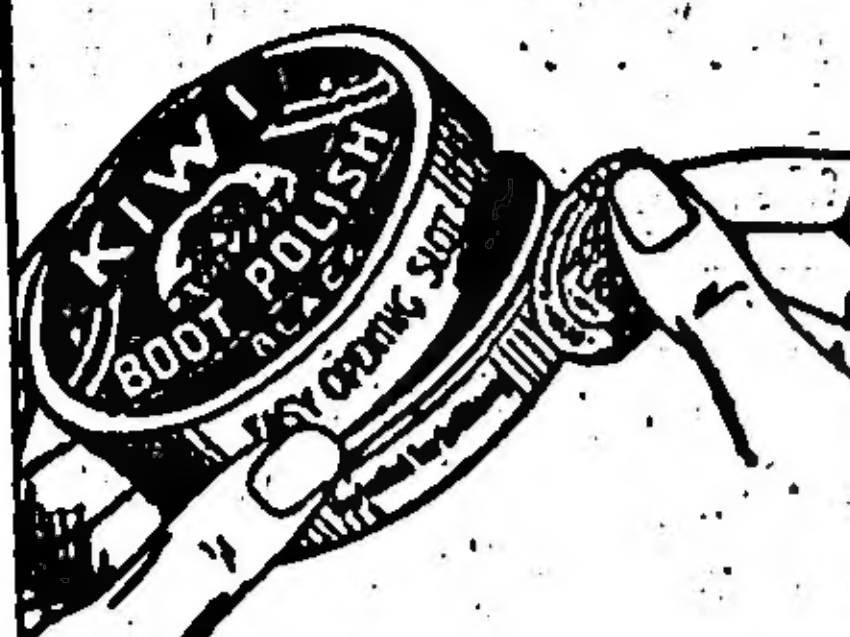

London, Aug. 31.

The Minister of Agriculture has been in negotiation with representatives of the potato exporting countries with a view to emergency action for the regulation of imports, pending the coming into operation of the home marketing schemes and of a permanent system for the regulation of potato imports.

It has now been arranged that during the four months, September to December, the imports into the United Kingdom from the Netherlands and Belgium will not exceed 8,000 tons and 2,500 tons respectively.

Other foreign exporting countries, when they are notified, will be asked to limit their exports to similar figures.

MORTGAGED LAND AUCTIONEER.

WANCHAI BLOCK SOLD TO CHINESE BIDDER

At Messrs. Lammer's auction rooms, Duddell Street, yesterday afternoon, the sale was held of nine Chinese 3-storey tenement buildings situated at Nos. 2-18, Swatow Lane.

A number of Chinese were present, but bidding was confined to only three. The auctioneer (Mr. L. Lammer) announced that the property would have to be sold, and left the bidding to be started by those present.

A first offer of $27,500 was increased by bids of $500 and $1,000 to $30,500, at which figure the property was knocked down to Mr. Yip Kang-ping.

The lot of nine houses occupy an area of 8,715 sq. ft., held on a 99-year lease, dating from 1863. The sale was ordered by the mortgagees.

NONSPI ANTISEPTIC LIQUID

Preferred by doctors.

KEEPS ARMPITS
DRY, ODORLESS

Doctors and nurses endorse Nonspi, the safe, mild, efficient deodorant. Today over a million women rely on Nonspi to prevent the embarrassment of unpleasant underarm odors and to save clothes from ruinous perspiration stains.

Nonspi is safe. It merely diverts the moisture which regularly accumulates under the arm to parts of the body where better evaporation takes place. There can be no harmful results.

Nonspi contains a special ingredient not used in any other deodorant. This increases its safety and efficiency and prevents irritation of the tender underarm skin.

For applying Nonspi use cotton. Laboratory tests, conducted for over a year, prove cotton the most sanitary means of application yet devised.

THE WORLD OF WOMEN

Silk for Summer Sleekness!

RUST COLOUR SUIT WITH WHITE IS DIFFERENT!

By Joan Savoy

It is the right clothes that give a girl that enviable, cool look in summer.

Necktie silk suits are in high style right just now. They have a well-bred look and they do not crush the way many silks do.

Just a little different from the usual polka dotted suits, a leaf dotted one is bound to attract envious eyes. Get it in the new autumn rust colour, with white.

The dress has a slightly formal air. It has cap sleeves and an adjustable scarf neckline and over it you put the little jacket.

The skirt of the dress has inverted box pleats which give it fullness. Add white gloves, white purse, a white hat and white shoes and you're smart!

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

White Accessories Must Be Spotless

By Alicia Hart

It's the little things which are so often neglected. And they really count more than the big ones when it comes to beauty!

If you go in for white accessories and white or pastel lingerie touches on your summer clothes, always be sure that they are immaculately clean. Nothing is worse than soiled gloves, dingy purses and hats or collars and cuffs that aren't spotless.

It takes time to keep white accessories clean—if you can't spend that time on them, it's far better to use dark ones.

Put on fresh underwear every morning. You'll be surprised how good it makes you feel once you get into the habit. It is very easy to rinse out underthings each night. You can't be truly dainty and immaculate if you're wearing soiled lingerie.

Never allow a trace of dandruff or loose hairs to show on your shoulders. If you comb your hair after you put on your clothes, put a towel across your shoulders. Many a woman has lost a race for charm just because her shoulders and neck were covered with loose hair and dandruff.

Be careful of your breath. Make sure that it is always sweet and fresh. Brushing your teeth, using a mouth wash, seeing a dentist frequently and keeping your digestive tract in good working order are the most important steps toward a sweet breath.

Taking a bath every day is a health and a beauty rule that you can't afford to pass up. It is the basic factor toward true charm and beauty.

Some habits we must stop because they are really serious. But hundreds of little things will stop shortly of themselves. The child experiments for awhile, then when his urge is satisfied he is no longer interested and he gives it up.

Mothers need not be nervous over these little habits. A little patience and they will disappear of themselves.

TIMELY HINTS FOR THE HOME

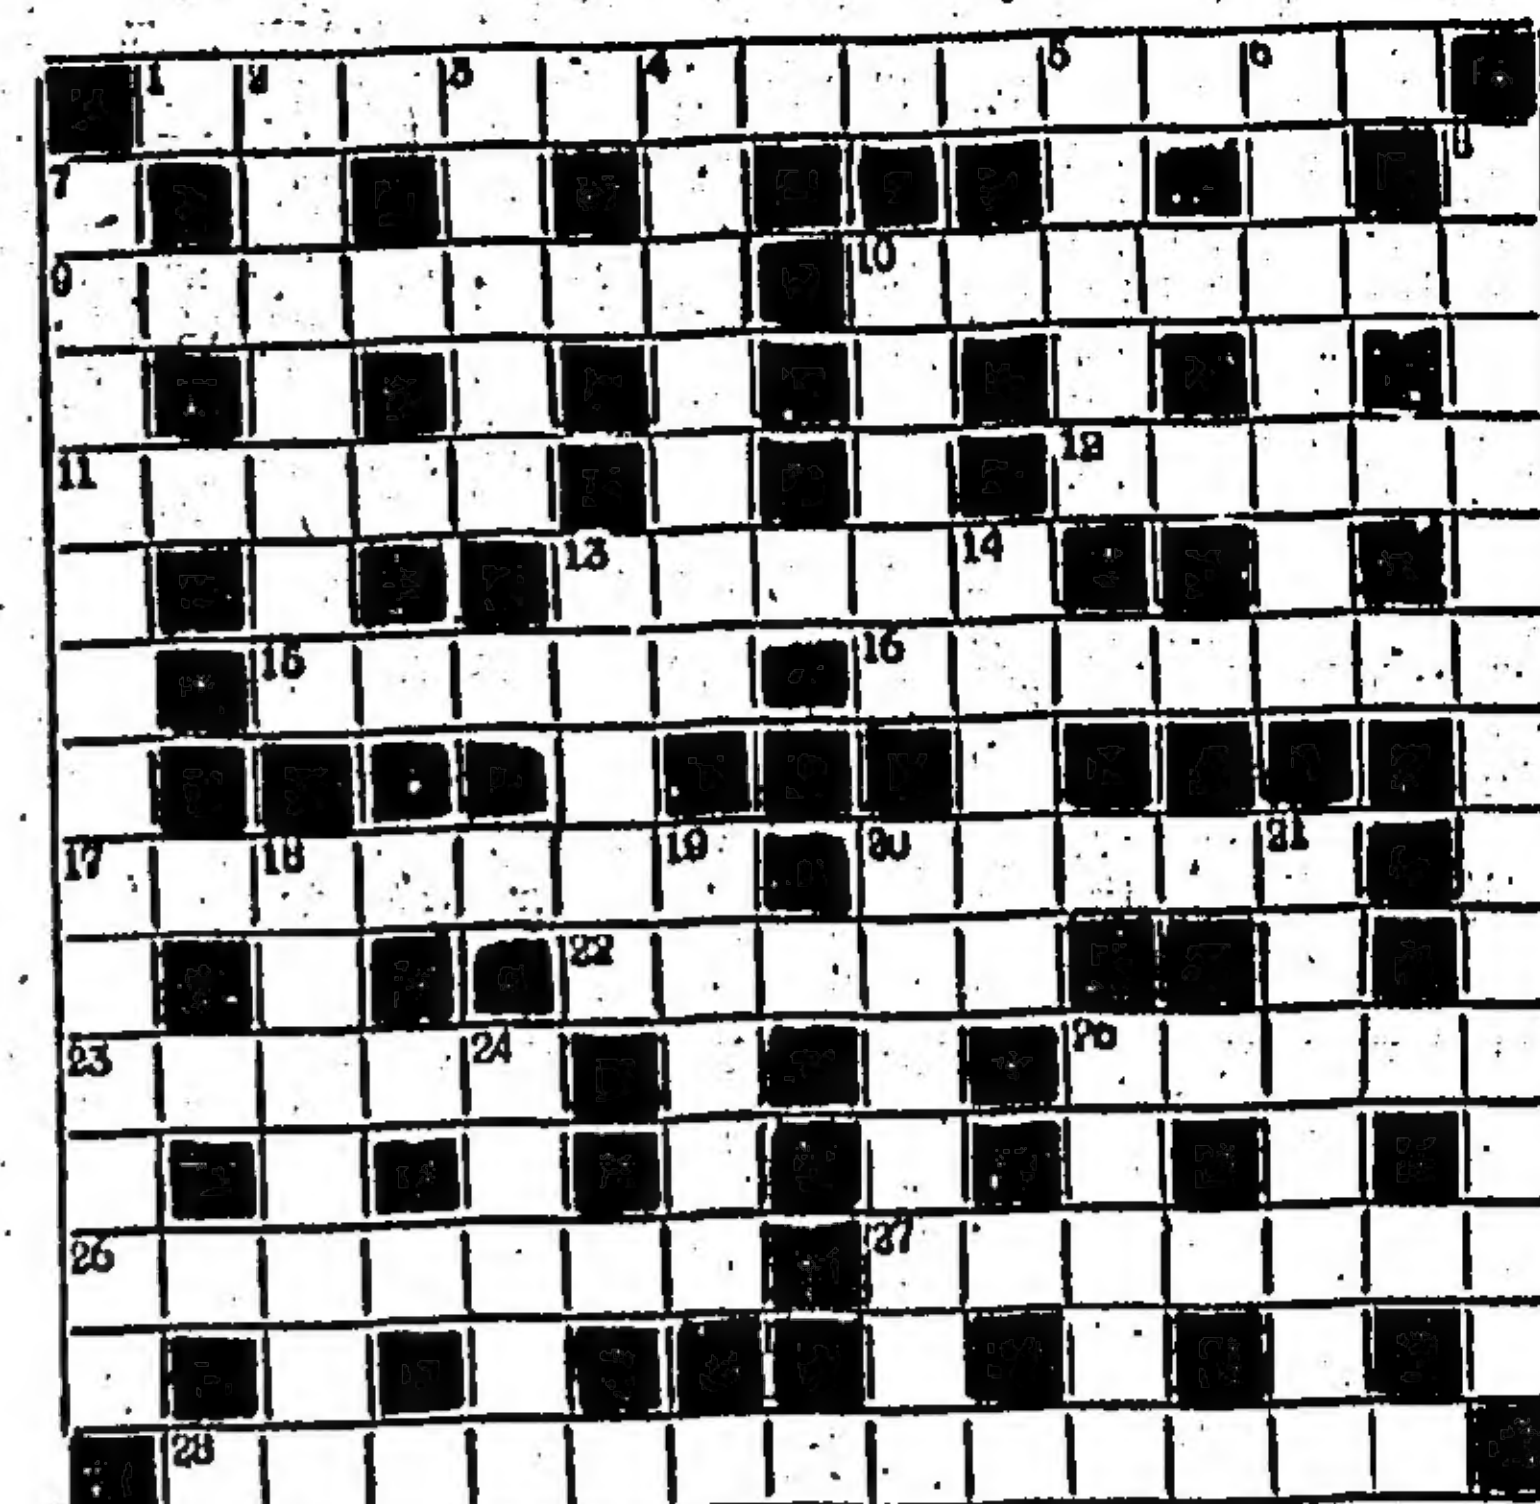

It is a good idea to keep a couple bottles of fruit juice syrup in your ice box in the summer time. You will always be able to make ice cold drinks in a hurry when unexpected guests arrive.

A red and white checked table cloth on a table set with blue glass dishes gives you a patriotic red, white and blue colour scheme that is particularly smart this summer.

When you're in a tight pinch for a dessert—and no time to make one—always remember that sponge cake, wrapped in cellophane, which can be bought in any grocery store, topped with berries or fruit, makes a nice shortcake.

For variety in your home, change your pictures once in a while. Leave expensive oils and etchings for winter. Simple prints and casual pictures look much better in the summer. Heavy frames look rather incongruous with most slip covers—use them in the winter when your furniture isn't covered up.

SALESMAN SAM

He Knows His Own!

By Small

For the LOVE of EVE by Lucy Walling

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY

EVE HAYLES, pretty assistant to EARLE HARRISON, advertising manager of Bixby's department store, secretly marries DICK HADEL, a construction engineer. Dick wants Eve to give up working but she refuses. The same day Eve learns that she is to go to New York for the store and must leave that night. Dick takes her to the station but throughout the week in New York she has no word from him. The days there are busy. She meets THELMA REEZE who is much attracted by her and she visits HELEN PRENTISS, a former schoolmate who is playing the stock market and advises Eve to do the same.

Back at the office a week later Eve finds a new copy writer, MONA ALLEN, who appears to be a troublemaker. MYLA VIALD, fashion artist, and ARLENE SMITH, stenographer, are Eve's friends. Eve and Dick move into an apartment in an old-fashioned house. Dick seems happy but Eve is discontented. They quarrel one night when she comes home and finds him wearing his working clothes.

CHAPTER X

Matters were smoothed over for the time but the night of Dick in a flannel shirt at the dinner table—though it was less common after Eve's outburst—could not always conceal this irritation. Once she found herself, to her disgust, comparing Dick's appearance with Theron Reece's careful grooming.

In spite of its shabby setting in the down-at-heel house, Eve could not help but feel pride in her home. Often she found herself dreaming about improvements that could be made in it—ways to rearrange the furniture, an added touch to colour here and there—when going through the store's various departments in search of ideas for her column.

Late in the afternoon she sometimes became nervous and worried and could not do her best work because she was almost certain she would be asked to remain after the store's closing hour to help get out the next day's copy.

Mr. Bixby did not know of this, she was sure. Prompt and efficient himself, he tried to exact promptness and efficiency from his department heads, and, through them, from every employee.

But Mr. Bixby interfered very little with Barnes' management of the advertising department. In the first months during which Barnes had worked for him, Mr. Bixby had often tried to restrain the younger man's enthusiasms and had required much persuasion to increase the advertising budget to the amount Barnes asked. Gradually, however, as Barnes produced results to justify the increased expenditure, he was allowed to proceed without interference.

Nevertheless Mr. Bixby was opposed to overtime work except on rare occasions when it could not be avoided. There were such times, Eve knew. The days and evenings preceding the semi-annual remnant-day sales were examples. Then, Eve thought, the great department store resembled nothing so much as a madhouse. And now that the rush of Christmas selling was on and the column of advertising increased accordingly, there was seldom an evening that Eve arrived home on time.

She regretted this. She felt that it was not fair to expect Dick to prepare the dinner every evening, as had become the usual routine. His job had its delays and vexations, too.

He worked hard. He worked in all kinds of weather. Eve was beginning to understand that sometimes he came home more exhausted than the men whose manual labour he directed. She was beginning to understand that Dick would always give more than was required or expected of him to any contract to which he bound himself.

She was thinking of this one December evening after a gray, slushy day gave way to darkness outside the office windows and she typed away, turning the little sheet of pencilled notes with pardonable pride. She was wishing that this once she could arrive home before Dick and surprise him with a delicious dinner, piping hot. But of course she could not. Not to-night.

Arlene had had to stay overtime, too, and was transcribing pages of notes that Barnes had dictated late that afternoon. Arlene did not seem to mind particularly. Indeed, Eve suspected that Arlene welcomed this extra work, although she received no remuneration for it.

Eve wondered if Arlene were interested in some man in the store. "It's strange," she thought, "how most men overlook a girl of Arlene's straightforwardness and then let themselves become ensnared by some one like Mona Allen."

To-day, busy as the advertising office had been, Mona had come in late after lunch, her blond hair elaborately waved. And that afternoon, on pretence of securing notes for advertising copy, she had taken time to select a new frock which it was quite evident was to be worn for the first time that evening to dazzle some admirer.

Just a few moments before the closing gong sounded, Barnes asked Mona if she could stay a little later and help that evening. Mona smiled sweetly and answered:

"I'm so sorry, Mr. Barnes, but I have a dinner engagement. There's no way I could let my friend know at this late hour, so of course I will have to keep it. At any other time I'd be only too glad to stay and help you."

And she left with a triumphant glance over her shoulder at the other two girls.

"We're snowed under with work and she gets away with that!" commented Arlene to Eve when Mona had gone and Barnes returned to his office.

It was eight o'clock before Eve and Arlene finished the copy, attached the necessary sketches and cuts and placed them in their separate envelopes, one for each of the Lake City newspapers. As a last straw to the burden of a weary day, Barnes asked them if they'd mind taking the copy to the newspaper offices on their way to the car. Usually he did this himself when the copy was late.

A light snow was falling when they left the store. Crowds were swarming about the brilliantly lighted theatres. Underfoot it was slushy as the two girls trudged from one newspaper office to another.

"Of course, we could save a few minutes by separating these things and delivering them alone, but in my present miserable state

I feel the need of your stimulating companionship," Arlene said with a feeble grin.

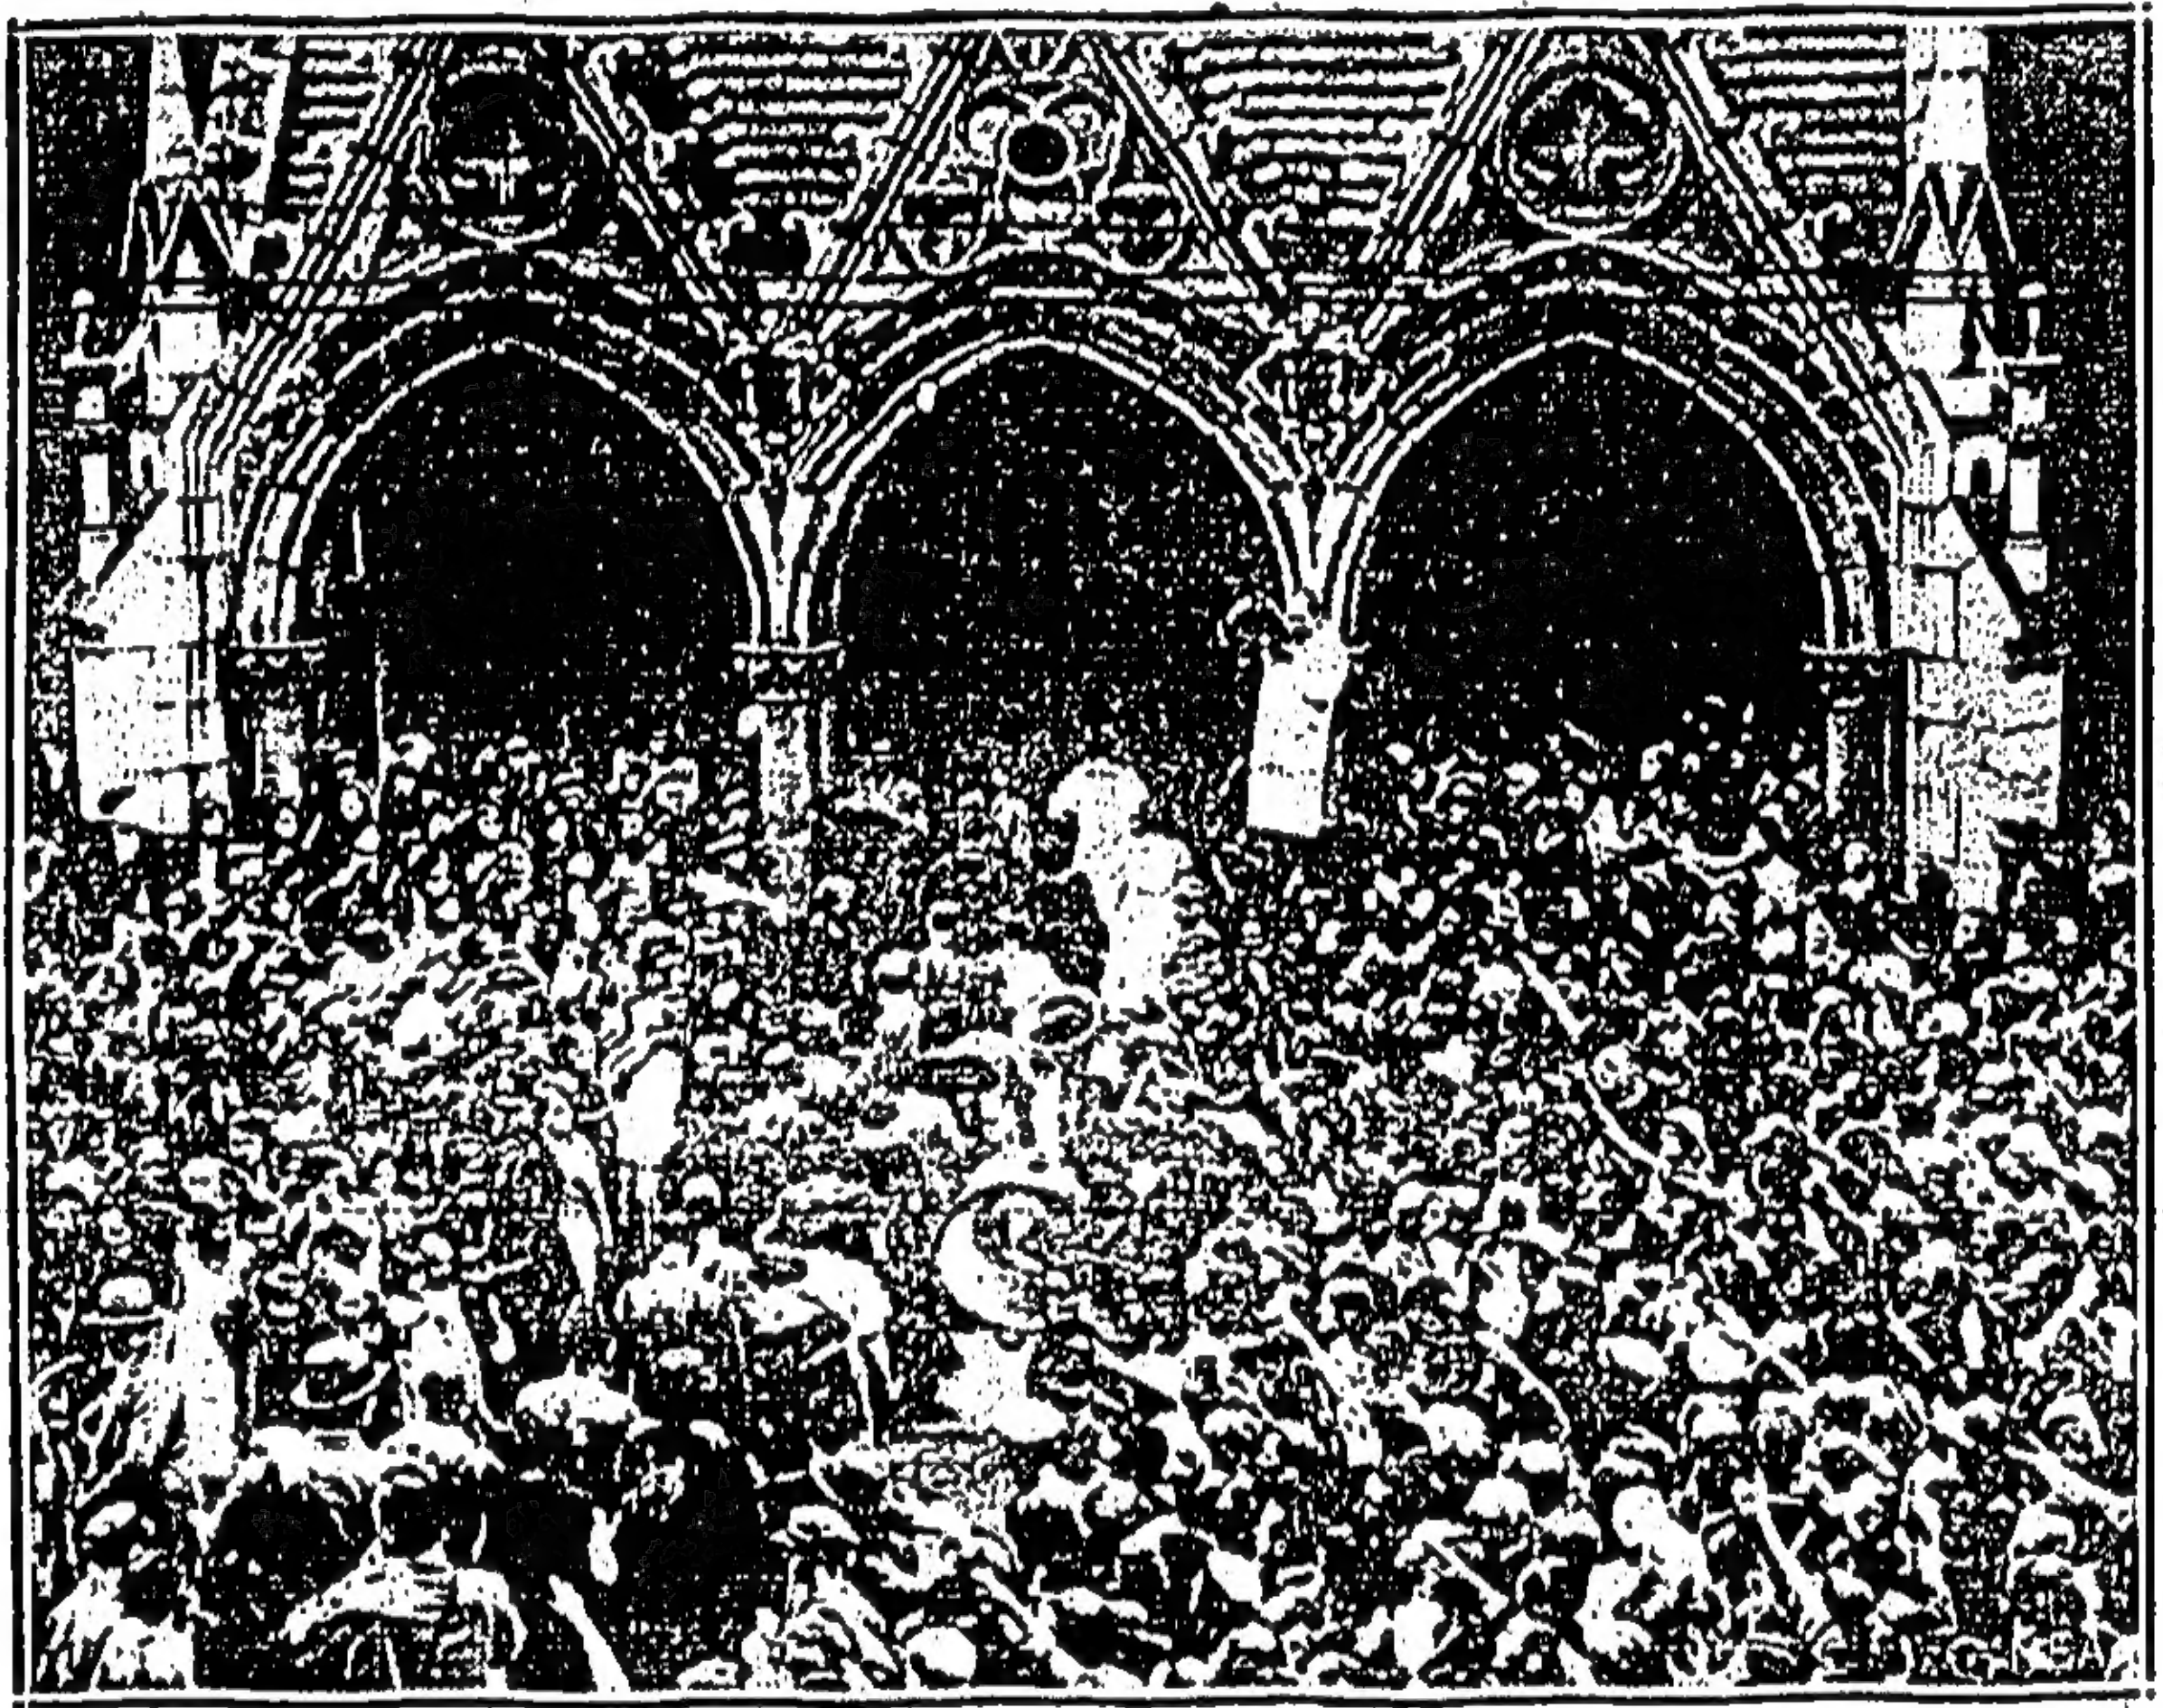

Eve, tired and hungry, was tempted to agree to Arlene's suggestion that they eat downtown. But she thought of Dick, waiting at home for her. After the copy was safely delivered she hurried to the nearest corner where she could get a car on the trolley line that ran past her home. She had to wait and to-night the ride seemed interminable. Eve felt weak long before she reached home. She should have taken at least a malted milk before working so late, she thought. It was a quarter to nine before she reached home. As she wearily climbed the front porch steps, she wished anew for an apartment in a modern building with elevators.

However, she felt a warm little rush of thankfulness for her home just as it was when she saw the narrow slit of light under the door. Dick would be waiting for her. And he would have something hot and savoury for her to eat. She hoped it would be chicken noodle soup.

But the door was locked. That meant Dick was not there. Probably he had just gone down to the corner to get a magazine or a fresh supply of tobacco. Eve hunted for her key and unlocked the door.

The room was in order. One lamp burned dimly in the living room. She turned the switch that lighted the combination kitchen and dining room and saw that the table was set with one place. There was a note beside it. It read:

"Eve, dearest: You'll find your dinner in the oven. Only take a few minutes to warm it up. Sorry I couldn't wait and eat (Continued on Page 11.)"

An unusual feature of the Thanksgiving sabbath in Berlin recently was the re-marriage of 50 couples under Nazi ritual. This was the picturesque scene as throngs entered the couples entering the Lazarus church for the mass wedding. All but two of the couples were already married.

For the first time since the 1917 revolution, young Russians are dancing the fox-trot this summer with government approval. The lively rhythm of "You're the Cream in My Coffee," and hits of that vintage, float over public parks at evening. The pavilions where government instructors teach "modern western dancing" are packed to the edge.

But the fox-trot, as taught by Soviet government officials, is different from the night club fox-trot of America, as the picture at the right will show you.

"We have cleansed the fox-trot," says Peter Lomakin, cultural director of Moscow's Gorki Park of Culture and Rest. "We have removed the pornographic elements, the sex factors, but retained the rhythm—all that is worth while in western dancing."

A year ago bands of earnest young men and women paraded the streets with banners (top picture) which read "Down with the fox-trot and cyber-musical! (Live! the proletarian song!"

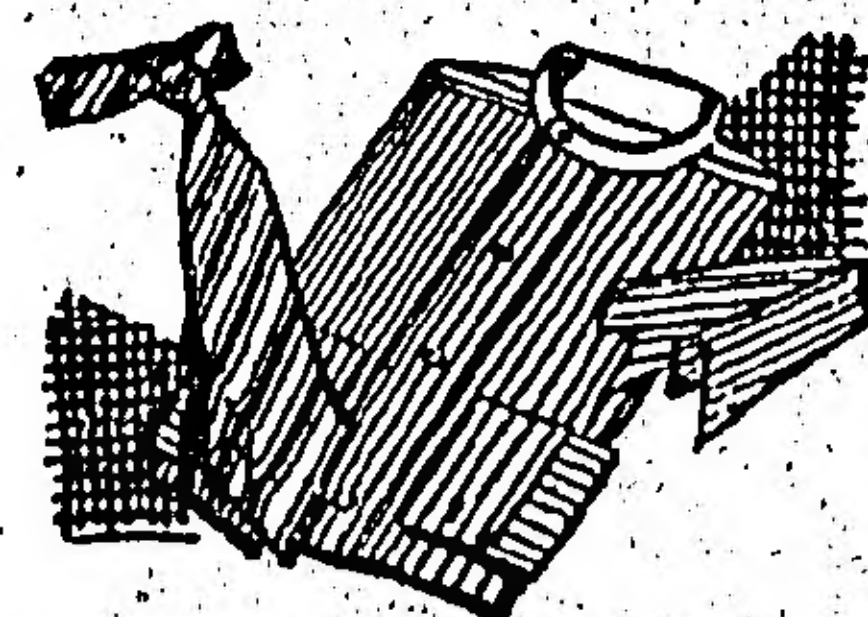

Louis Armstrong, the most famous Dance band trumpet player in the world, whose death was recently reported, arrived in London to deny the report. He is seen here with another negro at Water Station. (Planet News).

General Datta, leader of the Indian air armada, wearing the traditional shawl with which he was presented after being presented to the British by the Indian Air Force. He is here photographed with Chief Minister, (Planet News).

Shirts

to measure

There is a great satisfaction in being individual in the matter of shirts and in having them specially made in a pattern and of a material of your own choosing. They can then be cut to your own measure and to include those small personal preferences. Nor need this be expensive, for we have a number of exclusive patterns, from which shirts can be made to measure for as little as $12.50 with two collars to match. WORLD CRISIS A WAY OUT

By FREDERICK COPE, A.M.I.E.E.

Mr. Cope's striking articles on the world economic crisis which were recently published in the Hongkong Telegraph are now available in pamphlet form.

One of the features, repaying study, is the close similarity between the plan of reform suggested by this local writer, and certain aspects of the Roosevelt recovery programme. The author's ideas are naturally far too advanced for active promotion at the present time, but they are particularly interesting in view of the fact that President Roosevelt, in striking out on a path of his own, has travelled in the same direction.

The pamphlet is one of forty-four pages and can be obtained from the South China Morning Post at a cost of—

CINEMA SCREENINGS

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES

When Robert Montgomery isn't working at the studio he may be found in one of four places, his rambling Spanish home in Beverly Hills, the tennis court, his favourite golf course or a polo field.

No house with four walls and a roof could contain the pep and vitality which belong to the popular young player appearing with Sally Eilers in "Made on Broadway," a new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production opening on Sunday at the Queen's Theatre. He likes plenty of room to move around and during his leisure time gets out of doors almost as soon as he can shed studio garb and bounce out of the house.

This young man, who in two short years has climbed to rapid stardom, must be doing something every minute. He never walks, he runs. He is always on his way to places to do things. He possesses a perpetual and contagious enthusiasm. When he works, he works with every ounce of his energy. When he swings polo club, tennis racket or golf club, he does it with an equal vigour.

During the first few months of Montgomery's screen life, he had very little time for anything except work. He rushed from picture to picture, sometimes working in two at the same time.

Since he has become an honest-to-goodness star, he has had more leisure to do the things which he likes, to play, to enjoy his home, to entertain his friends and to be entertained.

Montgomery's greatest ambition is to accumulate enough money to retire to a farm in northern New York where he can have horses, dogs, tennis courts and books. If the meantime while he is working toward the goal, he is enjoying every moment of living.

"Cynara"

Ronald Colman denies that he is a woman-hater. He likes women and women like him. Somewhere in the mysterious labyrinths of rumour and gossip and publicity there was germinated the report that the star of "Cynara" at the King's Theatre today, was a woman-hater.

The failure of his own marriage has not made him cynical toward all marriage. But because he is a gentleman and because he is discreet rumour runs rampant that Mr. Colman shies of women.

Just after the war he married Miss Thelma Raye of the English stage. They had been appearing together in a melodrama. The union was not a successful one. That isn't news, of course. Because of British divorce laws and because of geographical difference (Miss Raye in England and Colman in Hollywood), severance of the tie was not easy. Only a legal separation could be effected. And so it stands.

On the screen, he continues to be a polished cosmopolitan. Off the screen, he remains a popular bachelor, charming, sincere and circumspect.

For years Ronald Colman has been the inseparable companion and friend of Richard Barthelmess and William Powell. When Barthelmess married Jessica Haynes Sargent, there were those who sit in figurative rocking chairs who predicted that it meant the dissolution of Hollywood's three musketoes. But the threesome went placidly on, except that it took on a fourth musketeer.

A couple of years later, William Powell married Carole Lombard and to the whispering cacophony this meant surely that Ronald Colman would be left out in the cold, cold world.

How did these feminine incursions affect the Colman situation. Most any day you can find him at the Barthelmess beach house at Malibu. He will probably be carrying the bass in a not too harmonious trio singing "White Wings."

"Happy Ever After"

Lillian Harvey is seen walking a tight-rope in "Happy Ever After." A story is attached to that performance. In this film she dreams that when she is given a try-out by directors at Hollywood she sees herself dancing on a tight-rope. It was arranged that a double should take her place in this scene, but that idea did not meet her approval at all. For weeks she practised secretly and when the scene was shot she was able to give a perfect exhibition.

The story of "Happy Ever After" is the ordinary but eternally popular one of two men and a girl; but it has been treated on quite unusual lines having a fairy tale quality which makes a definite appeal.

"This picture is a highly polished effort and features an all-British cast. One of the highlights of the film is the laughable dream sequence. Miss Harvey has never appeared to greater advantage than in this talkie. Here is a picture that everyone should see! Showing at the Central Theatre tomorrow."

"Best of Enemies"

The secret is out as to Buddy Rogers' return to the movies. It is simply a case of his personality and versatility so ideally fitting the role in "Best of Enemies" that he stood out as the only star in Hollywood who could do it justice.

It means that Buddy Rogers is cast as a typical American boy who has a penchant for music and saxophones. The part in "Best of Enemies" might well have been written to fit Rogers' personality. In the picture, just as in his life, he is seen as a college boy

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1933.

THE AMERICAN EXPERIMENT

Professor Gregory's considered opinion that the American recovery programme cannot achieve permanent prosperity comes from a sufficiently authoritative source to cause deep thinking in the United States. Professor Gregory is one of Britain's foremost currency experts and moreover, he has devoted special study to American finance, being the author of several publications. His suggestion that the appearance of returning prosperity derives from the fact that the United States is living on capital cannot be easily set aside. It seems, in fact, to be the inevitable process in any measure of artificial stimulation of trade and industry, constituting in the long run, the throwing of good money after bad. Money is being poured out in an effort to raise prices. The raising of price is regarded as vitally necessary in order that farmers, primary producers, industrialists and so on will be in a position to pay the debts they incurred when values were higher. The American Experiment seems to be taking the semblance of the last desperate effort of the capitalist system to save itself. And the final test does not appear to be far off. Mr. William Green now raises the question whether the wage limit is high enough and the hour limit is low enough to do any appreciable good. Managers assert that to attempt higher rates will involve not only heavy pay-roll increases for industry, but also a further scaling down of higher paid employees to near the minimum level. This is an indictment of the present wage scale, it also warns of a tendency to make the minimum a maximum. In this attitude lies the greatest danger to the success of the Experiment. Despite the appeals for cultivation of the community spirit, the industrialists still appear to be desirous of having their cake and eating it too. They are prepared to make concessions, but they must be the absolute minimum required, in their opinion, to achieve the set purpose. And as Mr. Green warns, they are falling short.

NOTES OF THE DAY

ECONOMIC PLANNING

Two items in the news to-day reveal the increasing part which the Government is taking in the development and regulation of industry and commerce. The whole of Britain's milk supplies may soon be controlled by highly-paid administrative board. The Minister of Agriculture has followed up his fish import control scheme with a similar arrangement regarding potatoes. The policy of the Government reveals that the trend of modern thought is being followed more closely than is generally assumed. Economic planning on full scale is coming as sure as the day.

STATE CORPORATIONS

There may, in fact, be even more striking developments in the very near future. Although the political importance of Fascism in Britain is quite negligible, it is coming to be recognised in circles quite hostile to the system as a whole that there are certain aspects of Fascist policy which are well worthy of close study with a view to emulation. It is significant, indeed that certain well-known political leaders are considering the possibility of combining existing industrial organisations—that is, both trade unions and employers' federations—into state-controlled corporations on the Italian model. The Prime Minister, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, is understood to be one of those who is closely watching this investigation. Should he decide to sponsor the corporation idea, the whole face of British politics might be revolutionised overnight.

PETROL FROM COAL

"Oil out of coal" is a hope that has been beckoning to Western Europe for long past; ever since the coal, which Britain, Germany, and France all possess in abundance, was ousted for so many purposes by the oil, which they do not. As an affair of laboratory chemistry the transformation is not difficult, and there are several alternative ways of achieving it. The difficulty comes when it is a matter of converting laboratory practice into a paying commercial process on the grand scale.

A SUBSIDISED SCHEME

With three countries interested, which between them contain so much of the world's chemical and technological wisdom, the problem can hardly fail to be solved in the long run. But time is of consequence, for few things would help us more in the next years than an improved demand for coal. Particularly is this the case in Britain. But it is Germany, which has hitherto done most towards solving it, because only in Germany has the attempt been subsidised. Now what will in effect be a modest subsidy is to be made available in Britain for a limited period; and a large plant costing 2½ millions is to be erected by Imperial Chemical Industries on the strength of it.

THE COLONY'S FINANCES

Explaining the supplementary P.W.D. estimates, the Hon. Colonial Treasurer gave a very convincing demonstration that figures can be made to prove anything or nothing. Having more money than you first thought of, you subtract this and you get that. Q.E.D. The only difficulty we experienced in understanding the explanation was concerned with the feeling that this is September and not January. It was also notable that while the Treasury adopts a rule a very cautious policy, it seems to have been extremely liberal in its allowance of a trifle over five lakhs for contingencies during the remaining four months of the year.

JOHN C. SEGRUE considers

THE TRUE MIND OF GERMANY

THE observer of Liberal outlook living at the heart of the German eruption finds it no easy task to preserve a balanced attitude towards the Nazi movement. In his mind the onslaughts upon freedom and the pitiless persecution of a defenceless minority must arouse doubts as to the worth of Nazi ideals, or the substance of the achievements Nazis boast of.

Has there so far been a constructive side in Nazi activities? At present the unchallenged masters of Germany, will their power wane or be lasting?

Do the abnormal conditions prevailing in their country give satisfaction to the mass of Germans, to those, that is, who do not belong to the order of the outlawed?

To these questions an answer may be attempted now that we are within sight of the completion of the first six months of Nazi government.

The facts of the German situation are extraordinarily difficult to sift. The Press is muzzled; even the mildest criticism within Germany is forbidden; opponents of the Government still go in dread.

To what extent Germany's flag waving, song singing and joyous marching are genuine and to what extent they are the work of Dr. Goebbels, the Minister for Propaganda and Europe's astutest agent for publicity, is not to be ascertained.

After six months the tremors of the political earthquake that rocked Germany are subsiding, but a darkness as of the thick forest on a moonless night still overhangs the land.

In the list of achievements that Dr. Goebbels from time to time requires the German Press to publish Nazi exploits in foreign politics are rarely referred to. Yet in this field they can rightly claim some successes. The pact with the Vatican negotiated whilst priests were being rounded up in Bavaria was a skilful piece of diplomatic work.

Under the Nazi Chancellor Germany's relations with Poland have improved. The Polish Corridor is no longer mentioned in Nazi polemical literature. The first step of the Nazis on attaining power in Danzig was to send an embassy of peace to Warsaw. Under the guidance of Herr von Neurath, a non-Nazi, the present rulers of Germany have shown themselves to be realists in the field of foreign affairs.

HOME AFFAIRS.

At home their outstanding achievement has been to entrench and fortify their position. Every lever in the complicated machine of the State is now in their hands. No position is too insignificant for a Nazi to fill.

Wherever Germans gather in an organised group—for prayer, on the tennis courts, at chess tournaments, at hikes—there will be the watchful and attentive Nazi.

An energetic offensive against unemployment has been launched, although far too rosy a picture of its results has been drawn by Nazi propagandists. The labour camps—a scheme taken over from previous Governments—by removing thousands of unemployed youths from the streets or mean homes, must be accounted a praiseworthy social experiment.

There has been ruthless war upon mendicancy. The beggars who infested the big cities have mostly vanished.

A moral clean-up is being attempted. Dubious establishments have been suppressed; dubious advertisements are no longer published in the newspapers. The vicious side of night-life is fading out as the result of police raids.

I think the Chancellor's personal position is stronger than when the regime started. His personality and his policy still occasion a glow to the youth of Germany, and his influence is considerable with the unromantic middle-aged.

He is the link between the armed forces and the new Germany. It is notorious that the Army does not greatly like the Nazi movement, and opponents of the Government are disposed to build upon this hostility.

But I think that any general who tried to lead the troops against the present Chancellor would be guilty of a deadly miscalculation.

IRKSOME STRAIT JACKET.

In the industrial field there has been no conscious betrayal of labour to the capitalist. The lot of the worker in Nazi Germany is not a comfortable one, yet the employer too must submit to an iron discipline.

There is a touch of comedy in the Nazi campaign to persuade hard-headed German business men that in business the "interests of the community must go before the interests of the individual." With very faces the other day at Leipzig 4,000 Saxon industrialists and bankers listened to a lecture from a Nazi on this theme.

Despite the Chancellor's enhanced prestige, the Nazi movement has not, I fancy, made headway during the last six months. Germans find the strait-jacket irksome. Grumblers are legion. The workers stand aloof. The capacity of the Nazi leaders to solve Germany's many problems is doubted. The plight of the Jews provokes commiseration.

And the future? It is not to be supposed that a great people like the Germans will permanently acquiesce in the loss of all liberty, but, on the other hand, changes as the result of an upheaval are not probable.

Undiluted Hitlerism must pass, and it is possible that Adolf Hitler himself will bring about the transition to more tolerable conditions. The democratic republic has come for good and the dangers of Communism still frequently evoked are a tale of goblins intended to scare the uninitiated. The German pendulum may finally come to rest in a middle position.

The ideal of a revived monarchy on constitutional lines, with Adolf Hitler as Chancellor for life, greatly attracts Nazi youth. Destiny may be preparing a lofty niche for the ex-Crown Prince, the friend of the Jews.

The Very Idea!

By Eddie Kelly, Spendthrift

ACCORDING to the financial statement issued by the Colonial Treasurer last Tuesday, Hongkong has a surplus of $16,123,725.85, or more than six million bucks above the minimum requirements.

In fact, the Colonial Treasurer has so much money, that he doesn't know how to spend it.

Yesterday, in Legislative Council, he could only suggest means of disposing of a mere bagatelle of six lakhs.

We wish we could get our hands on that money. We'd show 'em how to spend it.

We would, for instance, fix up that little argument with the Hotel. We would pay them their eleven dollars.

Then there's our Star Ferry ticket. Six bucks, we'd give 'em. Then we wouldn't have to climb the rails every time the Inspector is on duty.

There are several other ways we could think of to spend those six millions.

Cumshaw to the boy would absorb five bucks. Then we could buy our morning paper every day, instead of reading over our neighbour's shoulder on the Ferry.

A night at one of the dancing academies would cost us at least five bucks, and taking a dance girl home afterwards—say two bucks for taxi hire.

We would have to set another five bucks aside for the gala night of "Cavalcade." Other picture shows would probably cost us in the vicinity of $6.

Incidentals, say, twenty bucks, which, you will admit, is fairly liberal in these hard times when a man has only six million to spend.

The total is now $60. We leave it to you to guess how we'd spend the other $5,999,940.

DEFINITIONS

Peter pays Paul and I gain experience.—Eddie Kelly draws his salary and pays his hotel expenses.

How's the body? — Motorist, apologetically, to inert corpse.

Oh, yeah? — Chinese word, third upper, expressing parliamentary belief.

FRIENDSHIP OF NATIONS

Mr. Terry's Address to Y's Men's Club

"NAPOLEON THE GREAT"

At the weekly luncheon of the "Y's Men's Club, Mr. C. E. Terry, Chairman of the Kowloon Residents' Association gave the members an interesting talk on international co-operation and goodwill. To be a true internationalist, said the speaker, one had to be a nationalist to a certain extent.

Mr. Terry's address was as follows:—Those of you who have had occasion to visit Kowloon on a busy day cannot fail to have been struck by the diversity of nations represented by the ships lying alongside. The flags of Great Britain, America, Germany, Norway, France, China, Japan—in fact of practically every country in the world both Oriental and Occidental can be seen at the same time either at the wharves or in close proximity in the stream, and serve as a striking example of how much we in Hongkong are dependent on international co-operation and goodwill. Particularly is this true as between ourselves and our nearest neighbours; not only must there be external co-operation and good will, but this is also essential internally in the Colony itself. This co-operation and goodwill must necessarily be based on mutual understanding and respect, and this can only follow an understanding on the part of the individuals of each country of each other's view point.

NAPOLEON'S NATIONALISM.

I have said that this understanding must be based on mutual respect—this is where Nationalism and Internationalism are interlinked. No one can be a true internationalist who is not to a certain extent also a Nationalist, but the perverted type of Nationalist who can see no good in any other country but his own is to be avoided like the plague; provided such a man is honest in his opinions, some measure of respect must be accorded him, but only too often this type of Nationalism is "Individualistic Nationalism." When carried to extremes, it is capable of plunging whole countries into chaos and distress for the glorification of one man or one party. History abounds with examples, and even in contemporary history we have not far to look for this type; the words of Ingersoll at the grave of Napoleon illustrate admirably what I mean. In recording his impressions as he stood at the grave, he said:—

"I thought of the orphans and widows he had made—of the tears that had been shed for his glory. ... And I said I would rather have been a French peasant and worn wooden shoes. I would rather have lived in a hut with a vine growing over the door, and the grapes growing purple in the kisses of the autumn sun. ... I would rather have been that poor peasant with my wife, ... knitting as the day died out of the sky—with my children upon my knees and their arms about me—I would rather have been that man and gone down to the tongueless silence of the dreamless dust, than to have been that imperial personation of force and murder, known as 'Napoleon the Great.'"

Napoleon is a striking example of what I mean by "Individualistic Nationalism"—other examples will readily occur to you. I myself am an Irishman, and I have seen in my own time my country divided by bitter internecine strife through the megalomania of one man.

BASIS OF FRIENDSHIP.

Do not for one moment however imagine that I am decrying true Nationalism—a right and proper pride in one's own country and its history and achievements is the heritage of every man, but no thinking man can ignore the history and achievements of other countries, and in awarding them their full measure of respect and admiration lies the basis of a real international friendship. Here again the dangers of extremism creep in, and we get the type who can see good in every country but their own. This again is bad; no contact or friendship is of value which necessitates the subordination of one's own individuality, and this is just as true of countries as it is of individuals.

All the distrust and conflicts of the past have been built up on lack of knowledge—lack of knowledge of the other man's view point, habits and mode of life; in the world of to-day, everything is tending to increase our knowledge and consequently to increase our understanding as between country and country, race and race. At one time, when it took a week to journey from Lon-to increase her exports so as to preserve her trade balances. Therefore, it is hoped, the misunderstanding which has occurred recently with regard to Japan's industrial policy, will be cleared up at the forthcoming conference.

Photo shows the result of a head-on collision between a motorbus and a private car near the University on Wednesday. So violent was the crash that it took an hour to separate the vehicles.

This picture gives an excellent general view of the scene of Wednesday's collision.

POLITICAL UNDERSTANDING.

The delegation is fully conscious that there are certain difficulties to overcome, stated Mr. Savada, but with the instructions as to policy which have been given them by the Government of Japan they have every hope that there will be a successful outcome, the results of which will reflect greatly in a more complete understanding of present worldwide trade difficulties; and, what is most important, a better political understanding between Great Britain, Japan and India, and in fact all the nations of the British Empire.

don to Edinburgh, the people of the South of England knew nothing of the culture and civilisation of the Scottish capital, and considered everybody North of the Humber as barbarians and of no account. To-day London knows what is happening and what people are thinking in New York, Hongkong, Canton, and even some of the darkest parts of Africa almost as soon as the people of those very parts, and all this progress is wasted unless we can train ourselves to think internationally as well as—not instead of—nationally.

HONGKONG AND CHINA.

We in Hongkong are in the happy position of being in close contact all the time with our neighbours, and endless opportunities exist for furthering good-fellowship, understanding and good will. It is the younger generation on whom this responsibility chiefly devolves, and it is to Clubs such as yours that we look for a lead in this object. I cannot do better than quote from the striking address given by Dr. Henry of Canton to our local Rotary Club, when "he" said "Nothing can be more sure than that a Hongkong and Canton that know each other more, and hold a certain respect, even regard, one for the other will mean a happier and more prosperous South China," that is the end to which we are all striving, and an end which I am confident we shall achieve by co-operation, mutual give and take, and mutual work for the common end. (Applause).

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

YESTERDAY'S MARKET DULL

According to Messrs. Swan, Culbertson and Frits, the New York market was dull yesterday. Business 1,140,000 shares. The Wall Street Journal report on yesterday's market: The market was dull and irregular and traders are holding aloof due to long weekend as all major markets with the exception of livestock will be closed Saturday and Monday, Labor Day holiday. The Stock Exchange admitted to listing the stocks of companies reorganized in the dissolution of Drug Inc. These include United Drug, Vick Chemical, Sterling Products, Life Savers Corp. and Bristol, Myers Co. Our New York Office cable (This morning).

Stocks: The market was featureless during the day and was subject to minor profit-taking at the close. Wheat: Liverpool's apaid, made an early lower market. Good buying on the decline, prices sharply. Believe that wheat should be bought on setbacks. September liquidation is virtually completed. Cotton: The Government's review of the processing tax on September 7th and crop report on the 8th is awaited as possible incentives for renewed interest. Reports of damage to crop are not construed as more than normal August deterioration. Poor demand for goods is reported on Worth Street (the piece goods section). Spot demand quiet. Silver: The market is listless. Our New York Office cable (Last Night).

Stocks: There seems to be little interest in Utilities. The market action is increasingly good and purchases are suggested. Wheat: Liverpool follows advance here reluctantly. Strong new buying developed as September liquidation nears completion and general outlook furnishes hedge selling, meets the upturn. Speculative buying is restricted otherwise the market is featureless and very quiet with a sagging tendency. Dow-Jones averages:

FURTHER MATCHES WITH SURREY

No matches between these two counties took place in 1866. In 1867, however, they were renewed. From the Yorkshire side, those old hands, E. Stephenson, Anderson, Atkinson, Hodgson and Slinn disappeared, though Joseph Rowbotham and Roger Iddison remained, but I have now to chronicle the appearance in the Yorkshire XI, for the first time in these matches, of those famous bowlers George Freeman and Tom Emmett. It is also to be observed that our old friend Julius Caesar's name no longer appears on the Surrey side.

The first of the 1867 matches was played at Kennington Oval on June 8 and 7.

Yorkshire had first innings and scored 265 (John Thewlis 17, Holgate 38, Brownhill 19, Luke Greenwood 12, Mr. A. J. Wilkinson 53, George Freeman 22, Tom Emmett 38 and George Pinder 19). For Surrey, Greenwood with 4 wickets for 64 runs, Greenfield with 3 for 38 and Griffith with 3 for 73 were the most successful bowlers.

Surrey, in their first innings, could only make 62 (Humphrey 28, Jupp 16, Mortlock 12 and Mr. J. W. Noble 16). The Yorkshire bowlers, Greenwood and Freeman were in fine form, the former capturing 6 wickets for 43 runs and the latter 3 for 39.

Surrey "followed on," and their second innings was even more disastrous than their first—they being all dismissed for 62—the only "double-figure" batsman being Greenfield with 11. Greenwood and Freeman, throughout the match, were unnecessary to enlist the services of Tom Emmett, who had 6 wickets for 28 runs and 5 for 34 to their credit respectively—Yorkshire winning by an innings and 111 runs.

The venue for the return match was Bramall Lane—it taking place on June 24, 25 and 26. Yorkshire went in first, and put up a total of 114 (Luke Greenwood 13, Joseph Rowbotham 27, Iddison 19, John Thewlis 10 and Tom Emmett 18 not out).

Of the Surrey bowlers, Roberts took 7 wickets for 22 runs and Sewell 3 for 17. Surrey's first venture realised 98 (H. H. Stephenson 30, Mr. W. J. Collyer 19 and Pooley 15)—the Yorkshire bowlers, Greenwood, Freeman and Emmett capturing 1 wicket for 47, 7 for 20 and 2 for 15 respectively.

Yorkshire then entered upon their second innings and scored 242 (Greenwood 16, Rowbotham 15, Iddison 69, Thewlis 37, Emmett 41 and Pooley 15 not out). Surrey employed seven "trudlers" in this innings—the most successful being Humphrey with 3 wickets for 11 runs and Roberts with 2 for 76. Four of the others obtained one wicket apiece for 187 runs.

Surrey with 261 to get to win, could only obtain 76 (Humphrey 42 and H. H. Stephenson 10)—the first wicket fell at 88, the third at 70 and then came the debacle, the remainder falling for only 6 more runs—Emmett capturing 6 wickets for 7 runs and Freeman 3 for 20 and Greenwood 1 for 38—Yorkshire thus winning by 184 runs.

In 1868, the first match was played at Bramall Lane on June 22 and 23—our old friend Julius Caesar being one of the umpires. Surrey took first innings and scored 222 (Humphrey 13, Jupp 90 (not out), he carried his bat through the innings, Griffith 60, Pooley 13, H. H. Stephenson 12 and Mr. Noble 17. For Yorkshire, Iddison took 4 wickets for 21, Emmett 2 for 31, and Rowbotham 2 for 30. Greenwood 1 for 66 and Dutton 1 for 15.

Yorkshire faced with Southerton's slow round-arm bowling—fared very badly, being all out in their first innings for 71 (Dutton 10, Rowbotham 26 and Iddison 10). Southerton had to his credit 6 wickets for 90 and Griffith 2 for 30.

Following on, Yorkshire played better, but even so, could only put together 145 (Dutton 10, Thewlis 37, Mr. Verolat 33 (not out), Iddison 10, Webster 10 and Emmett 13)—Southerton and Griffith taking 6 wickets apiece for 80 and 43 runs respectively—Surrey won by an innings and 6 runs.

The return match took place at Kennington Oval on August 24, 25 and 26. The Yorkshire XI included, for the first time, a nephew of John Thewlis, by name Ephraim Lockwood, who hailed from that celebrated nursery for Yorkshire cricketers, Lancelotti Hall. His services were enlisted at the last moment, and his appearance at the Oval owing to the "rusticity" was the subject of much amused comment. The Rev. R. S. Holmes, who witnessed the match, remarks "I shall never forget that match, nor the comments evoked by Lockwood's rustic appearance; he looked all over an annotated 'clodhopper'. But the laughter turned before long. In him, Yorkshire had discovered their greatest batsman up to date."

"Old Ebor" in his "The Yorkshire Cricketer 1903-1923" speaks of him (Lockwood) as "a very raw youth," and adds that he wore trousers that had run up in the washing and a shirt with blue and green squares like a church window. He further states that Lockwood himself said he heard a remark that he seemed very likely to cost a penny's worth of play off the "Old Ebor" adds: "But the callow youth from the country, in company with his uncle John Thewlis, put on 170 in the first Yorkshire wicket, and this remained a record in the county for 20 years! It was not broken until Brown and Tummelsho

"scored 378 for the county's first wicket against Sussex at Sheffield 'in 1897'."

George Freeman was unable to play in this match owing to his having met with an accident. Surrey batted first and compiled 195 (Humphrey 18, Jupp 83, Pooley 16 and Mr. C. T. Calvert 63). The most successful Yorkshire bowlers were Emmett with 5 wickets for 65 runs, West with 3 for 46 and Atkinson with 2 for 40.

Yorkshire then went to the wickets—opening with John Thewlis and his nephew, the aforesaid, Ephraim Lockwood. They, as already indicated, stayed together till the score was 170 when Lockwood was caught and bowled by Bristol for 91, John Thewlis being out shortly afterwards with a score of 103. Yorkshire's total eventually reached 339 (Iddison 38, Atkinson 44, E. B. Rawlinson 26, Emmett 17, C. Ullathorne 28 and J. West 23 not out). For Surrey, Street took 5 wickets for 85 runs and Humphrey 2 for 69, 8 bowlers in all being tried.

Surrey then made their second journey to the wickets. It was a very disastrous one—the first 5 wickets falling for 11 runs, and the total being but 52. Bristol with 16 and Sewell with 16 being the only batsmen to obtain "double-figures". The two Yorkshire bowlers, Emmett and Atkinson—who bowled unchanged throughout this innings—captured 4 wickets for 28 runs and for 39 respectively, no Yorkshire won by an innings and 142 runs—thus amply atoning for their defeat at Bramall Lane in the earlier match that year.

W.T. CAMPBELL'S NEW RECORD LOWERS Y.M.C.A. BATH FIGURES FOR 880 YARDS

W. T. Campbell, of the Y.M.C.A. created a new Y.M.C.A. bath record for the 880 yards free style last evening, when the first of the Hongkong International Amateur Swimming Association Championships were held. The remainder of the championship events will be held to-night and to-morrow night.

The first race of the evening was the Men's 880 Yards Free Style which was won by Leung Shui-man (C.B.C.) from Chan Fook-sing (C.B.C.) and A. G. Donn (Y.M.C.A.) by 1/5 sec. and 2/5 sec. respectively.

Mrs. A. C. Schroeder, of the Y.M.C.A., gave a creditable performance in the Ladies' 60 yards Championship to beat Miss Young Sau-king (S.C.A.A.) the Colony Champion, by a touch. Mrs. Read (Y.M.C.A.) came third.

Campbell got well away in the Men's 880 yards. He was neck and neck with Kwok Chun-hang over the first six lengths but thereafter forged steadily ahead. Schroeder, who was swimming third, took second place after the eighteenth turn, and Kwok Chun-hang conceded the third place to Wong Yui-man when he retired in the twentieth lap. Campbell finished well, two lengths from Schroeder.

In the Ladies' 440 Yards Free Style Miss Young Sau-king and Miss Young Sau-cheung swam together over the first eight lengths. Then the former took the lead which she maintained until the finish.

RESULTS
Men's 880 Yards Free Style:—1, Leung Shui-man (C.B.C.), 27 sec.; 2, Chan Fook-sing (C.B.C.), 27 1/5 sec.; 3, A. G. Donn (Y.M.C.A.), 27 2/5 sec.
Ladies' 60 Yards Free Style:—1, Mrs. A. C. Schroeder (Y.M.C.A.), 33 1/5 sec.; 2, Miss Young Sau-king (S.C.A.A.), 33 2/5 sec.; 3, Mrs. Read (Y.M.C.A.), 33 3/5 sec.

Men's 880 Yards Free Style:—1, W. T. Campbell (Y.M.C.A.), 12 mins. 34 1/5 sec.; 2, W. A. Schroeder (Y.M.C.A.), 13 mins. 9 sec.; 3, Wong Yui-man (S.C.A.A.).
Ladies' 440 Yards Free Style:—1, Miss Young Sau-king (S.C.A.A.), 7 mins. 0 2/5 sec.; 2, Miss Young Sau-cheung (S.C.A.A.), 7 mins. 0 3/5 sec.; 3, Miss Dora Lam.

COMPARATIVE RECORDS.
But they are up against what has undeniably proved one of the best teams in the division. From the start of the season the Bowling Green indicated their potentialities as champions and only once or twice have they faltered. For three parts of the summer, they have held the leadership and it is going to need a strong side to displace them at this moment.

Although figures can often be misleading, one can, in this case, turn with confidence to the league records and those of the ships to gain some idea of the respective strength of the teams. And these figures show very clearly that there is practically nothing to choose between them.

Naturally they have identical league table records and when the successes of the various rinks are compared, the following figures stand revealed.

For the Bowling Green H. Nish's rink has won ten out of 14 matches; Adam Holland has skipped his rink to eight victories, four defeats and two draws; L. Guy has led his colleagues to six wins and five defeats.

R. P. Phillips and A. W. Grimmit have similar records for the Civil Service. Both have won seven out of thirteen matches, losing the remaining half a dozen.

St. Andrew's Club commenced their 1933-34 hockey season in promising style yesterday afternoon when they defeated the Hongkong Indian Mule Corps by the only goal scored in a friendly encounter played on the Chatham Road ground. Though the weather was on the warm side, the players shaped up well and the game was thoroughly enjoyed.

N. A. B. Mackay netted the only goal of the match in the first half. Try as they could the Saints could not find the net again, offence being the main spoiling factor. The Mule Corps eleven are newcomers to hockey and this season have entered the Mamak Hockey Tournament.

DECIDING LEAGUE ENCOUNTER

PROSPECTS FOR TOMORROW

For the second time in the history of the Lawn Bowls League a deciding match for the First Division championship is to be played off to-morrow.

The teams engaged are the Kowloon Bowling Green Club and the Civil Service Cricket Club, who have completed their league programmes with identical records.

The first occasion when such a match had to be played in the First Division was in 1929 when Craigengower, the ultimate winners, met the Kowloon Docks in a deciding tie. Craigengower won by 58 points to 56.

Colour is lent to the match by the appearance of these teams for the displays of both this year have captured the imagination of lawn bowls enthusiasts.

In 1932, the Bowling Green finished bottom of the league. This summer they have effected a remarkable recovery of form, and in the face of severe opposition have won their way to the leadership.

The Civil Service owe their appearance to their ability in seizing remote chances during the last week or two and slipping in when attention was almost undividedly being given to Craigengower and the Bowling Green.

The Telegraph was the only newspaper which recognised the possibility of Civil Service having a final say in the destination of the title and emphasised very clearly that the Happy Valley team was likely to cause several upsets.

Can they achieve a final triumph to-morrow?

They have at least one point in their favour. During their last three or four matches they have revealed consistently good form. There has been a marked improvement in team work and their unbounded confidence, consequent upon recent successes, cannot be gainsaid.

But they are up against what has undeniably proved one of the best teams in the division. From the start of the season the Bowling Green indicated their potentialities as champions and only once or twice have they faltered. For three parts of the summer, they have held the leadership and it is going to need a strong side to displace them at this moment.

Although figures can often be misleading, one can, in this case, turn with confidence to the league records and those of the ships to gain some idea of the respective strength of the teams. And these figures show very clearly that there is practically nothing to choose between them.

15 WICKETS

GLORIOUS END TO SEASON

AMES SCORES 125

KENT WIN BY SIX WICKETS

London, Aug. 31.
Kent wound up their county cricket programme with a brilliant win in two days against Middlesex at Lord's, the match finishing this afternoon when Kent, set to score 32, obtained them for the loss of four wickets.

The encounter was marked by the performances of three players. "Patsy" Hendren earned the distinction of scoring centuries in both innings and they constituted some of the finest batting of his long career; "Tich" Freeman for the fifth time in first-class cricket took 15 wickets in a match; Leslie Ames, the leading batsman of the year scored his seventh century of the season.

Without Hendren, Middlesex would have suffered two complete debacles. Out of his team's first innings score of 233, he hit up 101, and he was even more brilliant in the return visit when he again topped the three figure mark by one made out of a total of 181.

The skillful way in which he nursed the bowling and then flogged it mercilessly was a study in courageous batsmanship.

In compiling his two centuries against Kent, Hendren enjoyed the achievement of scoring four hundreds in the last four matches. Against Surrey during the early part of this week he scored 111 and against the same team a week ago he helped himself to 152 not out.

FREEMAN 15 FOR 122

But even Hendren could not entirely thwart Freeman, whose guile was such that he had the rest of the batsmen at sea.

Freeman took eight wickets for 64 in the first innings and followed this up with another 7 for 58, his complete analysis being 15 FOR 122.

That the wicket was not half so bad as the Middlesex scores would suggest is indicated by the free manner in which Kent collected runs. They came at such a pace that with the total at 386 for 9, the innings was declared closed.

Ames led the way with a typical knock of 125, this being his seventh three-figure innings of the season.

Set with the simple task of scoring 32 to win, Kent went for the runs quickly and in so doing lost four wickets before they were obtained.—Reuter.

J. Deakin, the third skip has both won and lost six games.

IMPORTANT FACTORS.
Judged by these figures, the Bowling Green appear to be slightly stronger on two rinks and of equal strength with the Civil Service on the third.

But these figures are only indicative and cannot be taken as hard and fast proof of superiority on either side.

Temperament and team work will be the important factors in to-morrow's game. There will be no material ground advantage. The teams meet on neutral territory and both have equal tasks in acclimatising themselves to the green. But a quick start in this direction may tremendously influence the result.

After taking everything into consideration the odds appear to be on the Bowling Green to win.

It is expected that the following teams will turn out:

K.B.C.C.
R. Hall, A. McIntyre, D. Gow and H. Nish (skip);
J. Gibson, A. R. Whitley, J. H. Budding and L. Guy (skip);
R. Duncan, V. Petherick, W. Macfarlane and A. Holland (skip).

C.S.C.C.
T. Armstrong, E. W. Simmonds, J. Hollidge and A. W. Grimmit (skip);
H. L. Lockhart, J. F. McGowan, N. J. Bebbington and R. P. Phillips (skip);
S. Ecclehall, S. Alderman, F. Jones and J. W. Deakin (skip); Reserves—H. E. Strange and R. S. Wood.

A LOSS TO HOCKEY

A. A. DAND GIVING UP GAME

LEADING LOCAL PRAYER

(By "Sticks".)

After fourteen years of active participation in hockey, Mr. Arthur A. Dand, the popular captain of the Hongkong Hockey Club first eleven, and a Vice-President of the newly formed Hongkong Hockey Association, has retired. He will not be playing this season, although his interest in the game will remain and he will probably assist the Club in the capacity of referee.

Mr. Dand, known to all his team mates as "Arthur," has played in the centre-half position for the Club for many seasons. He has appeared in the now defunct Sim Shield series in every successive year since its inception in 1925. This constitutes a record.

Dand was an absentee in a few matches last season, owing to an ankle-injury and later, in January illness confined him to hospital. During his absence G. E. R. Divett led the team.

DURHAM COUNTY PLAYER.

Commencing his hockey career some fourteen years ago, Dand played for the North Durham Club from 1919 to 1924, in the positions of centre-half and right half-back. In 1923, he played right half for Durham County. In 1924, he came to Hongkong and soon established himself in local hockey circles. He has been playing for the Club ever since.

He was a member of the original Club Sim Shield team in 1925, playing at left full-back, his partner being Harry Owen Hughes, who is now the Club's right wing.

It is of interest to note that the Rev. E. W. L. Martin, Warden of St. Stephen's Boys' College, also a former Sim Shield player, has represented Durham County. This distinction is shared by yet a third Club player, J. E. Potter, the Hon. Secretary and left half-back of the Club.

HIS SUCCESSOR.

Mr. Dand has shown the keenest interest in hockey affairs and has presided over the Council meetings of the Hockey Association very ably.

His position in the Club team is likely to be filled by H. J. D. Lowe, another extremely reliable defender.

WHAT HAPPENED IN PARIS

SOME FIGURES OF INTEREST

In a recent issue, the Lawn Tennis and Badminton gives some interesting figures regarding the Davis Cup challenge round match between Britain and France.

They show that although the standard of play was generally recognised as being high, more than the ordinary number of errors were committed by all the players.

The point scores in the various matches are not without significance. They were as follows:

AUSTIN v MERLIN.

First Set, Austin:—0-4, 4-2, 4-0, 4-0, 2-4, 4-1, 2-4, 4-2—28 points to 19.
Second Set, Austin:—0-4, 4-1, 4-0, 7-5, 1-4, 0-4, 0-4, 1-4, 4-1—33 points to 31.
Third Set, Austin:—4-0, 6-4, 4-1, 11-9, 4-2, 4-1—33 points to 17.

Total: Austin 94 points, Merlin 67.

PERRY v COCHET.

First Set, Cochet:—4-1, 5-3, 5-3, 6-4, 0-4, 3-5, 2-4, 4-2, 3-5, 6-4, 3-5, 4-2, 4-0, 5-3, 1-4, 2-4, 4-2—60 points to 64.

Second Set, Perry:—0-4, 4-2, 4-0, 2-4, 0-4, 2-4, 5-3, 4-1, 4-0, 4-0—35 points to 28.

Third Set, Perry:—1-4, 5-7, 4-1, 4-2, 2-4, 5-3, 0-4, 0-4, 5-7, 7-5, 5-3—51 points to 40.

Fourth Set, Cochet:—4-1, 2-4, 0-4, 0-4, 4-1, 4-1, 6-4, 4-2, 4-2—28 points to 23.

Fifth Set, Perry:—3-4, 4-1, 4-1, 4-2, 2-4, 4-1—20 points to 15.

Total: Perry 159 points, Merlin

Grand Total, Great Britain 729 points, France 717 points.

THE ERRORS.

The point score thus reveals that only 12 points separated the two teams at the finish. An analysis of the strokes of the players also gives interesting figures. Thus Austin gave away
22 points less than Merlin on errors, whilst scoring only four more winning shots (22 to 18).
Perry conceded 13 double-faults
against Cochet (who gave away
6), but the Englishman's winning strokes outnumbered those of Cochet by 63 to 41. In the matter of errors the figures of both were approximately equal.

The improvement in Cochet's game on the third day against Austin is reflected in his total of winning shots, 60 as against Austin's 33. Cochet conceded nearly 150 errors during the five sets, and Austin nearly 140. Perry kept down his double-faults to five against Merlin in the last match, won 39 points by winning shots (to Merlin's 34), and conceded 14 fewer errors (101 to 115).

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By W. E. McKenney.

After a championship has been won, if you talk with the winners you will generally find that, while they might be able to name a hand in the tournament which they would have played in a different manner if they had another opportunity, it is seldom that a hand has been lost due to carelessness.

Just because your hand contains practically worthless cards you should not lose interest in the defence.

Walter Malowan of New York, a member of the team which recently won the All-American Contract Team-of-four championship at Hanover, N. H., gives us a hand to-day which well demonstrates this point.

The Bidding

Mr. Malowan was sitting in the North. His partner in the South was dealer and opened the contracting with one club. West passed—Mr. Malowan bid two clubs. East bid two spades, South three clubs. West went to three spades. North passed and East bid four spades. North and South were vulnerable, therefore they could not consider taking a sacrifice.

The Play

South opened the king of clubs and continued with the queen of clubs, which East trumped. Declarer took two rounds of trump which picked up the outstanding trump, and then led four rounds of diamonds, winning the fourth diamond in his own hand.

The bidding had practically marked South with the ace of hearts, therefore the declarer's only chance to make his contract was to find South with only the ace and one heart or to induce him to make a mistake. East, the declarer, next played a small heart. South played the ten and a small heart was played from dummy.

might be quite natural to play a small heart and allow partner's ten to hold the trick. However, if this is done the declarer will make his contract as South will now be forced to lead either the ace of hearts or a club, which will enable the declarer to ruff in one hand and discard a heart from the other.

However Mr. Malowan, sitting in the North, had been able to obtain a perfect count on his partner's hand, and he overtook his partner's ten with the queen. He immediately returned a heart which allowed his partner to win both the ace and jack of hearts, defeating the declarer's contract one trick.

NEW PUBLIC WORKS

COUNCIL APPROVE OF HEAVY VOTE

By unanimous vote, the Legislative Council yesterday approved of additional expenditure totalling $631,658 on local public works.

Of this sum, $509,918 will be spent on public works extraordinary, $60,000 on public works recurrent and $61,740 on ordinary departmental works.

In putting the motion, the Colonial Treasurer (Hon. Mr. M. J. Green) said:

Honourable Members will recollect that the Honourable Colonial Secretary when presenting the 1933 Budget emphasised the importance of keeping a sum of $10,000,000 in surplus balances and explained that the Public Works programme was definitely restricted so that this figure be maintained. The proposals he submitted would involve a reduction of the surplus from $11,812,803, which he estimated would be the opening figure of the year, to $10,616,131 at its close. It turned out, however, that 1933 opened with $12,847,062 or $1,034,259 better than was anticipated, and as the financial position during the current year has remained reasonably favourable, there is available for further expenditure during the year this sum of $1,034,259. The Supplementary Estimates now submitted amount to $631,658 which allows a substantial margin for eventualities.

For Urgent Works.

The object of this resolution is to place further funds at the disposal of the Public Works Department during the current year for the purpose of undertaking the additional urgent works recommended by the Honourable Director of Public Works and enumerated in the list before

Honourable Members. The proposals were laid unofficially before the Finance Committee of this Council in April last, approved by them and have now been sanctioned by the Secretary of State.

I now beg to move that this Council approves the recommendations made by the Director of Public Works and laid before Council and resolves that a sum of $631,658, distributed as follows:

Head 32 Public Works Department	$81,740.00
Head 33 Public Works Recurrent	60,000.00
Head 34 Public Works Extraordinary	509,918.00

be charged upon the revenue and other funds of the Colony in addition to the sums already provided in the Estimates for 1933 for the purpose of carrying out these recommendations.

The Colonial Secretary (Hon. Mr. D. W. Trautman) seconded.

Information Asked.

The Hon. Sir Henry Pollock: I should like to ask where the Upper Levels Police Station is to be, and in item 34, I should also like to have some further information about the construction of a rubble mound at Kun Tong, first section.

The Hon. Director of Public Works: The Upper Level Police Station is on the site of the old Police Training School in Caine Road. With regard to the rubble mound at Kun Tong, certain proposals are being submitted to the Government very shortly and if they are approved work will be put in hand in the near future.

Hon. Sir Henry Pollock: Sir, I would like....

H. E. the Governor: This is in connexion with the dredging in the Harbour. It has I think been mentioned before at a finance committee meeting, and is to enable approaches to No. 5 Wharf on the other side. It is Number Five,

MILITARY SECRETS.

AMERICAN SOLDIER'S STIFF SENTENCE.

Fort Sherman, Aug. 31. Convicted at a court-martial in this Canal Zone military base, when he was charged with the illegal possession of military secrets, Corporal Robert Osman, of Brooklyn, N. J., has been dishonourably discharged from the United States army and sentenced to three years' hard labour.

In addition the soldier has been ordered to pay a fine of U. S. $10,000 or serve an additional 18 years in prison with hard labour.

Osman was not charged with selling military secrets to foreign powers.—Reuter.

What, is it not, Mr. Paterson?

Hon. Mr. Paterson: The new wharf really has no number. I am afraid I do not know the numbers.

H. E. the Governor: In connexion with the approach, it was decided to seek some place where the sill might be placed, and it is proposed to place it at Kun Tong, beyond Kai Tak. In order to allow the dredgings to be placed there, it has been found necessary to carry out some works there to create an area necessary to receive the deposits.

The Hon. Mr. Paterson: Number Five wharf, as a matter of fact is the wharf at which passengers ordinarily arrive. It is the one nearest this side.

H. E. the Governor: It is the new long one at the north end.

Hon. Mr. C. Gordon Mackie: I notice one item for widening Magazine Gap Road. May I ask when this will be completed?

H. E. the Governor: It is proposed to put in a sum of money in next year's estimate if the hope that it will be completed next year.

BRITISH MOLASSES SHIP MYSTERY

YOKOHAMA, SEPT. 1.
FIVE EUROPEANS HAVE BEEN KILLED IN A FRIGHTFUL ACCIDENT ABOARD THE BRITISH SUGAR SHIP, ATHELQUEEN, CAUSED BY AN EXPLOSION SOON AFTER THE VESSEL HAD LEFT YOKOHAMA.

The victims of the tragedy are:

Mr. S. G. Knott, the chief engineer;
Mr. M. O. Putt, the chief officer;
A. M. Rae, an apprentice;
M. Johansen, a carpenter;
W. Read, a deck hand.

Details are lacking for the moment. The vessel has returned to Yokohama bringing the five bodies back to Japan.

The explosion occurred a few hours after the Athelqueen left Yokohama bound for Manila to pick up a cargo of sugar.

KOWLOON'S NEW COURT

MAGISTRACY IN GASCOIGNE RD.

PROVISION IN THE BUDGET

The Telegraph understands that provision is to be made in the Budget, for the coming year for the building of the new Kowloon Magistracy. The site selected is behind the Po Hing Theatre, fronting Gascoigne Road.

The plans, which have already been drawn up, provide for two magistrates courts, and a juvenile Court on the ground floor, with two flats on the first floor which will probably be the quarters of one of the magistrates.

It is not anticipated that any expenditure will be made in this connection this year, but it is hoped that work will be commenced early in 1934.

OPIUM HIDDEN IN BUCKET

FOUND TO CONTAIN
FALSE BOTTOM

A bucket with a false bottom one inch deep was produced by Revenue Officer J. W. Brown when at the Kowloon Police Court this morning. Leung Fuk was charged with unlawfully being in possession of opium.

It was stated that defendant was arrested when he got off the Canton express last night.

Defendant was fined $1,200 with an alternative of eight weeks imprisonment.

MR. SOONG'S PLANS

Shanghai, Sept. 1.
Mr. T. V. Soong is leaving for Nanking this evening. He will travel up by train.—Reuter.

NEW AIR SERVICE

A regular air service between Plymouth, Southampton, Portsmouth and London, by which liner passengers arriving at the ports may fly direct to London has just been inaugurated.

The Athelqueen is an oil-engined vessel of 3,780 tons, owned by the United Molasses Company of Great Britain.

She was built in 1928 by the Furness Shipbuilding Company at Ilwerton Hill, having been specially designed for carrying molasses or petroleum in bulk.

The cause and nature of the explosion are not yet known, and hitherto no information has been received indicating whether or not any other members of the crew suffered injuries.

AN EXPEDITION ROMANCE

MISS WATKINS AND
MR. J. M. SCOTT

London, Aug. 31.

The engagement was announced to-day of Mr. J. M. Scott, secretary to the Everest Climbing Expedition, to Miss Pamela Watkins, whose famous brother, the late Mr. Henry George Watkin, was drowned while leading the British Arctic Air Route Expedition in 1931.

On that occasion Mr. Scott was surveyor and dog-driver to the Expedition.—Reuter.

"UNITED NATIONAL PARTY"

FORMATION NOW
LIKELY

Dublin, Aug. 31.

An announcement of a definite move in the direction of the fusion of the principal anti-De Valera Parties into a United National Party under Mr. Cosgrave, is expected within the next forty-eight hours.

Should such a Party eventually be formed, it will be denunciation of the trade war with England.

If the union is achieved, it is thought that its appearance in the field might cause the Government to change its mind, about an election and make an early appeal to the country.

Dr. Ryan, the Minister of Agriculture, is endeavouring to find a way out of the difficulties caused by the heavy fall of cereal prices, and it is believed that he may initiate a scheme involving the compulsory control of marketing and of the prices of oats and wheat.—Reuter.

U.S. RECOVERY CHIEFS DISAGREE

Deputy Administrator
Resigns

Washington, Sept. 1.

Reorganisation of the United States Recovery Administration is necessary according to General Hugh Johnson, head of the Administration. The reason for this measure is the resignation of Mr. Dudley Cates, Deputy Administrator, owing to differences of opinion between him and General Johnson, declares the latter.—Reuter.

FINE TO CLOUDY

The Royal Observatory reports that pressure is highest over the Pacific to the east of Tokyo. The typhoon, which is of great intensity, is situated about 20 miles south-west of Naha, moving north-westward. It is expected to reach the Kowloon coast to-morrow.—Reuter.

THE DRYEST AUGUST ON RECORD

BEATEN TO A FRIZZLE

REMARKABLE
DATA

A whole series of fresh records have been contributed to Royal Observatory weather data as the result of Hongkong's driest August since statistics of weather conditions have been officially kept.

The Royal Observatory has been functioning for about 40 years and never in the whole of that time has the Colony experienced such a remarkable August.

During the whole of the month only 1.73 inches of rain were registered by the instruments at the Royal Observatory. It fell upon eight days, the total estimated duration being twelve hours.

PREVIOUS RECORD.

The previous record for a dry August was set in 1903 when 3.07 inches were registered at the Royal Observatory, falling on ten days, with an estimated duration of twenty-two hours.

In August, 1914, the next driest only 4.21 inches fell, on sixteen days, the duration being 17 hours.

At ten o'clock this morning, no measurable rainfall had been registered at the Royal Observatory for fourteen days, which is in itself an all-time record for the month of August.

In 1906, the longest period without rain was ten days, and in 1914, the longest period was only five days.

As was perhaps to be expected in the circumstances, the amount of sunshine also constitutes a new record.

SUNSHINE RECORD.

During the month, there were 290.5 hours of sunshine which is the highest on record, not only for August, but for any month during any year. The previous sunshine record was established in October, 1929, when 288.6 hours were officially recorded.

Cloudiness in August, 51 per cent., set a new low record, and the relative humidity, 78 per cent., was equal to the lowest on record during the month of August.

CONSOLING THOUGHT.

Further interesting data have been made available by Mr. C. W. Jeffries, the Director of the Royal Observatory, which may afford some cause for consolation to the Water Authority.

After the previous record dry August, in 1906, no less than 30.60 inches of rain were registered at the Royal Observatory during September.

After the 1914 dry August, 19.98 inches of rain fell during September.

BOTANIC GARDENS.

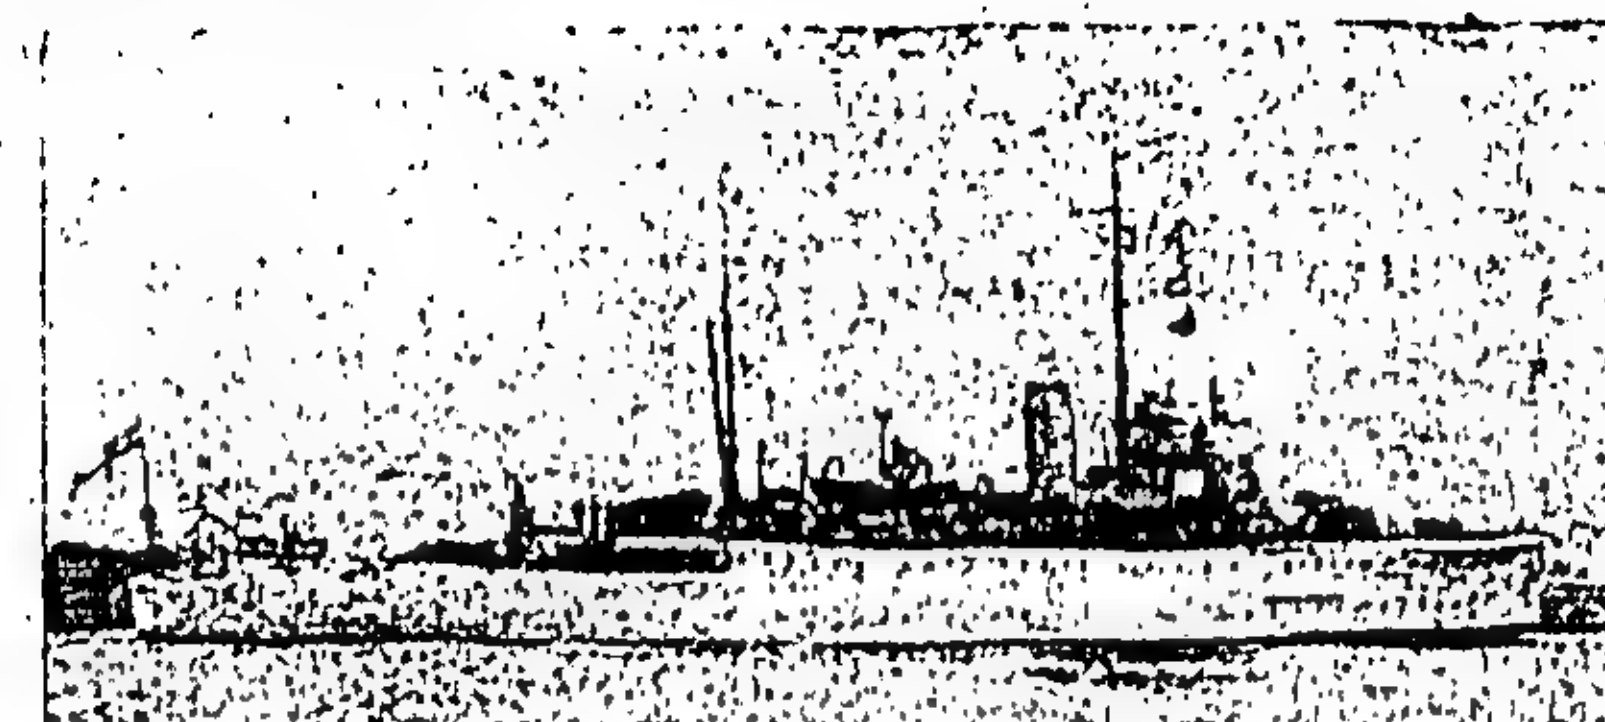

At the Botanic Gardens, a slightly heavier rainfall was recorded, the amount being 2.94 inches. This was registered on nine days between August 3 and August 15, since when no rain has fallen, giving sixteen clear days without rain capable of measurement.

DESIGNS ON FUKIEN

'PRETEXTS' FOR TAKING

SITUATION

"The situation in Fukien is improving, and there is no immediate danger to Foochow," was an authoritative statement made to the Telegraph this morning.

Reports received locally are to the effect that the Communists have now evacuated Yangkow and have retired to a point more than thirty miles from Yenping. It is now believed by the foreign authorities that their recent incursion, towards Yenping was not a serious attempt to capture Foochow but was merely a raid to obtain supplies.

H.M.S. Bridgewater, a sloop, attached to the China Station, left Hongkong yesterday at about 4.80 p.m. for Foochow, where she will relieve the Wishart. The Bridgewater is expected to arrive at Foochow to-morrow afternoon, and the Wishart to return here on Monday.

At the present time there are two Japanese destroyers and one Japanese cruiser, the American gunboat Sacramento, and the Wishart standing by at Foochow watching foreign interests.

TOKYO VIEWS.

Tokyo, Aug. 31.

The Government has instructed the Minister to Peking to seek the opinion of the British Minister with a view to adopting a unanimous policy in connection with the protection of foreign residents in Fukien.

The Japanese Minister called on the British Minister this morning and had a satisfactory conversation. Similar instructions have been dispatched to the Japanese consular officials at Foochow and co-operation among the foreign gunboats in Foochow will be sought.

YUNGTING TROUBLE.

Japanese intelligence at Foochow reports that Yehping has not been captured by bandits, but disturbances at Yungting and places about seventy miles from Foochow remain serious. The garrison troops at Foochow, according to the Japanese, consists of only about 1,000 men which is considered inadequate. Both the Chinese officials and residents are most apprehensive. The provincial authorities have removed their archives to place of safety. There are now three Japanese warships at Foochow alone.

Meanwhile, a remarkable report emanating from Shanghai alleges that the Japanese Navy has completed preparations for the occupation of eight islands off Hainan. It is reported, and is now awaiting orders to dispatch warships to plant the Japanese flag there.

This is believed to be the prelude to the carrying out of a plot to invade South China "to protect Japanese interests."

Japanese agents are alleged to have been sent to recruit bandits in Fukien to start disturbances on the coast, which would be seized upon as pretexts for dispatching Japanese warships and landing forces at the various affected ports.

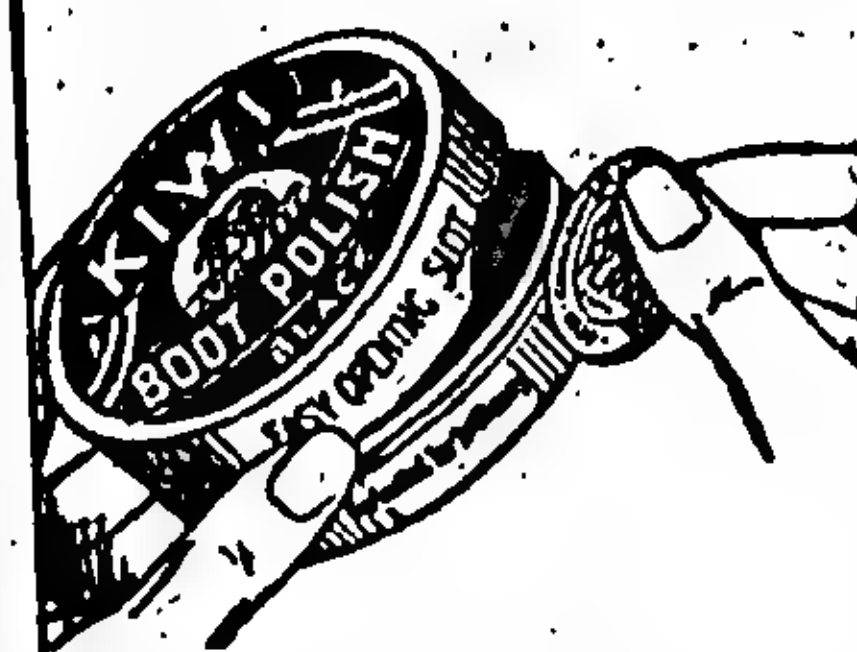

NAVAL BASE.

A message from Canton states that the South Western Government has issued instructions to Gen. T'ai Ting-kai, commander of the 10th Route Army, to keep a sharp watch on the movements of certain Chinese who alleged to be Japanese agents.

The Nanking Foreign Office learns that the islands which Japan is planning to seize are only 100 miles from the mainland.

Much sympathy will be extended to Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Danks at the loss of their young son, who is the son of a well-known Nanking official.

MORTGAGED LAND AUCTIONED.

WANCHAI BLOCK SOLD TO CHINESE BIDDER

At Messrs. Lammer's auction rooms, Duddell Street, yesterday afternoon, the sale was held of nine Chinese 3-storey tenement buildings situated at Nos. 2-18, Swallow Lane.

A number of Chinese were present, but bidding was confined to only three. The auctioneer (Mr. L. Lammer) announced that the property would have to be sold, and left the bidding to be started by those present.

A first offer of $27,500 was increased by bids of $500 and $1,000 to $28,500, at which figure the property was knocked down to Mr. Yip Kang-ping.

The lot of nine houses occupy an area of 8,715 sq. ft., held on a 979-year lease, dating from 1863. The sale was ordered by the mortgagees.

LIQUID

Preferred by doctors

KEEPS ARMPITS
DRY, ODORLESS

Doctors and nurses endorse Nonspi, the safe, mild, efficient deodorant. To-day millions of women rely on Nonspi to prevent the embarrassment of unpleasant underarm odour and to save clothes from ruinous perspiration stains.

Nonspi is safe. It merely diverts the moisture which regularly accumulates under the arm to parts of the body where better evaporation takes place. There can be no harmful results.

Nonspi contains a special ingredient not used in any other deodorant. This increases its safety and efficiency and prevents irritation of the tender underarm skin.

For applying Nonspi use cotton. Laboratory tests, conducted for over a year, prove cotton the most sanitary means of application yet devised.

THE WORLD OF WOMEN

Silk for Summer Sleekness!

RUST COLOUR SUIT WITH WHITE IS DIFFERENT!

By Joan Savoy

It is the right clothes that give a girl that enviable, cool look in summer.

Necktie silk suits are in high style right now. They have a well-bred look and they do not crush the way many silks do.

Just a little different from the usual polka dotted suits, a neat dotted one is bound to attract envious eyes. Get it in the new autumn rust colour, with white.

The dress has a slightly formal air. It has cap sleeves and an adjustable scarf neckline and over it you put the little jacket.

The skirt of the dress has inverted box pleats which give it fullness. Add white gloves, white purse, a white hat and white shoes and you're smart!

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

White Accessories Must Be Spotless

By Alicia Hart

It's the little things which are so often neglected. And they really count more than the big ones when it comes to beauty!

If you go in for white accessories and white or pastel lingerie touches on your summer clothes, always be sure that they are immaculately clean. Nothing is worse than soiled gloves, dingy purses and hats or collars and cuffs that aren't spotless.

It takes time to keep white accessories clean—if you can't spend that time on them, it's far better to use dark ones.

Put on fresh underwear every morning. You'll be surprised how good it makes you feel once you get into the habit. It is very easy to rinse out underthings each night. You can't be truly dainty and immaculate if you're wearing soiled lingerie.

Never allow a trace of dandruff or loose hairs to show on your shoulders. If you comb your hair after you put on your clothes, put a towel across your shoulders. Many a woman has lost a race for charm just because her shoulders and neck were covered with loose hair and dandruff.

Be careful of your breath. Make sure that it is always sweet and fresh. Brushing your teeth, using a mouth wash, seeing a dentist frequently and keeping your digestive tract in good working order are the most important steps toward a sweet breath.

Taking a bath every day is a health and a beauty rule that you can't afford to pass up. It is the basic factor toward true charm and beauty.

Some habits we must stop because they are really serious. But hundreds of little things will stop shortly of themselves. The child experiments for awhile, then when his urge is satisfied he is no longer interested and he gives it up.

Mothers need not be nervous over these little habits. A little patience and they will disappear of themselves.

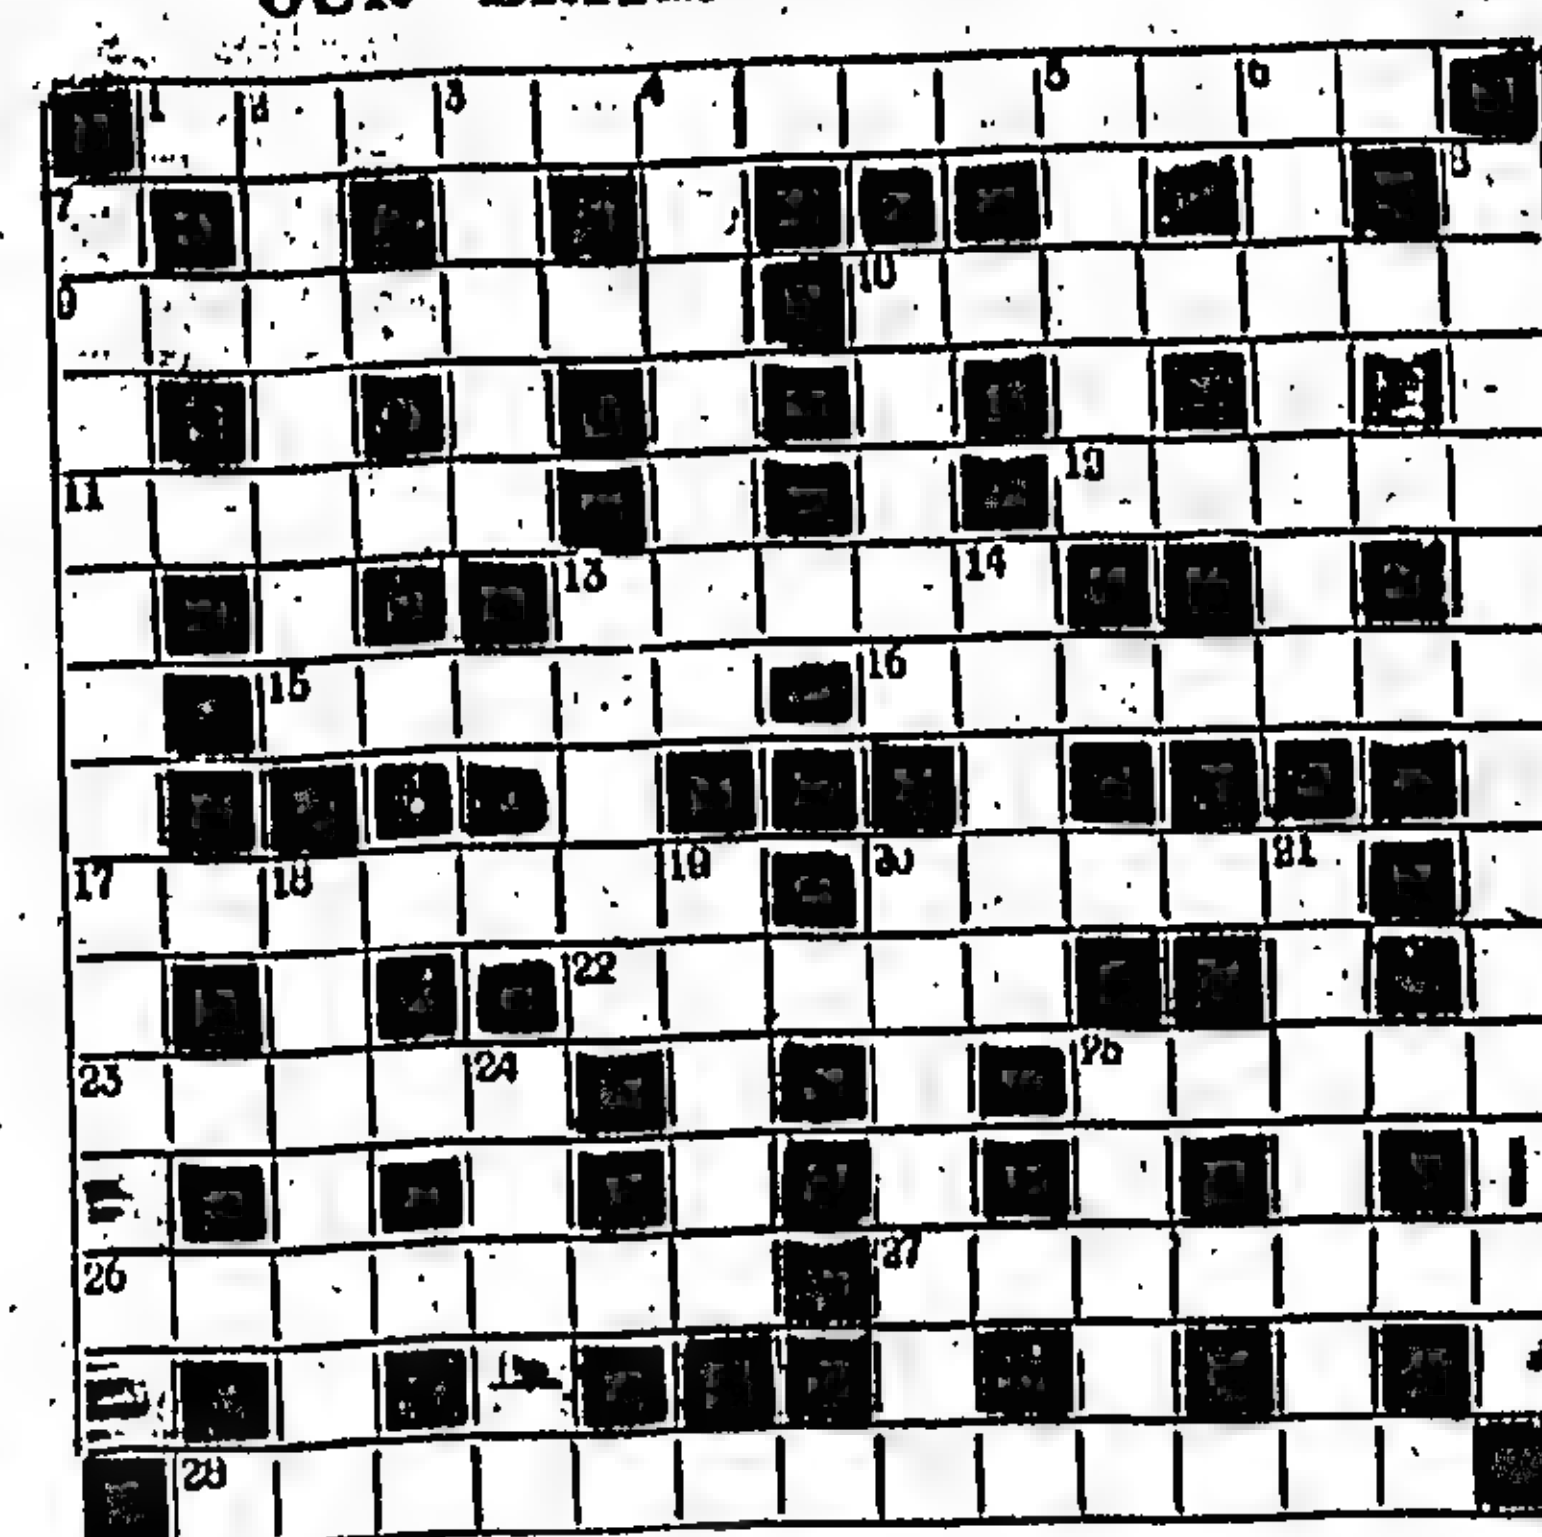

TIMELY HINTS FOR THE HOME

It is a good idea to keep a couple bottles of fruit juice syrup in your ice box in the summer time. You will always be able to make ice cold drinks in a hurry when unexpected guests arrive.

A red and white checked table cloth on a table set with blue glass dishes gives you a patriotic red, white and blue colour scheme that is particularly smart this summer.

When you're in a tight pinch for a dessert—and no time to make one—always remember that sponge cake, wrapped in cellophane, which can be bought in any grocery store, topped with berries or fruit, makes a nice shortcake.

For variety in your home, change your pictures once in a while. Leave expensive oils and etchings for winter. Simple prints and casual pictures look much better in the summer. Heavy frames look rather incongruous with most slip covers—use them in the winter when your furniture isn't covered up.

For the LOVE of EVE by Lucy Walling

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY

EVE HAYLES, pretty assistant to EARL HARNES, advertising manager of Dixie's department store, secretly marries DICK HADEL, a construction engineer. Dick wants Eve to give up working but she refuses. The same day Eve learns that she is to go to New York for the store and must leave that night. Dick takes her to the station but throughout the week in New York she has no word from him. The days there are busy. She meets THERON REECE who is much attracted by her and she visits IRVING FLETCHER, a former schoolmate who is playing the stock market and advises Eve to do the same.

Back at the office a week later Eve finds a new copy writer, MONA ALLEN, who appears to be a trouble-maker. MYRA VLAD, fashion artist, and ALFRED SMITH, stenographer, are Eve's friends.

Eve and Dick move into an apartment in an old-fashioned house. Dick seems happy but Eve is discontented. They quarrel one night when she comes home and finds him wearing his working clothes.

CHAPTER X

Matters were smoothed over for the time but the sight of Dick in a flannel shirt at the dinner table—though it was less common after Eve's outburst—continued to irritate her and she could not always conceal this irritation. Once she found herself, to her disgust, comparing Dick's appearance with Theron Reece's careful grooming.

In spite of its shabby setting in the downtown hotel house, Eve could not help but feel pride in her home. Often she found herself dreaming about improvements that could be made in it—ways to rearrange the furniture, an added touch to colour here and there—when going through the store's various departments in search of ideas for her column.

Late in the afternoon she sometimes became nervous and worried and could not do her best work because she was almost certain she would be asked to remain after the store's closing hour to help get out the next day's copy.

Mr. Bixby did not know of this, she was sure. Prompt and efficient himself, he tried to exact promptness and efficiency from his department heads, and, through them, from every employee.

But Mr. Bixby interfered very little with Barnes' management of the advertising department. In the first months during which Barnes had worked for him, Mr. Bixby had often tried to restrain the younger man's enthusiasm and had required much persuasion to increase the advertising budget to the amount Barnes asked. Gradually, however, as Barnes produced results to justify the increased expenditure, he was allowed to proceed without interference.

Nevertheless Mr. Bixby was opposed to overtime work except on rare occasions when it could not be avoided. There were such times, Eve knew. The days and evenings preceding the semi-annual remnant-day sales were examples. Then, Eve thought, the great department store resembled nothing so much as a madhouse. And now that the rush of Christmas was selling was on and the column of advertising increased accordingly, there was seldom an evening that Eve arrived home on time.

She regretted this. She felt that it was not fair to expect Dick to prepare the dinner every evening, as had become the usual routine. His job had its delays and vexations, too. He worked hard. He worked in all kinds of weather. Eve was beginning to understand that sometimes he came home more exhausted than the men whose manual labour he directed. She was beginning to understand that Dick would always give more than was required or expected of him to any contract to which he bound himself.

She was thinking of this one December evening after a gray, slushy day gave way to darkness outside the office windows and she typed away, turning the little sheet of pencilled notes with pardonable pride. She was wishing that this once she could arrive home before Dick and surprise him with a delicious dinner, piping hot. But of course she could not. Not to-night.

Arlene had had to stay overtime, too, and was transcribing pages of notes that Barnes had dictated into that afternoon. Arlene did not seem to mind particularly. Indeed, Eve suspected that Arlene welcomed this extra work, although she received no remuneration for it.

Eve wondered if Arlene were interested in some man in the store. "It's strange," she thought, "how most men overlook a girl of Arlene's straightforwardness and then let themselves become ensnared by some one like Mona Allen."

To-day, busy as the advertising office had been, Mona had come in late after lunch, her blond hair elaborately waved. And that afternoon, on pretence of securing notes for advertising copy, she had taken time to select a new frock which it was quite evident was to be worn for the first time that evening to dazzle some admirer.

Just a few moments before the closing gong sounded, Barnes asked Mona if she could stay a little later and help that evening. Mona smiled sweetly and answered:

"I'm so sorry, Mr. Barnes, but I have a dinner engagement. There's no way I could let my friend know at this late hour, so of course I will have to keep it. At any other time I'd be only too glad to stay and help you."

And she left with a triumphant glance over her shoulder at the other two girls.

"We're snowed under with work and she gets away with that!" commented Arlene to Eve when Mona had gone and Barnes returned to his office.

It was eight o'clock before Eve and Arlene finished the copy, attached the necessary sketches and cuts and placed them in their separate envelopes, one for each of the Lake City newspapers. As a last straw to the burden of a weary day, Barnes asked them if they'd mind taking the copy to the newspaper offices on their way to the car. Usually he did this himself when the copy was late.

A light snow was falling when they left the store. Crowds were swarming about the brilliantly lighted theatres. Underfoot it was slushy as the two girls trudged from one newspaper office to another.

"Of course, we could save a few minutes by separating these things and delivering them alone, but in my present miserable state

I feel the need of your stimulating companionship," Arlene said with a toothy grin.

Eve, tired and hungry, was tempted to agree to Arlene's suggestion that they eat downtown. But she thought of Dick, waiting at home for her. After the copy was safely delivered she hurried to the nearest corner where she could get a car on the trolley line that ran past her home. She had to wait and to-night the ride seemed interminable. Eve felt weak long before she reached home. She should have taken at least a malted milk before working so late, she thought. It was a quarter of nine before she reached home. As she wearily climbed the front porch steps she wished anew for an apartment in a modern building with elevators.

However, she felt a warm little rush of thankfulness for her home just as it was when she saw the narrow slit of light under the door. Dick would be waiting for her. And he would have something hot and savoury for her to eat. She hoped it would be chicken noodle soup.

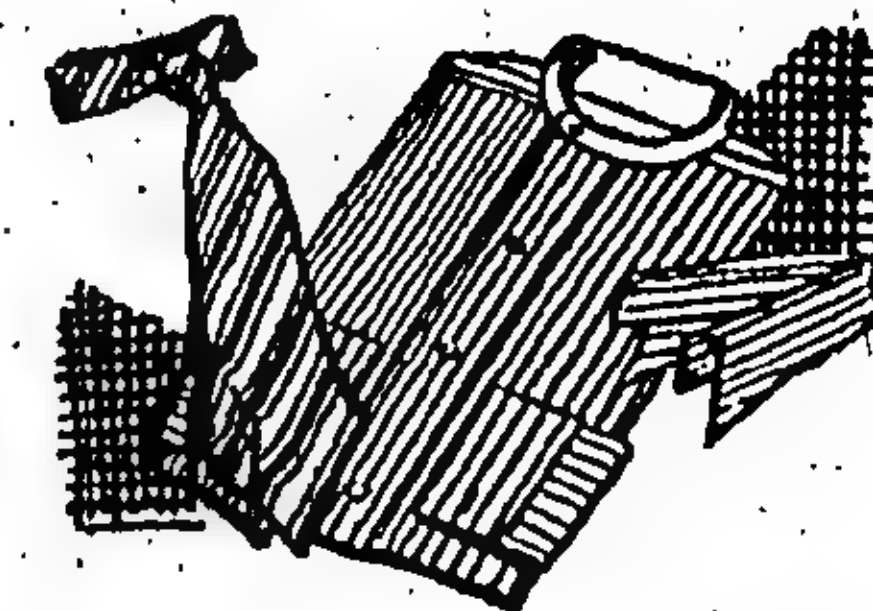

But the door was locked. That meant Dick was not there. Probably he had just gone down to the corner to get a magazine or a fresh supply of tobacco. Eve hunted for her key and unlocked the door.

The room was in order. One lamp burned dimly in the living room. She turned the switch that lighted the combination kitchen and dining room and saw that the table was set with one place. There was a note beside it. It read:

"Eve, dearest: You'll find your dinner in the oven. Only take a few minutes to warm it up. Sorry I couldn't wait and eat (Continued on Page 13.)"

WORLD CRISIS A WAY OUT

By FREDERICK COPE, A.M.I.E.E.

Mr. Cope's striking articles on the world economic crisis which were recently published in the Hong Kong Telegraph are now available in pamphlet form.

One of the features, repaying study, is the close similarity between the plan of reform suggested by this local writer, and certain aspects of the Roosevelt recovery programme. The author's ideas are naturally far too advanced for active promotion at the present time, but they are particularly interesting in view of the fact that President Roosevelt, in striking out on a path of his own, has travelled in the same direction.

The pamphlet is one of forty-four pages and can be obtained from the South China Morning Post at a cost of—

An unusual feature of the Thanksgiving service in Berlin recently was the re-marriage of 50 couples under Nazi ritual. This was the picturesque scene as throngs saluted the couples entering the Luthers church for the mass wedding. All but two of the couples were already married.

For the first time since the 1917 revolution, young Russians are dancing the fox-trot this summer with government approval. The lively rhythm of "You're the Cream in My Coffee," and bits of that vintage, float over public parks at evening. The pavilions where government instructors teach "modern western dancing" are packed to the edge. But the fox-trot, as taught by Soviet government officials, is different from the night club fox-trot of America, as the picture at the right will show you.

"We have cleansed the fox-trot," says Peter Lomakin, cultural director of Moscow's Gorky Park of Culture and Rest. "We have removed the pornographic elements, the sex factors, but retained the rhythm—all that is worth while in western dancing."

A year ago bands of earnest young men and women paraded the streets with banners (top picture) which read "Down with the fox-trot and gypsy dancing! Give us proletarian songs!"

But today the fox-trot is back. Komsomolskaya Pravda, official paper of the Young Communists, explains: "The cultural level of our youth has risen during the past few years, and we no longer fear the effect of the fox-trot on them."

Louis Armstrong, the most famous Dance band trumpet player in the world, whose death was recently reported, arrived in London to deny the report. He is seen here with another negro at Water Station. (Planet News).

LEAVING GOLD?

HOLLAND FACING CRITICAL TIMES

Amsterdam, Aug. 31.
Financial circles are not perturbed by the renewed reports of an imminent departure from the gold standard, notwithstanding the fact that the next budget will probably show a deficit of between 500,000,000 and 700,000,000 guilders. This deficit will possibly necessitate the issue of a compulsory state loan, and precipitate other financial and commercial difficulties.

Contrary to a statement issued yesterday, the Netherlands Bank to-day showed a table of imports of gold to the value of 9,000,000 guilders from Great Britain and France for gold cover at 78.80. The price of gold is only slightly rising.

Foreign speculators continue to attack the guilder but having over come the previous heavy onslaughts, bankers are confident that the gold standard will be maintained. It is recalled that the bank rate has fallen from four and a half to three per cent since mid-July and a further drop is most likely.

PILLS AS FOOD

IDEA ALMOST REALISED

CONCENTRATED VITAMINES

Berlin. The idea of taking a pill and calling it a meal approaches reality with the announcement of successful medical treatment with a highly nutritive substance, derived after five years' experiment from the common cotton-seed by Professor Knapp Schmitt of Heidelberg.

The substance obtained by a process of extraction and evaporation, resembles yellowish flour and contains as does no other known product, the vitamins A, B, C and E altogether. The vitamin D, according to one analyst's report can easily be activated.

Containing 50 per cent albumen and the extremely high mineral content of 7.5 per cent, the cotton seed extract has been fed to hospital patients with results indicating a new method of enriching human nourishment that may revolutionise dietetics.

AID TO RECOVERY.

Physicians report that after three months feeding by the teaspoonful or as an addition to food, not only patients with "deficiency diseases" but also those suffering from such varied ailments as physical debility, diabetes, kidney, heart, gall trouble and tuberculosis, put on weight, their condition showing unusual improvement.

Physicians believe also the cotton seed extract will be highly important in preventing cancer, many holding this to be a "deficiency disease" resulting from improper nutrition.

In not a single case on record did the cotton seed extract have an unfavourable effect upon a patient. The fact that the substance is soluble in water is an advantage in feeding patients unable to take pills.

Moreover the substance, according to physicians is valuable in skin therapeutics and the multitude of ways in which it can be "fed" reveals possibilities of a new gigantic industry of health products in cotton growing countries.

TWO TABLETS—THREE MEALS. The pulverized cotton seed extract can be added to every conceivable food such as butter, cheese, bread, ice-cream, candy, and drinks including wine, beer, coffee, milk, and cocoa, increasing the nutritive value of these 20 to 30 per cent, according to analysis. It aids the fermentation process and yeast is improved by it.

Two of the cotton-seed tablets a day, according to Professor Schmitt, suffice for three meals a day, and there is the likelihood of the cotton-seed pill becoming the "iron-ration" of the future for soldiers, explorers, ocean fliers and also for civilians in times of food shortage.

Very shortly the State of Baden will commence feeding its school children with cotton-seed tablets under strict observation of the authorities. The Italian Government is showing a lively interest in Professor Schmitt's work with a view towards exploiting its colonial cotton plantations. In Egypt, where Professor Schmitt completed his experiments, the product has already been placed on the market. Both the Chinese and the Japanese Governments have inquired into Professor Schmitt's experiments.—Reuter.

UNARMED ARMY OF 25,000

TO TAKE PART IN GREAT "SOKOL"

Belgrade. An army of 25,000 young men, each a model of physical perfection and muscular development, is mobilised in Yugoslavia not far from the Italian frontier, for a great "Sokol" meeting.

The "Sokols" or Eagles, are a purely gymnastical society, and the main object of the meeting is to carry through a programme of gymnastic exercises for which the most coveted prize is a sword offered by King Alexander to the best team.

While the Sokols carry no arms and spend their time in performing astonishing exercises on the various apparatus of their vast open air gymnasiums, the silent discipline of their mass drill, the magnificent show of muscle and control, says clearly "Hands off Yugoslavia."

Four thousand Sokols have come also from Czechoslovakia, where the Sokol movement originated, to join their Slovene, Croatian and Serbian fellows in joint exercises, and to compete for the prizes.

Another large detachment represents all the Sokol groups of the White Russians, scattered through 1901 Europe.—Reuter.

FIRE ENQUIRY CONCLUDES.

VERDICT OF DEATHS BY MISADVENTURE

The enquiry into the disastrous fire in Reclamation Street in the early hours of August 10, in which seven people lost their lives, was concluded yesterday afternoon when the jury said they were "satisfied that there was no proof that the fire was deliberately caused."

The enquiry was conducted by Mr. Butters at the Kowloon Magistrate's Court with the following jury: Messrs. H. J. D. Lowe (foreman), William Saunders and Thomas Wong.

Evidence was given by Mr. L. P. Kwok, of the Wing On Fire and Marine Insurance Co., yesterday. He stated that the gunny bag shop on the ground floor of No. 393 Reclamation Street was insured with his Company for $1,000. A claim for $600 had been made but on investigations being made, the Company had decided to award $540. Witness was of the opinion that the claim was genuine.

After further evidence of identification, the Coroner said to the jury: "Gentlemen, you have heard the evidence of all the witnesses, and I don't think there is any doubt that the seven deceased, into whose death you have been enquiring, except Poon Sam, met their death by burns as the result of this fire at No. 393 and 395 Reclamation Street in the early hours of August 10. Poon Sam met his death by falling from a pipe while attempting to escape to another floor."

"The fire originated, according to the evidence, in the gunny bag shop belonging to Tsang Cheung, who himself gave evidence. His evidence was given in a very unsatisfactory manner. This might have been caused by nervousness, but he himself says that he insured his stock for $1,000 knowing fully well that it was worth only $600."

"You have heard the evidence of the insurance agent, however, and he says that a claim for $600 was made to his Company, but after investigations, they had decided to award $540. It was this witness' opinion that the claim was genuine."

Kerosene Lamps.

"Evidence has also been given that there were no electric lights in the building. The lamps used were lit by kerosene. There was also evidence that the bean-curd dealer used an open fire for cooking, but there is no reason to believe that the fire started from that open fire place."

The Coroner went on to say that this was not the first enquiry he had held in respect of deaths caused by fire in Chinese tenement houses, in which large quantities of inflammable goods were stored. In this case, the Fire Brigade had done everything possible to minimise the loss of lives. If the jury were satisfied that the fire started by accident and not by intention, his Worship directed them to bring in a verdict of death by misadventure.

After a short retirement, the jury brought in the following verdict: "We find that all the deceased met their death by misadventure. There is no proof that the fire was deliberately caused, and we express our sympathy with the relatives of the deceased. We commend the work done by the Fire Brigade."

His Worship: "Gentlemen, I agree with your verdict and associate myself with your expression of sympathy with the relatives of the deceased."

BLUE SHIRTS RAIDED.

FUSION OF OPPOSITION PARTIES

Dublin, Aug. 31. The Blue Shirts Headquarters have been twice raided by police officers within 12 hours and a quantity of documents has been removed. General O'Duffy's desk was burst open.

Behind the scenes, active work is proceeding with a view to bringing about a fusion of the principal Opposition parties into one National party.

Supporters of the policy feel that the adverse trade balance of £10,000,000 for the last seven months will considerably help the idea.—Reuter.

APPEALS FOR AID.

GOVERNOR OF HONAN REPORTS ON FLOOD

Nanking, Aug. 31. Liu Shih, Governor of Honan, today appealed for relief on behalf of the flood victims in his province. He estimates that 2,000 villages in Honan have been affected by the flood and of this number many have been completely ruined. He Shih-yuan, Commissioner of Education in Shantung, is on his way to Nanking from Tientsin today in order to deliver a personal plea for funds to alleviate the sufferings of the flood victims.—Reuter.

HONOUR AMONG THIEVES

SOME UNDERWORLD ETHICS

NO "BIG SHOT"

Chicago. Scientists who study crime and its causes have learned "how the other half lives," from "Frank Smith," ex-pickpocket. Among other things, he told them in effect that there was "honour among thieves."

"Frank Smith," whose real name is something else, is a professional pickpocket on parole. He spoke on "social relationships of the professional thief" before a symposium on crime sponsored by the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Professional thieves, he said, such as confidence men and pickpockets, had a higher code of ethics among themselves than amateur criminals such as young hoodlums who might hold up a store or commit some similar crime.

The professionals usually worked in a "mob" of three or four, one doing the stealing and the other acting as helpers, but all share alike in the proceeds. There is no "big shot" who gets more than the others. Even when a single member of the "mob" steals something without aid of his co-workers, he still must share with them. "Holding out" on the others means instant dismissal from the "mob."

On the other hand if a professional thief gets in some kind of trouble that has no connection with his business of thieving, ethics of the profession do not require his partners to come to his aid.

NO "SQUAWKING"

Professional thieves seldom have to "squawk" on each other in court, he said, because when they are caught they usually can silence the victim by returning the money through a dishonest policeman or in some other way, and avoid being brought to trial. In one case a victim was persuaded to drop prosecution when the confidence man who fleeced him agreed to give $5,000 to the victim's favourite charity, a hospital for crippled children.

There are codes of ethics, as between "mobs" of thieves as well as between thieves in a "mob," Smith went on. One mob is tolerant of the competing operations of another mob in the same town. There is no "cut throat competition."

"MOB" RESENTMENT.

On the other hand a local mob resents operations of an out-of-town mob that is passing through a town and makes it more difficult for the local thieves by committing thefts that put local people on their guard. If one mob has "fixed" the police or guards so that it can work unmolested in a railroad station, for example, other mobs which do not have this protection will not work there, for they will be blamed for the thefts of the first mob.

Other points about professional thieves:

To a thief all non-thieves are "suckers."

On railroad trains thieves always ride in drawing rooms for protection and privacy.

Thieves never talk in their own slang or vernacular except among themselves. In the presence of others it's a "dead giveaway."

Thieves often have honest friends who have no connection with their thieving operations and whom they will protect against trouble even at the cost of going to jail.—Reuter.

THE AMERICAN EXPERIMENT

Professor Gregory's considered opinion that the American recovery programme cannot achieve permanent prosperity comes from a sufficiently authoritative source to cause deep thinking in the United States. Professor Gregory is one of Britain's foremost currency experts and moreover, he has devoted special study to American finance, being the author of several publications. His suggestion that the appearance of returning prosperity derives from the fact that the United States is living on capital cannot be easily set aside. It seems, in fact, to be the inevitable process in any measure of artificial stimulation of trade and industry, constituting in the long run, the throwing of good money after bad. Money is being poured out in an effort to raise prices. The raising of price is regarded as vitally necessary in order that farmers, primary producers, industrialists and so on will be in a position to pay the debts they incurred when values were higher. The American Experiment seems to be taking the semblance of the last desperate effort of the capitalistic system to save itself. And the final test does not appear to be far off. Mr. William Green now raises the question whether the wage limit is high enough and the hour limit is low enough to do any appreciable good. Managers assert that to attempt higher rates will involve not only heavy pay-roll increases for industry, but also a further scaling down of higher paid employees to near the minimum level. This is an indictment of the present wage scale, it also warns of a tendency to make the minimum a maximum. In this attitude lies the greatest danger to the success of the Experiment. Despite the appeals for cultivation of the community spirit, the industrialists still appear to be desirous of having their cake and eating it too. They are prepared to make concessions, but they must be the absolute minimum required in their opinion to achieve the set purpose. And as Mr. Green warns they are falling short.

NOTES OF THE DAY

ECONOMIC PLANNING

Two items in the news to-day reveal the increasing part which the Government is taking in the development and regulation of industry and commerce. The whole of Britain's milk supplies may soon be controlled by highly-paid administrative board. The Minister of Agriculture has followed up his fish import control scheme with a similar arrangement regarding potatoes. The policy of the Government reveals that the trend of modern thought is being followed more closely than is generally assumed. Economic planning on full scale is coming as sure as the day.

STATE CORPORATIONS

There may, in fact, be even more striking developments in the very near future. Although the political importance of Fascism in Britain is quite negligible, it is coming to be recognised in circles quite hostile to the system as a whole that there are certain aspects of Fascist policy which are well worthy of close study with a view to emulation. It is significant, indeed that certain well-known political leaders are considering the possibility of combining existing industrial organisations—that is, both trade unions and employers' federations—into state-controlled corporations on the Italian model. The Prime Minister, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, is understood to be one of those who is closely watching this investigation. Should he decide to sponsor the corporation idea the whole face of British politics might be revolutionised overnight.

PETROL FROM COAL

"Oil out of coal" is a hope that has been beckoning to Western Europe for long past; ever since the coal, which Britain, Germany, and France all possess in abundance, was ousted for so many purposes by the oil, which they do not. As an affair of laboratory chemistry the transformation is not difficult, and there are several alternative ways of achieving it. The difficulty comes when it is a matter of converting laboratory practice into a paying commercial process on the grand scale.

A SUBSIDISED SCHEME

With three countries interested, which between them contain so much of the world's chemical and technological wisdom, the problem can hardly fail to be solved in the long run. But time is of consequence, for few things would help us more in the next years than an improved demand for coal. Particularly is this the case in Britain. But it is Germany, which has hitherto done most towards solving it, because only in Germany has the attempt been subsidised. Now what will in effect be a modest subsidy is to be made available in Britain for a limited period; and a large plant costing 2½ millions is to be erected by Imperial Chemical Industries on the strength of it.

THE COLONY'S FINANCES

Explaining the supplementary P.W.D. estimates, the Hon. Colonial Treasurer gave a very convincing demonstration that figures can be made to prove anything or nothing. Having more money than you first thought of, you subtract this and you get that. Q.E.D. The only difficulty we experienced in understanding the explanation was concerned with the feeling that this is September and not January. It was also notable that while the Treasury adopts as a rule a very cautious policy, it seems to have been extremely liberal in its allowance of a trifle over five lakhs for contingencies during the remaining four months of the year.

JOHN C. SEGRUE considers

THE TRUE MIND OF GERMANY

THE observer of Liberal outlook living at the heart of the German eruption finds it no easy task to preserve a balanced attitude towards the Nazi movement. In his mind the onslaughts upon freedom and the pitiless persecution of a defenceless minority must arouse doubts as to the worth of Nazi ideals, or the substance of the achievements Nazis boast of.

Has there so far been a constructive side in Nazi activities? At present the unchallenged masters of Germany, will their power wane or be lasting?

Do the abnormal conditions prevailing in their country give satisfaction to the mass of Germans, to those, that is, who do not belong to the order of the outlawed?

To these questions an answer may be attempted now that we are within sight of the completion of the first six months of Nazi government.

The facts of the German situation are extraordinarily difficult to sift. The Press is manacled; even the mildest criticism within Germany is forbidden; opponents of the Government still go in dread.

To what extent Germany's flag waving, song singing and joyous marching are genuine and to what extent they are the work of Dr. Goebbels, the Minister for Propaganda and Europe's astutest agent for publicity, is not to be ascertained.

After six months the tremors of the political earthquake that rocked Germany are subsiding, but a darkness as of the thick forest on a moonless night still overhangs the land.

In the list of achievements that Dr. Goebbels from time to time requires the German Press to publish Nazi exploits in foreign politics are rarely referred to.

Yet in this field they can rightly claim some successes. The pact with the Vatican negotiated whilst priests were being rounded up in Bavaria was a skilful piece of diplomatic work.

Under the Nazi Chancellor Germany's relations with Poland have improved. The Polish Corridor is no longer mentioned. In the Nazi polemical literature. The first step of the Nazis on attaining power in Danzig was to send an embassy of peace to Warsaw.

Under the guidance of Herr von Neurath, a non-Nazi, the present rulers of Germany have shown themselves to be realists in the field of foreign affairs.

HOME AFFAIRS.

At home their outstanding achievement has been to entrench and fortify their position. Every lever in the complicated machine of the State is now in their hands. No position is too insignificant for a Nazi to fill.

Wherever Germans gather in an organised group—for prayer, on the tennis courts, at chess tournaments, at hikes—there will be the watchful and attentive Nazi.

An energetic offensive against unemployment has been launched, although far too rosy a picture of its results has been drawn by Nazi propagandists. The labour camps—a scheme taken over from previous Governments—by removing thousands of unemployed youths from the streets or mean homes, must be accounted a praiseworthy social experiment.

There has been ruthless war upon mendicancy. The beggars who infested the big cities have mostly vanished.

A moral clean-up is being attempted. Dubious establishments have been suppressed; dubious advertisements are no longer published in the newspapers. The vicious side of night-life is fading out as the result of police raids.

I think the Chancellor's personal position is stronger than when the regime started. His personality and his policy still occasion a glow to the youth of Germany, and his influence is considerable with the unromantic middle-aged.

He is the link between the armed forces and the new Germany. It is notorious that the Army does not greatly like the Nazi movement, and opponents of the Government are disposed to build upon this hostility.

But I think that any general who tried to lead the troops against the present Chancellor would be guilty of a deadly miscalculation.

IRKSOME STRAIT JACKET.

In the industrial field there has been no conscious betrayal of labour to the capitalist. The lot of the worker in Nazi Germany is not a comfortable one, yet the employer too must submit to an iron discipline.

There is a touch of comedy in the Nazi campaign to persuade hard-headed German businessmen that in business the "interests of the community must go before the interests of the individual." With wry faces the other day at Leipzig 4,000 Saxon industrialists and bankers listened to a lecture from a Nazi on this theme.

Despite the Chancellor's enhanced prestige, the Nazi movement has not, I fancy, made headway during the last six months. The workers stand aloof. The capacity of the Nazi leaders to solve Germany's many problems is doubted. The plight of the Jews provokes commiseration.

And the future? It is not to be supposed that a great people like the Germans will permanently acquiesce in the loss of all liberty, but, on the other hand, changes as the result of an upheaval are not probable.

Undiluted Hitlerism must pass, and it is possible that Adolf Hitler himself will bring about the transition to more tolerable conditions. The democratic republic has gone for good and the dangers of Communism still frequently evoked are a tale of goblins intended to scare the uninitiated. The German pendulum may finally come to rest in a middle position.

The ideal of a revived monarchy on constitutional lines, with Adolf Hitler as Chancellor for life, greatly attracts Nazi youth. Destiny may be preparing a lofty niche for the ex-Crown Prince, the friend of the Jews.

The Very Idea!

By Eddie Kelly, Spendthrift

ACCORDING to the financial statement issued by the Colonial Treasurer last Tuesday, Hongkong has a surplus of $16,123,725.85, or more than six million bucks above the minimum requirements.

In fact, the Colonial Treasurer has so much money that he doesn't know how to spend it.

Yesterday, in Legislative Council, he could only suggest means of 'disposing of a mere bagatelle of six lakhs.

We wish we could get our hands on that money. We'd show 'em how to spend it.

We would, for instance, fix up that little argument with the Hotel. We would pay them their eleven dollars.

Then there's our Star Ferry ticket. Six bucks, we'd give 'em. Then we wouldn't have to climb the rails every time the Inspector is on duty.

There are several other ways we could think of to spend those six millions.

Cumshaw to the boy would absorb five bucks. Then we could buy our morning paper every day, instead of reading over our neighbour's shoulder on the Ferry.

A night at one of the dancing academies would cost us at least five bucks, and taking a dance girl home afterwards—say two bucks for taxi hire.

We would have to set another five bucks aside for the gala night of "Cavalcade." Other picture shows would probably cost us in the vicinity of $6.

Incidentals, say, twenty bucks, which, you will admit, is fairly liberal in these hard times when a man has only six million to spend.

The total is now $60. We leave it to you to guess how we'd spend the other $5,999,940.

SUPER-MILKMEN WANTED

VOTING BY THE FARMERS

London, Aug. 31.
A small band of super-milkmen is wanted by the Government. They will be Administrative Officers under the new milk marketing scheme, and their salaries will be higher in some cases than those of Cabinet Ministers.

No appointment will, however, be made until the result is known of the ballot among the farmers recording approval or disapproval of the scheme.

Voting papers have been supplied to nearly 250,000 milk producers and they are to be returned to the National Farmers' Union by Saturday.

The result of the poll is to be announced next week, probably on Wednesday.

If a two-thirds majority in favour of the scheme is secured, the Milk Marketing Board will control the sale of all milk in the British Isles, except the Irish Free State.

The manager, whose salary is to range from £5,000 to £7,500, must be between the ages of 40 and 55. This super milkman must have wide experience of organisation and administration.

TWICE PREMIER'S SALARY.

At the maximum salary he will be paid nearly twice the amount received by the Prime Minister.

The four other super milkmen are to be:

Accountant (35 to 45), salary £2,500 to £3,000;
Registrar and Statistician (35 to 45), salary £1,000 to £1,250;
Secretary (35 to 48), salary £2,000 to £2,500;
Marketing Officer (40 to 55), salary £2,500 to £3,000.

On the question of the ages for applicants an official of the National Farmers' Union, upon whose recommendation the scheme is founded, stated:—

"Earl de la Warr, Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Agriculture, pointed out in the House of Lords that this is a tremendous experiment in attempting to organise a hitherto unorganised industry with a turnover of more than £50,000,000 annually. The officials who are to administer the scheme must be men of experience and tried ability."

HOSPITAL EMPLOYEES ASSAULTED

HEAVY FINES FOR THREE STUDENTS

An alleged assault on a Kwong Wah Hospital employee by four students had a sequel before Mr. Schofield, at the Central Magistracy, this morning, when Li Kwong-yuen, Tau Sai-kwong, Chiu Tat-wing and Ho Kam-pui were charged with assaulting Lam Kui-ning and Lam Yau at the Ko Shing Theatre.

The first defendant was fined $50 or six weeks hard labour and bound over in $150 surety for one year, the magistrate holding that he was the principal instigator in the assault, and the second and fourth defendants fined $10 or fourteen days and bound over in $50 each for one year. The third defendant was discharged, his plea of not guilty being accepted by the police.

It appeared that the first defendant had a grievance against the first complainant, who, it was alleged, had reported him to the Kwong Wah Hospital Board for not having done his work well. The complainant was threatened by the defendant, and was in fear of his life. On August 29 complainant saw defendant peeping at him through a window in the Tung Wah Hospital, and being afraid, telephoned the second complainant to escort him to Hongkong.

When they were outside the Ko Shing Theatre second defendant came up and struck first complainant on the nose. The other defendants then came up and a fight ensued.

The second defendant came out the worst as complainant's father, who accompanied them, was wielding a stick.

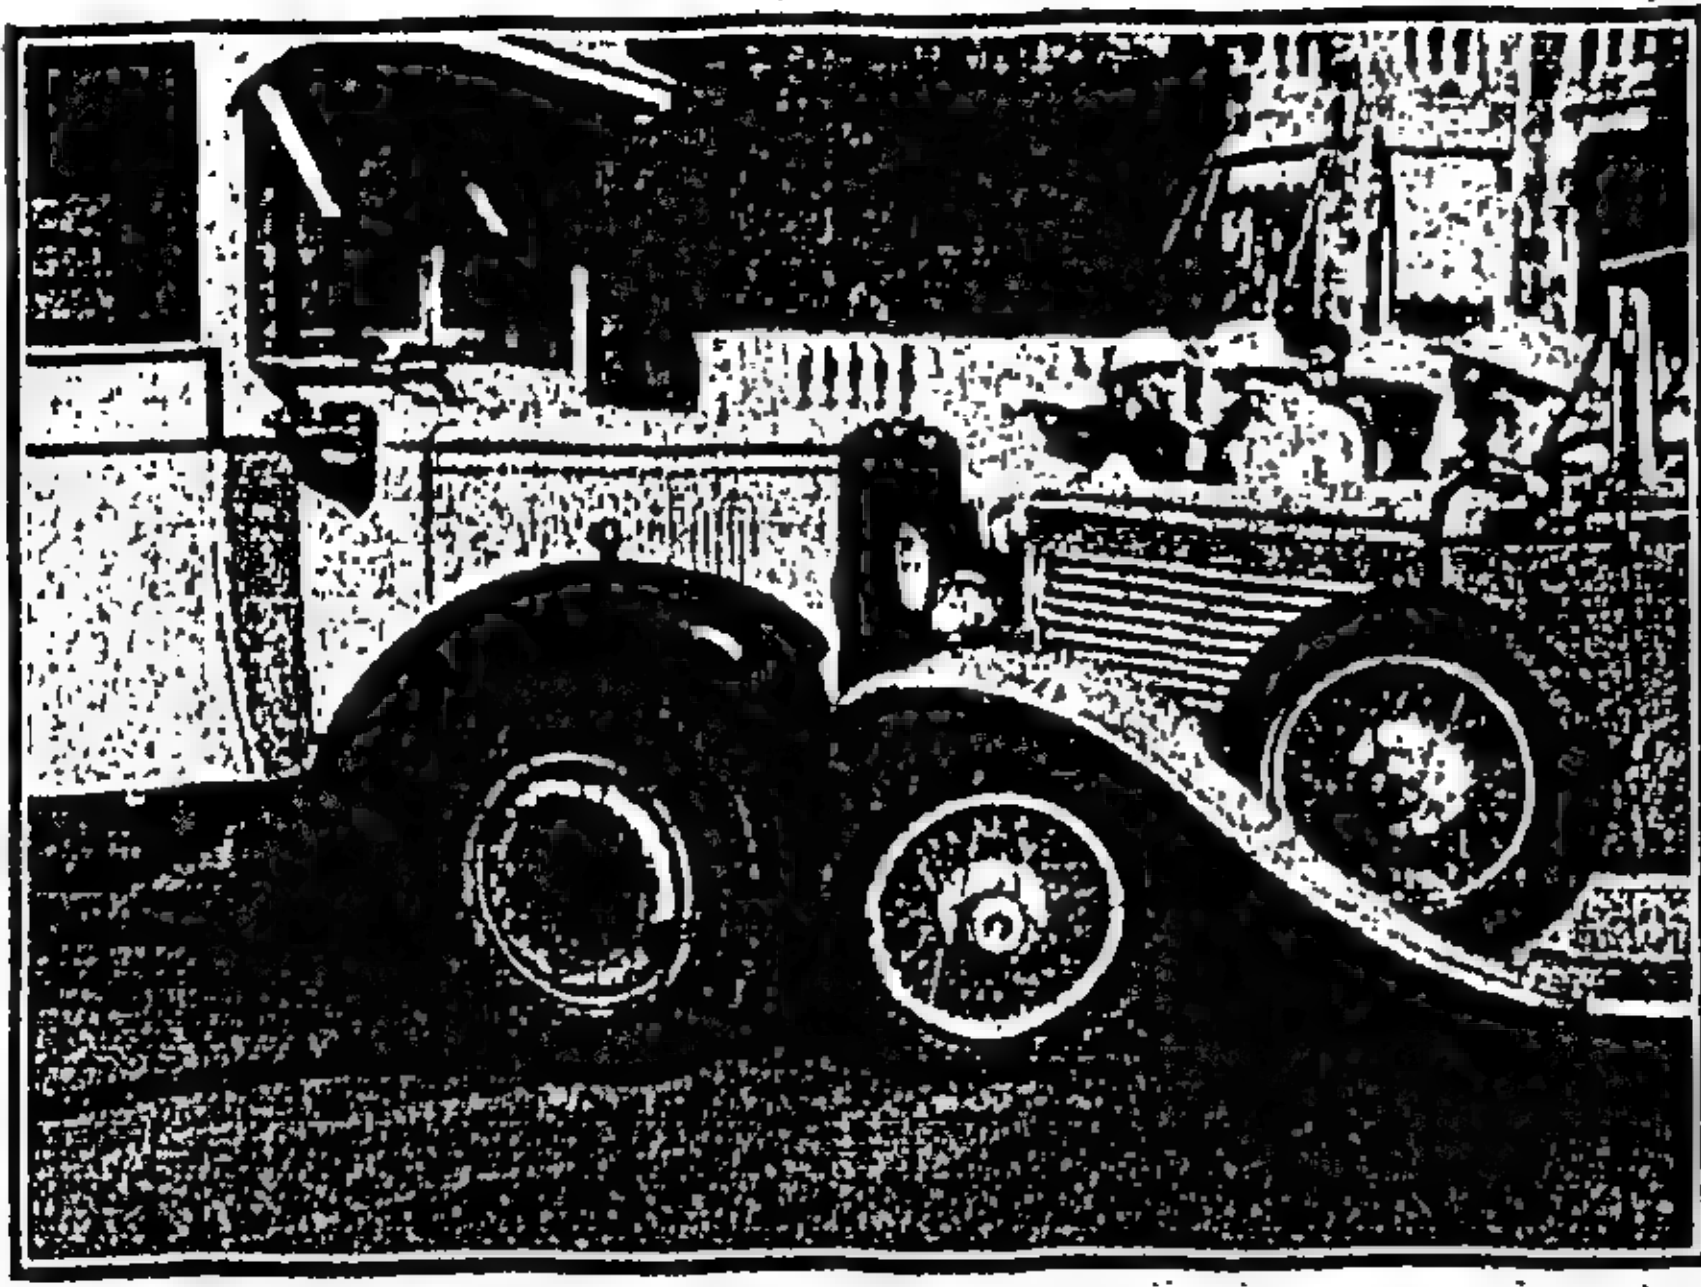

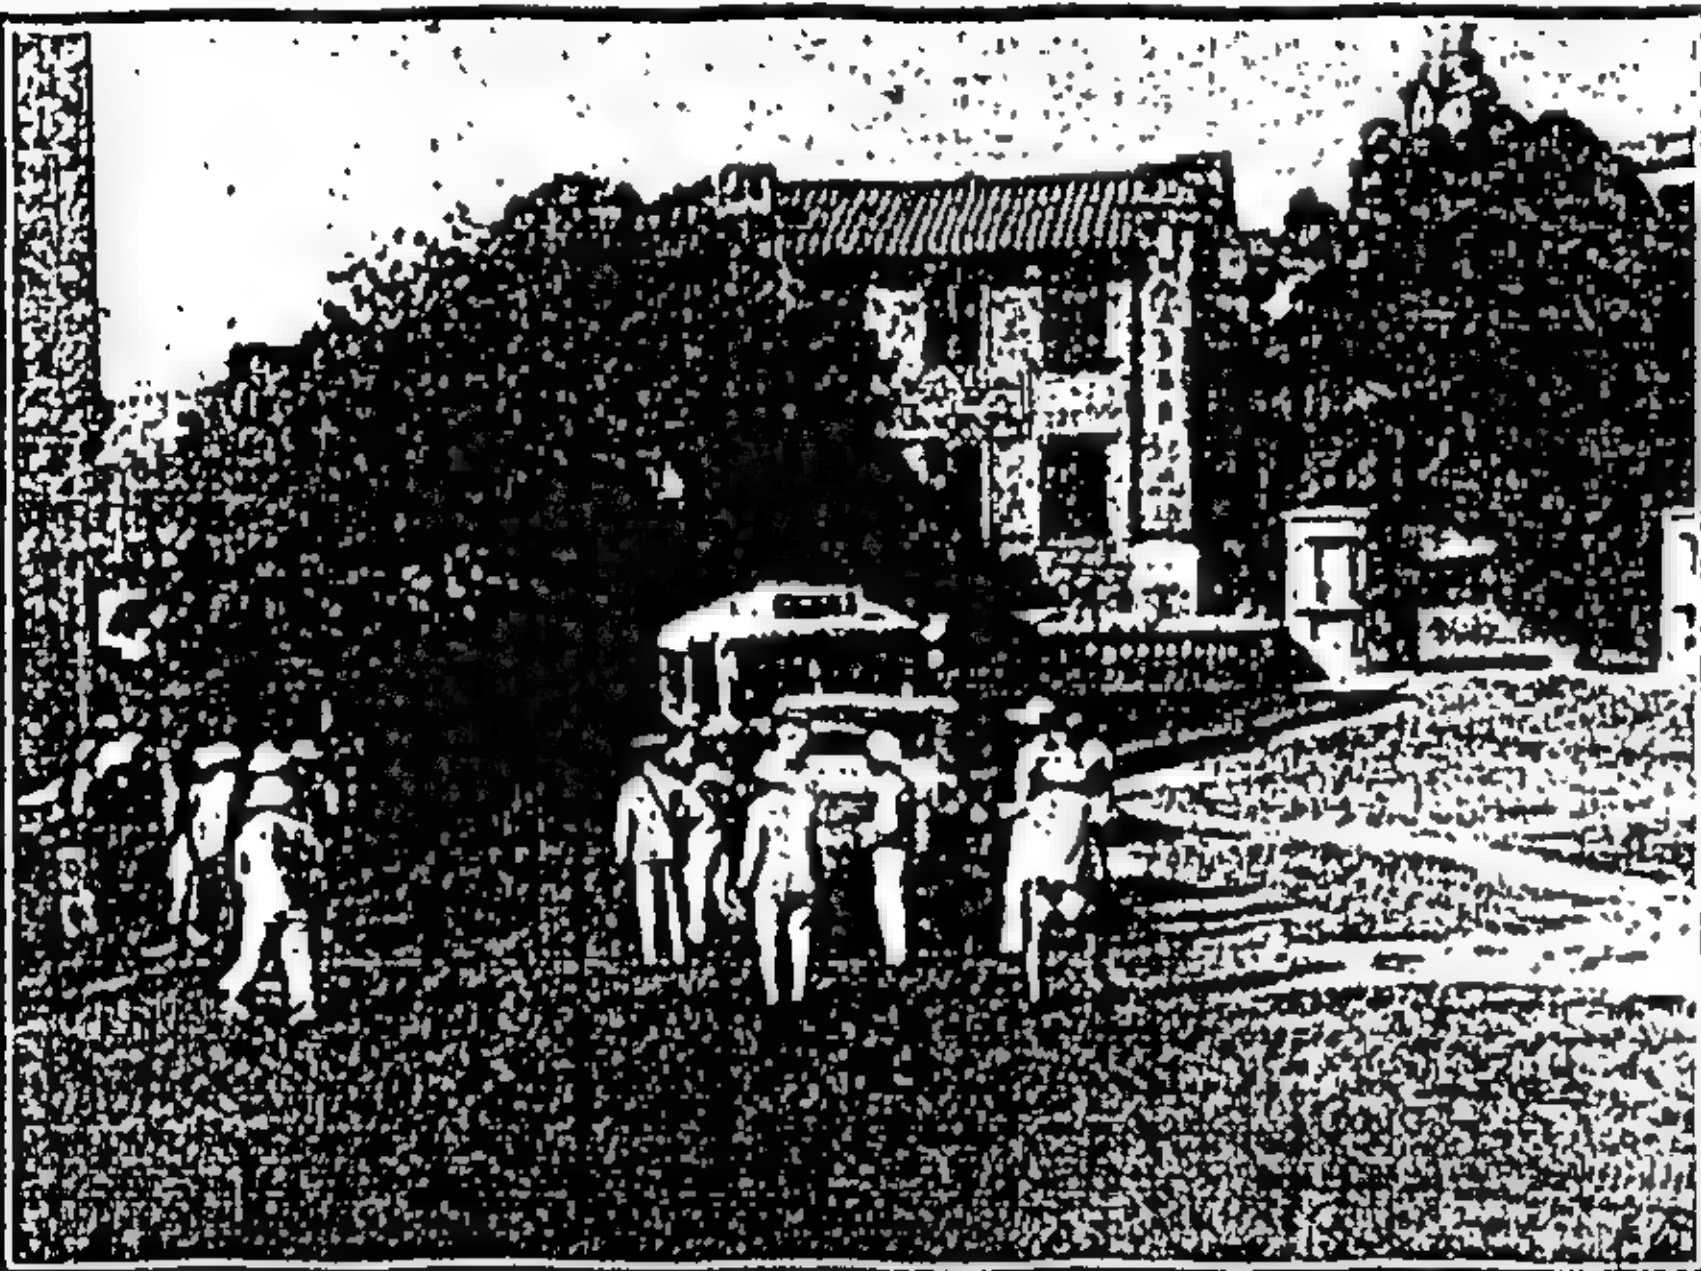

Photo shows the result of a head-on collision between a motorbus and a private car near the University on Wednesday. So violent was the crash that it took an hour to separate the vehicles.

MORE GOVERNMENT INTERVENTION

London, Aug. 31.
The Minister of Agriculture has been in negotiation with representatives of the potato exporting countries with a view to emergency action for the regulation of imports, pending the coming into operation of the home marketing schemes and of a permanent system for the regulation of potato imports.

It has now been arranged that during the four months, September to December, the imports into the United Kingdom from the Netherlands and Belgium will not exceed 8,000 tons and 2,500 tons respectively.

Other foreign exporting countries which do not usually export potatoes to the United Kingdom market at this time of the year have been asked to refrain from doing so for the remainder of the year.—British Wireless.

HEROIN CHARGE

POSSESSION OF 1,023 PILLS ALLEGED

Sub-Inspector Mair applied for a remand when the case of a Chinese charged with being in possession of 1,023 heroin pills was called at Kowloon Police Court this morning.

He stated that a few days would be required for the analysis of the pills and defendant, Pun Mak-hee, 29, of 616, Reclamation Street, Hongkong, was accordingly remanded to Monday.

"If a man is out with his lady friend steer clear in future" advised Mr. Wynne-Jones in the Central Police Court this morning, when he imposed a fine of $5 on a young Chinese, and cautioned three others for fighting.

Sub-Inspector Smith: "This is a case where two men know the girl and two others want to know her, and jealousy occurs."

MR. MAXTON SEES SIR JOHN SIMON

London, Aug. 31.

The Foreign Secretary, Sir John Simon, to-day received a deputation from the Independent Labour Party, headed by Mr. James Maxton M.P.

According to "Mr. Maxton, the deputation desired to express to the Foreign Secretary the intense feeling among the working class in regard to the treatment of certain people and the present regime in Germany."

Mr. Maxton says the Foreign Secretary assured the deputation that the British Government were watching happenings in Germany with the closest attention.—British Wireless.

Jorge Lourenco de Britto, otherwise known as Jorge Alberto Britto, alias Jorge de Britto, late of Granville Road, Kowloon, who died on February 11, this year, left last estate sworn under $4,100. Letters of administration have been granted to his daughter, Miss Maria Emilia Britto, of the same address.

A Chinese servant Wong Shing who stole from Mr. Marrable of Ho Tung Buildings, a gold locket and gold watch was punished by Mr. H. R. Butters at the Kowloon Police Court this morning. Accused received a sentence of six months hard labour. The boy absconded on June 19 and the articles were then missed. He was arrested on Friday.

Charged at the Kowloon Police Court this morning with housebreaking, Lam Yui-shing was sentenced to six months hard labour. Sub-Inspector Rokecky stated that a feli who was sleeping in a tea shop at 15, Canton Road, was awakened by a noise and saw a hand removing a shutter from the outside. He grabbed it and apprehended defendant.

MANY MOTORING OFFENCES

FAST AND DANGEROUS DRIVING

EUROPEANS AMONG DEFENDANTS

"I cannot dispute it, I did not look at my speedometer, I reckon it must have been about 30 miles an hour" remarked Mr. E. L. Groome, of Messrs. Gibb Livingston and Company, summoned before Mr. Schofield, at the Central Magistracy this morning, for having driven his car at a speed dangerous to the public in Queen's Road, East, at 6.50 p.m. on August 6.

A fine of $25 was imposed. Traffic Sergeant Winslade said that he just saw defendant's car in Stubbs Road, and rode behind it through Queen's Road, East, up to 6 Arsenal Street. At that point the driver increased his speed to 30 miles an hour, and later to 34 miles an hour at Seven and Six Penny Hill. The road was crowded at the time. The driver was going at a safe speed East of Arsenal Street.

DANGEROUS MANNER.

Mr. M. E. Pollit, of A. H. Potts, Share and General Brokers summoned for having driven a car in Des Voeux Road on August 12 at a speed and in a manner dangerous to the public was also fined $25.

Sub-Inspector Saunders said that he was on his motor cycle near Watson's Dispensary when he saw a car driven by defendant pull out sharply from rear Macintosh's store and drive Eastwards at a fast speed. The driver increased his speed to its maximum, and passing Lee House Street was doing about 20 miles an hour. He increased his speed to 30 miles in Des Voeux Road, Central, near Wardley Street, and to 36 miles in Queen's Road, East, past the Murray Barracks. The road was full of vehicles as it was on a Saturday morning, and the driver swerved once or twice to avoid them.

Defendant said he did not think he was driving in a dangerous manner, but it may have been fast. He admitted the statement made by Sub-Inspector Saunders to be accurate.

NEGLIGENT DRIVING.

Wong Hung, the driver of a private car was fined $5 for having no appropriate licence, and $25 for driving negligently.

Sub-Inspector Saunders said that he was walking near the pavement in D'Aguiar Street when defendant drove his car from Queen's Road, Central, and actually hit him on the leg. He had to jump aside. Defendant had a licence to drive a lorry, but not a private car.

HORN ANNOYANCE.

"I heard him sound his horn three or four times. He was looking for his brother" remarked Traffic Sergeant Clarke prosecuting Leung Siu, the driver of a private car, with causing an annoyance with his motor horn in Lockhart Road.

Defendant was fined $5.

"LOST HER HEAD."

"When the girl was stopped, she lost her head and let the steering wheel go" remarked Traffic Sergeant B. G. Baker prosecuting A. Chang, a licensed driver, with having allowed an unlicensed driver to drive a car on Shek O Road on August 31, and Chan Kam, a girl with driving without an appropriate licence.

The first defendant was fined $20 and the girl $10. Sergeant Baker said the car was full of girls, which made the offence more dangerous. The first defendant said she was his daughter. It was a five-seater car, and too dangerous for her to drive at any time. Under the circumstances he charged the defendants instead of summoning them.

Mr. Schofield remarked that he fined them more than the usual amount because the car was driven in a dangerous manner.

TRAM MISHAP

YOUNG WOMAN BADLY INJURED

Serious head injuries were sustained by Cham Kwok-yui, a girl aged 19 years, when she fell from a moving tram in Des Voeux Road at 11 a.m. this morning.

The girl, who recently arrived in Hongkong from Peking-Kong-moon was standing in the open doorway of the third class compartment of a westward-bound tram, and, it is stated, stopped to the bottom stair preparatory to alighting at the Pedder Street intersection. After first aid treatment, she was conveyed to the Government Civil Hospital by ambulance.

BOY SNATCHES BAG

BUT IS CAUGHT BY PORTUGUESE

As Mrs. Hardy, of No. 10 Carnarvon Road, Kowloon, was leaving her home yesterday afternoon, a young Chinese ran up behind her and snatched her bag. A Portuguese gentleman witnessed the incident and stopped the boy. When Mrs. Hardy came up the boy produced the bag from his jacket.

Defendant who gave his name as Suen Hong, and his age as 13, pleaded guilty before Mr. H. R. Butters at Kowloon Police Court this morning and was ordered to receive 12 strokes and to be placed in the care of the Secretary of Chinese Affairs.

FURTHER MATCHES WITH SURREY

No matches between these two counties took place in 1896. In 1897, however, they were renewed. From the Yorkshire side, those old hands, Mr. Stephenson, Anderson, Atkinson, Hodgson and Slinn disappeared, though Joseph Rowbotham and Roger Iddison remained, but I have now to chronicle the appearance in the Yorkshire XI, for the first time in these matches, of those famous bowlers, George Freeman and Tom Emmett. It is also to be observed that our old friend Julius Caesar's name no longer appears on the Surrey side.

The first of the 1897 matches was played at Kennington Oval on June 6 and 7. Yorkshire had first innings and scored 235 (John Thewlis 17, Holgate 20, Brownhill 19, Luke Greenwood 12, Mr. A. J. Wilkinson 53, George Freeman 22, Tom Emmett 38 and George Under 10). For Surrey, Sewell with 4 wickets for 64 runs, Greenwood with 3 for 38 and Griffith with 3 for 73 were the most successful bowlers.

Surrey, in their first innings, could only make 92 (Humphrey 28, Jupp 16, Mortlock 12 and Mr. J. W. Noble 10). The Yorkshire bowlers, Greenwood and Freeman were in fine form—the former capturing 6 wickets for 43 runs and the latter 3 for 39.

Surrey followed on and their second innings was even more disastrous than their first—they being all dismissed for 62—the only "double-figure" batsman being Greenfield with 11. Greenwood and Freeman (who bowled unchanged throughout) took the services of Tom Emmett to enlist 5 wickets for 28 runs and 5 for 34 to their credit, respectively—Yorkshire winning by an innings and 111 runs.

The venue for the return match was Bramall Lane—it taking place on June 24, 25 and 26. Yorkshire were in first, and put up a total of 114 (Luke Greenwood 27, Iddison 19, John Thewlis 10 and Tom Emmett 18 not out).

Of the Surrey bowlers, Roberts took 7 wickets for 22 runs and Sewell 3 for 17. Surrey's first venture realised 98 (H. H. Stephenson 39, Mr. W. J. Collyer 18 and Pooley 15). The Yorkshire bowlers, Greenwood, Freeman and Emmett capturing 1 wicket for 47, 7 for 29 and 2 for 15 respectively.

Yorkshire then entered upon their second innings and scored 242 (Greenwood 10, Rowbotham 15, Iddison 60, Freeman 20, Thewlis 37, Emmett 41 and Griffith 15 not out). Surrey compiled seven "runners" in this innings—the most successful being Humphrey with 3 wickets for 11 runs and Roberts with 2 for 76. Four of the others obtained one wicket apiece for 137 runs.

Surrey with 261 to get to win, could only obtain 76 (Humphrey 19 and H. H. Stephenson 19). The first wicket fell 29, the third at 79 and then came the debacle, the remainder falling for only 6 more runs—Emmett capturing 6 wickets for 7 runs! Freeman had 3 for 29 and Greenwood 1 for 38—Yorkshire thus winning by 184 runs.

In 1898, the first match was played at Bramall Lane on June 22 and 23. Our old friend Julius Caesar being one of the umpires. Surrey took first innings and scored 222 (Humphrey 13, Jupp 30 (not out) he carried his bat through the innings—Griffith 60, Pooley 13, H. H. Stephenson 12 and Mr. Noble 17. For Yorkshire, Iddison took 4 wickets for 21, Emmett 2 for 36, Freeman 2 for 80, Greenwood 1 for 68 and Darton 1 for 15.

Yorkshire faced with Southern's slow round-arm bowling—fared very badly, being all out in their first innings for 71 (Darton 10, Rowbotham 25 and Iddison 10). Southern took 8 wickets for 30 and Griffith 2 for 30.

Following on, Yorkshire played better, but even so, could only put together 146 (Darton 10, Thewlis 37, Mr. Verelet 33 (not out), Iddison 10, Webster 10 and Emmett 18). Southern and Griffith taking 5 wickets apiece for 89 and 43 runs respectively—so that Surrey won by an innings and 6 runs.

The return match took place at Kennington Oval on August 24, 25 and 26. The Yorkshire XI included, for the first time, a nephew of John Thewlis, by name Ephraim Lockwood, who hailed from that celebrated nursery for Yorkshire cricketers, Lascoll's Hall. His services were enlisted at the last moment, and his appearance at the Oval owing to his "rusticity" was the subject of much amused comment. The Rev. R. S. Holmes, who presided the match, remarks, "I shall never forget that match, nor the comments evoked by Lockwood's rustic appearance; he looked all over an appointed coddler. But the laughter turned before long. In him, Yorkshire had discovered their greatest batsman up to date."

John Thewlis, in his "History of Yorkshire Cricket 1895-1923," speaks of him (Lockwood) as "a very raw youth," and adds that he wore trousers that had run up in the washing and a shirt with blue and green squares like a church window. He further states that Lockwood himself said he had no remark that he seemed more likely to eat a penny cake than play cricket! "Old Ebor" adds: "But the fellow from the country, in company with his uncle John Thewlis, put on 170 in the first Yorkshire match, and this remained a record in the county for 20 years." It was not broken until Brown and Tunncliffe

"scored 378 for the county's first 'wicket' against Sussex at Sheffield 'in 1897'."

George Freeman was unable to play in this match owing to his having met with an accident. Surrey batted first and compiled 195 (Humphrey 18, Jupp 83, Pooley 18 and Mr. C. T. Calvert 63). The most successful Yorkshire bowlers were Emmett with 5 wickets for 65 runs, West with 3 for 46 and Atkinson with 2 for 40.

Yorkshire then went to the wickets—opening with John Thewlis and his nephew, the aforesaid, Ephraim Lockwood. They, as already indicated, stayed together till the score was 176 when Lockwood was caught and bowled by Bristow for 91, John Thewlis being out shortly afterwards with a score of 103. Yorkshire's total eventually reached 389 (Iddison 38, Atkinson 44, E. B. Rawlinson 28, Emmett 17, C. Ullathorne 28 and J. West 23 not out). For Surrey, Street took 5 wickets for 85 runs and Humphrey 2 for 69, 8 bowlers in all being tried.

Surrey then made their second journey to the wickets. It was a very disastrous one—the first 5 wickets falling for 11 runs, and the total being but 52. Bristow with 15 and Sewell with 16 being the only batsmen to obtain "double-figures." The two Yorkshire bowlers, Emmett and Atkinson—who bowled unchanged throughout this innings—captured 4 wickets for 23 runs and 6 for 19 respectively, so Yorkshire won by an innings and 142 runs—thus amply atoning for their defeat at Bramall Lane in the earlier match that year.

W.T. CAMPBELL'S NEW RECORD

LOWERS Y.M.C.A. BATH FIGURES FOR 880 YARDS

W. T. Campbell, of the Y.M.C.A., created a new Y.M.C.A. bath record for the 880 yards free style last evening when the first of the Hongkong International Amateur Swimming Association Championships were held. The remainder of the championship events will be held to-night and tomorrow night.

The first race of the evening was the Men's 50 Yards Free Style which was won by Leung Shui-man (C.B.C.) from Chan Fook-sing (C.B.C.) and A. G. Donna (Y.M.C.A.) by 1/5 sec. and 2/5 sec. respectively.

Mrs. A. C. Schreuder, of the Y.M.C.A., gave a creditable performance in the Ladies' 50 yards Championship to beat Miss Young Sau-king (S.C.A.A.) the Colony Champion, by a touch. Mrs. Read (Y.M.C.A.) came third.

Campbell got well away in the Men's 880 yards. He was neck and neck with Kwok Chun-hang over the first six lengths but thereafter forged steadily ahead. Schreuder, who was swimming third, took second place after the eighteenth turn, and Kwok Chun-hang conceded the third place to Wong Yui-man when he retired in the twentieth lap. Campbell finished well, two lengths from Schreuder.

In the Ladies' 440 Yards Free Style Miss Young Sau-king and Miss Young Sau-cheung swam together over the first eight lengths. Then the former took the lead which she maintained until the finish.

RESULTS
Men's 50 Yards Free Style:—1, Leung Shui-man (C.B.C.), 27 sec.; 2, Chan Fook-sing (C.B.C.), 27 1/5 sec.; 3, A. G. Donna (Y.M.C.A.), 27 2/5 sec.

Ladies' 50 Yards Free Style:—1, Mrs. A. C. Schreuder (Y.M.C.A.), 33 1/5 sec.; 2, Miss Young Sau-king (S.C.A.A.), 33 2/5 sec.; 3, Mrs. Read (Y.M.C.A.), 33 3/5 sec.

Men's 880 Yards Free Style:—1, W. T. Campbell (Y.M.C.A.), 12 mins. 34 1/5 sec.; 2, W. A. Schreuder (Y.M.C.A.), 13 mins. 9 sec.; 3, Wong Yui-man (S.C.A.A.).

Ladies' 440 Yards Free Style:—1, Miss Young Sau-king (S.C.A.A.), 7 mins. 0 2/5 sec.; 2, Miss Young Sau-cheung (S.C.A.A.), 8 mins. 0 2/5 sec.; 3, Miss Dora Lam.

DEFEAT MULE CORPS.

St. Andrew's Club commenced their 1933-34 hockey season in promising style yesterday afternoon when they defeated the Hongkong Indian Mule Corps by the only goal scored in a friendly encounter played on the Chatham Road ground. Though the weather was on the warm side, the players shaped up well and the game was thoroughly enjoyed.

N. A. E. Mackay netted the only goal of the match in the first half. Try as they could the Saints could not find the net again, offence being the main spoiling factor. The Mule Corps eleven are newcomers to hockey and this season have entered the Menak Hockey Tournament.

BIG BOWLS MATCH

CIVIL SERVICE OR K.B.G.C.

PROSPECTS FOR TOMORROW

For the second time in the history of the Lawn Bowls League a deciding match for the First Division championship is to be played off to-morrow.

The teams engaged are the Kowloon Bowling Green Club and the Civil Service Cricket Club, who have completed their league programmes with identical records.

The first occasion when such a match had to be played in the First Division was in 1929 when Craigengower, the ultimate winners, met the Kowloon Docks in a deciding tie. Craigengower won by 58 points to 56.

Colour is lent to the match by the appearance of these teams for the displays of both this year have captured the imagination of lawn bowls enthusiasts.

In 1932, the Bowling Green finished bottom of the league. This summer they have effected a remarkable recovery of form, and in the face of severe opposition have won their way to the leadership.

The Civil Service owe their appearance to their ability in seizing remote chances during the last week or two and slipping in when attention was almost undividedly being given to Craigengower at the Bowling Green.

The Telegraph was the only newspaper which recognised the final day in the destination of the title and emphasised very clearly that the Happy Valley team was likely to cause several upsets.

Can they achieve a final triumph to-morrow? They have at least one point in their favour. During their last three or four matches they have revealed consistently good form. There has been a marked improvement in team work and their unbounded confidence, consequent upon recent successes, cannot be gainsaid.

COMPARATIVE RECORDS.
But they are up against what has undeniably proved one of the best teams in the division. From the start of the season the Bowling Green indicated their potentialities as champions and only once or twice have they faltered. For three parts of the summer they have held the leadership and it is going to need a strong side to displace them at this moment.

Although figures can often be misleading, one can, in this case, turn with confidence to the league records and those of the skips to gain some idea of the respective strength of the teams. And these figures show very clearly that there is practically nothing to choose between them.

Naturally they have identical league table records, and when the successes of the various skips are compared, the following figures stand revealed.

For the Bowling Green H. Nish's rink has won ten out of 14 matches; Adam Holland has skipped his rink to eight victories, four defeats and two draws; L. Guy has led his colleague to six wins and five defeats.

R. P. Phillips and A. W. Grimitt have similar records for the Civil Service. Both have won seven out of thirteen matches, losing the remaining half a dozen.

15 WICKETS

GLORIOUS END TO SEASON

AMES SCORES 125

KENT WIN BY SIX WICKETS

London, Aug. 31. Kent wound up their county cricket programme with a brilliant win in two days against Middlesex at Lord's, the match finishing this afternoon when Kent, set to score 32, obtained them for the loss of four wickets.

The encounter was marked by the performance of three players. "Patsy" Hendren earned the distinction of scoring centuries in both innings and they constituted some of the finest batting of his long career. "Tich" Freeman for the fifth time in first-class cricket took 15 wickets in a match; Leslie Ames, the leading batsman of the year scored his seventh century of the season.

Without Hendren, Middlesex would have suffered two complete debacles. Out of his team's first innings score of 233, he hit up 101, and he was even more brilliant in the return visit when he again topped the three figure mark by one made out of a total of 181.

The skillful way in which he nursed the bowling and then flogged it mercilessly was a study in courageous batsmanship.

In compiling his two centuries against Kent, Hendren enjoyed the achievement of scoring four hundreds in the last four matches. Against Surrey during the early part of this week he scored 111 and against the same team a week ago he helped himself to 162 not out.

FREEMAN IS FOR 122.

But even Hendren could not entirely thwart Freeman, whose guile was such that he had the rest of the batsmen at sea. Freeman took eight wickets for 64 in the first innings and followed this up with another 7 for 58, his complete analysis being 15-10-122.

That the wicket was not half so bad as the Middlesex scores would suggest is indicated by the free manner in which Kent collected runs. They came at such a pace that with the total at 386 for 9, the innings was declared closed.

Ames led the way with a typical knock of 125, this being his seventh three-figure innings of the season.

Set with the simple task of scoring 32 to win, Kent went for the runs quickly and in so doing lost four wickets before they were obtained.—Reuter.

J. Deakin, the third skip has both won and lost six games.

IMPORTANT FACTORS.
Judged by these figures, the Bowling Green appear to be slightly stronger on two rinks and of equal strength with the Civil Service on the third.

But these figures are only indicative and cannot be taken as hard and fast proof of superiority on either side.

Temperament and team work will be the important factors in to-morrow's game. There will be no material ground advantage. The teams meet on neutral territory and both have equal tasks in acclimating themselves to the green. But a quick start in this direction may tremendously influence the result.

K.B.G.C. TO WIN.
After taking everything into consideration the odds appear to be on the Bowling Green to win.

It is expected that the following teams will turn out:

K.B.G.C.
R. Hall, A. McIntyre, D. Gow and H. Nish (skip); J. Gibson, A. R. Whitley, J. H. Budding and L. Guy (skip); R. Duncan, V. Petherick, W. Macfarlane and A. Holland (skip).

C.S.C.C.
T. Armstrong, E. W. Simmonds, J. Hollidge and A. W. Grimitt (skip); H. L. Lockhart, J. F. McGowan, N. J. Bebbington and R. P. Phillips (skip); S. Eccleall, S. Alderman, F. Jones and J. W. Deakin (skip).

Reserves:—H. E. Strange and R. R. Wood.

A. P. ("TICH") FREEMAN.

A LOSS TO HOCKEY

A. A. DAND GIVING UP GAME

LEADING LOCAL PLAYER

(By "Sticks".)

After fourteen years of active participation in hockey, Mr. Arthur A. Dand, the popular captain of the Hongkong Hockey Club first eleven, and a Vice-President of the newly formed Hongkong Hockey Association, has retired. He will not be playing this season, although his interest in the game will remain and he will probably assist the Club in the capacity of referee.

Mr. Dand, known to all his team mates as "Arthur," has played in the centre-half position for the Club for many seasons. He has appeared in the now defunct Sim Shield series in every successive year since its inception in 1925. This constitutes a record.

Dand was an absentee in a few matches last season, owing to an ankle injury and later, in January illness confined him to hospital. During his absence G. E. R. Divett led the team.

DURHAM COUNTY PLAYER.

Commencing his hockey career some fourteen years ago, Dand played for the North Durham Club from 1919 to 1924, in the positions of centre-half and right half-back. In 1923, he played right half for Durham County. In 1924, he came to Hongkong and soon established himself in local hockey circles. He has been playing for the Club ever since.

He was a member of the original Club Sim Shield team in 1925, playing at left full-back, his partner being Harry Owen Hughes, who is now the Club's right wing.

It is of interest to note that the Rev. E. W. L. Martin, Warden of St. Stephen's Boys' College, also a former Sim Shield player, has represented Durham County. This distinction is shared by yet a third Club player, J. E. Potter, the Hon. Secretary and left half-back of the Club.

HIS SUCCESSOR.

Mr. Dand has shown the keenest interest in hockey affairs and has presided over the Council meetings of the Hockey Association very ably.

His position in the Club team is likely to be filled by H. J. D. Lowe, another extremely reliable defender.

FIRST WIN FOR BRENTFORD

THREE POINTS IN TWO MATCHES

London, Aug. 31. Brentford, promoted from the Third Division, continued to display the promising form shown by them in their opening match of the season when they drew against Notts Forest by to-day, beating Bradford by two clear goals.

In the Northern section of the Third Division, Carlisle and Barnsley played a goalless draw.

The Kowloon Cricket Club lost their big chance of making certain of the runners-up position in the "C" Division of the tennis league yesterday, when they were beaten by the Army Tennis Club on their own courts at King's Park.

One of the best performances of the day was credited to the Kowloon Dock Recreation Club, who visited the Kowloon Indians and won by a margin of two sets. The Central British Association had a hard struggle with the Deutscher Klub before being finally beaten by the odd set.

THE ERRORS.

The point score thus reveals that only 12 points separated the two teams at the finish. An analysis of the strokes of the players also gives interesting
figures. Thus Austin gave away
22 points less than Merlin on errors, whilst scoring only four more winning shots (22 to 18).
Perry conceded 13 double-faults
against Cochet (who gave away
6), but the Englishman's winning strokes outnumbered those of Cochet by 63 to 41. In the matter of errors the figures of both were approximately equal.

The improvement in Cochet's
game on the third day against Austin is reflected in his total of winning shots, 60 as against Austin's 33. Cochet conceded
nearly 150 errors during the five sets, and Austin nearly 140. Perry
kept down his double-faults to five against Merlin in the last match, won 39 points by winning shots (to Merlin's 34), and con-

NEW YORK STOCK
EXCHANGEYESTERDAY'S MARKET DULL

According to Messrs. Swan, Culbertson and Fritz, the New York market was dull yesterday. Business 1,140,000 shares. The Wall Street Journal report on yesterday's market: The market was dull and irregular and traders are holding aloof due to long weekend as all major markets with the exception of livestock will be closed Saturday and Monday, Labor Day holiday. The Stock Exchange admitted to listing the stocks of companies reorganized in the dissolution of Drug Inc., these include United Drug, Vick Chemical, Stirling Products, Life Savers Corp. and Bristol Myers Co. Our New York Office cable (this morning).

Stocks: The market was featureless during the day and was subject to minor profit-taking at the close. Wheat: Liverpool's apathy made an early lower market. Good buying on the decline turned prices sharply. Beliefs that wheat should be bought on setbacks. September liquidation is virtually completed. Cotton: The Government's review of the processing tax on September 7th and crop report on the 8th is awaited as possible incentives for renewed interest. Reports of damage to crop are not construed as more than normal August deterioration. Poor demand for goods is reported on Worth Street (the place goods section). Spot demand quiet. Silver: The market is listless. Our New York Office cable (last night).

Stocks: There seems to be little interest in Utilities. The market action is increasingly good and purchases are suggested. Wheat: Liverpool follows advance here reluctantly. Strong new buying developed as September liquidation nears completion and general outlook furnishes reason for continued advance. Cotton: Hedge selling meets the upturn. Speculative buying is restricted other wise the market is restlessness and very quiet with a sagging tendency. Dow-Jones averages:

NAZI'S ESCAPE

FREED FROM PRISON BY FRIENDS' RAID

Bolzano, Aug. 31. The Austrian Nazi leader, Horst Hofer, who was freed from prison in the Tyrol by friends disguised as members of the Austrian Heimwehr, yesterday, has reached Italian soil.

After a severe chase, in which Hofer was wounded in the leg by Austrian police, he and his friends eventually reached the Italian frontier station of Brenner. Hofer was in a most dishevelled condition, dirty and blood-stained.

After a lengthy police examination he was allowed to proceed to Bolzano where he appealed to be allowed to go to Germany. He said he would be killed if he were to be sent back to Austria. Hofer has been detained while the local authorities consult Rome.—Reuter.

AMERICAN SOLDIER'S STIFF SENTENCE

Fort Sherman, Aug. 31. Convicted at a court-martial in this Canal Zone of military base, when he was charged with the illegal possession of military secrets, Corporal Robert Osman, of Brooklyn, N. J., has been dishonorably discharged from the United States army and sentenced to three years' hard labour.

In addition the soldier has been ordered to pay a fine of U. S. $10,000 or serve an additional 18 years in prison with hard labour. Osman was not charged with selling military secrets to foreign powers.—Reuter.

NEW PUBLIC WORKS

COUNCIL APPROVE OF HEAVY VOTE

By unanimous vote, the Legislative Council yesterday approved of additional expenditure totalling $631,658 on local public works.

Of this sum, $509,918 will be spent on public works extraordinary, $60,000 on public works recurrent and $61,740 on ordinary departmental works.

In putting the motion, the Colonial Treasurer (Hon. Mr. M. J. Breen) said:

Honourable Members will recollect that the Honourable Colonial Secretary when presenting the 1933 Budget emphasised the importance of keeping a sum of $10,000,000 in surplus balances and explained that the Public Works programme was definitely restricted so that this figure be maintained. The proposals he submitted would involve a reduction of the surplus from $11,812,803, which he estimated would be the opening figure of the year, to $10,161,131 at its close. It turned out, however, that 1933 opened with $12,847,062 or $1,034,259 better than was anticipated, and as the financial position during the current year has remained reasonably favourable, there is available for further expenditure during the year this sum of $1,034,259. The Supplementary Estimates now submitted amount to $631,658 which allows a substantial margin for eventualities.

For Urgent Works.

The object of this resolution is to place further funds at the disposal of the Public Works Department during the current year for the purpose of undertaking the additional urgent works recommended by the Honourable Director of Public Works and enumerated in the list before Honourable Members. The proposals were laid unofficially before the Finance Committee of this Council in April last, approved by them and have now been sanctioned by the Secretary of State.

I now beg to move that this Council approves the recommendations made by the Director of Public Works and laid before Council and resolves that a sum of $631,658, distributed as follows:

Head 32 Public Works	$61,740.00
Department
Head 33 Public Works	60,000.00
Recurrent
Head 34 Public Works	509,918.00
Extraordinary
Total	$631,658.00

be charged upon the revenue and other funds of the Colony in addition to the sums already provided in the Estimates for 1933 for the purpose of carrying out these recommendations.

The Colonial Secretary (Hon. Mr. D. W. Traillman) seconded.

Information Asked.

The Hon. Sir Henry Pollock: I should like to ask where the Upper Levels Police Station is to be, and in item 34, I should also like to have some further information about the construction of a rubble mound at Kun Tong, first section.

The Hon. Director of Public Works: The Upper Level Police Station is on the site of the old Police Training School in Caine Road. With regard to the rubble mound at Kun Tong, certain proposals are being submitted to the Government very shortly and if they are approved work will be put in hand in the near future.

Hon. Sir Henry Pollock: Sir, I would like....

H. E. the Governor: This is in connexion with the dredging in the Harbour. It has I think been mentioned before at a finance committee meeting, and is to enable approaches to No. 5 Wharf on the other side. It is Number Five Wharf, is it not, Mr. Paterson?

Hon. Mr. Paterson: The new wharf really has no number. I am afraid I do not know the number.

H. E. the Governor: In connexion with the approach, it was decided to seek some place where the silt might be placed and it is proposed to place it at Kun Tong, beyond Kai Tak. In order to allow the dredgings to be placed there, it has been found necessary to carry out some works there to create an area necessary to receive the deposits.

The Hon. Mr. Paterson: Number Five wharf, as a matter of fact is the wharf at which passengers ordinarily arrive. It is the one nearest this side.

H. E. the Governor: It is the new long one at the north end.

Hon. Mr. C. Gordon Mackie: I notice, one item for widening Magazine Gap Road. May I ask when this will be completed?

H. E. the Governor: It is proposed to put in a sum of money in next year's estimate in the hope that it will be completed next year.

CINEMA SCREENINGS

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES

When Robert Montgomery isn't working at the studio he may be found in one of four places, his rambling Spanish home in Beverly Hills, the tennis court, his favourite golf course or a polo field. No hour with four walls and a roof could contain the pop and vitality which belong to the popular young player appearing with Sally Eilers in "Made on Broadway," a new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production opening on Sunday at the Queen's Theatre. He likes plenty of room to move around and during his leisure time gets out of doors almost as soon as he can shed studio garb and bounce out of the house.

This young man, who in two short years has climbed to rapid stardom, must be doing something every minute. He never walks, he runs. He is always on his way to places to do things. He possesses a perpetual and contagious enthusiasm. When he works, he works with every ounce of his energy. When he swings polo club, tennis racket or golf club, he does it with an equal vigour.

During the first few months of Montgomery's screen life, he had very little time for anything except work. He rushed from picture to picture, sometimes working in two at the same time.

Since he has become an honest-to-goodness star, he has had more leisure to do the things which he likes, to play, to enjoy his home, to entertain his friends and to be entertained.

Montgomery's greatest ambition is to accumulate enough money to retire to a farm in northern New York where he can have horses, dogs, tennis courts and books. In the meantime, while he is working toward the goal, he is enjoying every moment of living.

"Cynara" Ronald Colman denies that he is a woman-hater. He likes women and women like him. Somewhere in the mysterious labyrinths of rumour and gossip and publicity there was generated the report that the star of "Cynara" at the King's Theatre today, was a woman-hater.

The failure of his own marriage has not made him cynical toward all marriage. But because he is a gentleman and because he is discreet, he runs rampant that Mr. Colman shuns of women.

Just after the war he married Miss Thelma Ray of the English stage. They had been appearing together in melodrama. The union was not a successful one. That isn't news, of course. Because of British divorce laws and because of geographical difference (Miss Ray in England and Colman in Hollywood), severance of the tie was not easy. Only a legal separation could be effected. And so it stands.

On the screen, he continues to be a polished cosmopolitan. Off the screen, he remains a popular bachelor, charming, sincere and circumspect.

For years Ronald Colman has been the inseparable companion and friend of Richard Barthelmess and William Powell. When Barthelmess married Jessica Hays Sargeant, there were those who said in figurative rocking chairs who predicted that it meant the dissolution of Hollywood's three musketeers. But the threesome went placidly on, except that it took on a fourth musketeer.

A couple of years later William Powell married Carole Lombard and to the winking cynophony this means as a cache for stolen cars, a peak-cay and a hideaway for the head of the racket.

Lillian Harvey is seen walking a tight-rope in "Happy Ever After". A story is attached to that performance. In this film she dreams that when she is given a try-out by directors at Hollywood, she sees herself dancing on a tight-rope. It was arranged that a double should take her place in this scene, but that idea did not meet her approval at all. For weeks she practised secretly and when the scene was shot she was able to give a perfect exhibition.

The story of "Happy Ever After" is the ordinary but eternally popular one of two men and a girl, but it has been treated on quite unusual lines having a fairy tale quality which makes a definite appeal.

"This picture is a highly polished effort and features an all-British cast. One of the high-lights of the film is the laughable dream sequence. Miss Harvey has never appeared to greater advantage than in this talkie. Here is a picture that everyone should see. Showing at the Central Theatre tomorrow.

"Best of Enemies" The secret is out as to Buddy Rogers' return to the movies. It is simply a case of his personality and versatility so ideally fitting the role in "Best of Enemies" that he stood out as the only star in Hollywood who could do it justice.

It means that American boy who has been written to fit Rogers' personality. In the picture, just as in his life, he is seen as a college boy whose extra-curricular activities include composing the school's musical shows and directing a jazz band.

It might be said that Buddy has been preparing for this role ever since he forsook the movies more than a year ago. In that time he has been appearing on the stage and radio with his own orchestra.

With Marian Nixon in the leading feminine role, "Best of Enemies" comes to the King's Theatre next Sunday.

"The Devil is Driving" The film which opened yesterday at the Queen's Theatre is a finely constructed melodrama which fully lives up to its unequal title and to the quality of its

HOPES FOR IMPROVEMENT IN ANGLO-JAPANESE RELATIONS

COTTON PARLEY DELEGATES

JAPANESE LEADER INTERVIEWED

BRITAIN AND JAPAN

The Japanese delegation to the Indo-Japanese Trade Conference, which is opening at Simla on September 21, arrived in the Colony this morning by the N.Y.K. liner Hakusan Maru.

The delegation is headed by Mr. Sawada, Minister Plenipotentiary without portfolio. He is accompanied by Mr. Terano, Director of the Trade Bureau of the Ministry of Commerce and eighteen representatives of the Japanese Government and leaders in Japanese industry.

Interviewed this morning by a representative of the Telegraph, Mr. Sawada said that the delegation will be joined at Simla by members of the Japanese Consulate General at Calcutta and the tri-partite parley between Indian, Japanese and British interests will begin.

TWO GROUPS.

The Japanese delegation is in two groups; one, representing the Government of Japan, which will negotiate the Treaty of Commerce with the Indian Government; and the other, representative business men, who will discuss trade relations with representatives of Indian commercial interests.

The latter group will, after the parley, proceed to London where discussions are to take place with representatives of British commerce; and, providing the outcome of the Simla Conference is satisfactory, Mr. Sawada will, with the Japanese Government representatives, proceed to London for further negotiations.

VERY CONFIDENT.

Regarding the prospects of a satisfactory conclusion being reached at the Simla Conference, Mr. Sawada stated he was very confident that the objects of the parley would be achieved, that is, putting trade relations on a better foundation.

Mr. Sawada said, "The Japanese delegation is imbued with a determination to bring about a state of good-will between the countries involved. We are approaching the Conference with an open mind and shall do everything in our power to bring about a satisfactory working agreement which will be to the mutual benefit and advantage of the three countries; India, Japan and Britain. We realise it is necessary for the peace of the world Britain and Japan must come together, as they always have in the past, and particularly relations between India and Japan must be close as they are two great Eastern countries. We also realise the interdependence of the countries in matters of trade."

TRADE CONNEXIONS.

Mr. Sawada pointed out that India has always been closely connected with Japan in trade. During the past 30 years or so, Japan has been a great purchaser of India's raw materials, particularly cotton, and until last year the balance of trade has always been in favour of India, that is, Japan has bought more from India than she has sold to that country. Now, owing to the rapid progress which has been made in Japanese industry, and in fact all other countries, to increase her exports so as to preserve her trade balances.

Therefore, it is hoped, the misunderstanding which has occurred recently with regard to Japan's industrial policy, will be cleared up at the forthcoming conference.

POLITICAL UNDERSTANDING.

The delegation is fully conscious that there are certain difficulties to overcome, stated Mr. Sawada, but with the instructions as to policy which have been given them by the Government of Japan they have every hope that there will be a successful outcome, the results of which will reflect greatly in a more complete understanding of present world-wide trade difficulties; and, what is most important, a better political understanding between Great Britain, Japan and India, and in fact all the nations of the British Empire.

FRIENDSHIP OF NATIONS

Mr. Terry's Address to Y's Men's Club

"NAPOLEON THE GREAT"

At the weekly luncheon of the "Y's Men's Club, Mr. C. E. Terry, Chairman of the Kowloon Residents' Association gave the members an interesting talk on international co-operation and goodwill. To be a true internationalist, said the speaker, one had to be a nationalist to a certain extent.

Mr. Terry's address was as follows:—Those of you who have had occasion to visit Kowloon on a busy day cannot fail to have been struck by the diversity of nations represented by the ships lying alongside. The flags of Great Britain, America, Germany, Norway, France, China, Japan—in fact of practically every country in the world both Oriental and Occidental can be seen at the same time either at the wharves or in close proximity in the stream, and serve as a striking example of how much we in Hongkong are dependent on international co-operation and goodwill. Particularly is this true as between ourselves and our nearest neighbours; not only must there be external co-operation and good will, but this is also essential internally in the Colony itself. This co-operation and goodwill must necessarily be based on mutual understanding and respect, and this can only follow an understanding on the part of the individuals of each country of each other's view point.

NAPOLEON'S NATIONALISM.

I have said that this understanding must be based on mutual respect—this is where Nationalism and Internationalism are interlinked. No one can be a true internationalist who is not to a certain extent also a Nationalist, but the perverted type of Nationalist who can see no good in any other country but his own is to be avoided like the plague; provided such a man is honest in his opinions, some measure of respect must be accorded him, but only too often this type of Nationalism is "Individualistic Nationalism." When carried to extremes, it is capable of plunging whole countries into chaos and distress for the glorification of one man or one party. History abounds with examples, and even in contemporary history we have not far to look for this type; the words of Ingersoll at the grave of Napoleon illustrate admirably what I mean. In recording his impressions as he stood at the grave, he said:—

"I thought of the orphans and widows he had made—of the tears that had been shed for his glory. . . . And I said I would rather have been a French peasant and worn wooden shoes. I would rather have lived in a hut with a vine growing over the door, and the grapes growing purple in the kisses of the autumn sun. . . . I would rather have been that poor peasant with my wife. . . . knitting as the day died out of the sky—with my children upon my knees and their arms about me—I would rather have been that man and gone down to the tongueless silence of the dreamless dust, than to have been that imperial personation of force and murder, known as 'Napoleon the Great.'"

Napoleon is a striking example of what I mean by "Individualistic Nationalism"—other examples will readily occur to you. I myself am an Irishman, and I have seen in my own time my country divided by bitter internecine strife through the megalomania of one man.

BASIS OF FRIENDSHIP.

Do not for one moment however imagine that I am decrying true Nationalism—a right and proper pride in one's own country and its history and achievements is the heritage of every man, but no thinking man can ignore the history and achievements of other countries, and in awarding them their full measure of respect and admiration lies the basis of a real international friendship. Here again the dangers of extremism creep in, and we get the type who can see good in every country but their own. This again is bad; no contact or friendship is of value which necessitates the subordination of one's own individuality, and this is just as true of countries as it is of individuals.

All the distrust and conflicts of the past have been built up on lack of knowledge—lack of knowledge of the other man's view point, habits and mode of life; in the world of to-day, everything is

ON PURITY

SCIENTIST'S NEW VIEWS

PURE MATERIALS CAN BE MADE

London.

But Dr. F. A. Freeth, chief research chemist of Imperial Chemical Industries, does not agree with the view that things made by nature are necessarily better than things made by man.

Speaking at an exhibition of refrigerants in London on this prevalent idea, he declared that practically no substance obtained from a natural source is pure—that is to say, the same all through—and that really pure materials can be produced by man.

By purity, he said, was sometimes meant "as good as could reasonably be got"—as in the case of milk—and sometimes it meant "non-harmful"—as in the case of water. Pure water was extraordinarily difficult to prepare, and if drunk in quantities it was exceedingly bad for health, as the fairly pure water obtained in the High Alps was known to be.

But from the point of view of refrigeration engineering, purity meant absolute purity. It meant that the chemical in question was absolutely the same all through—that if frozen it froze solid at a constant temperature; if distilled by the ton, the last ounce of mother liquor had the same composition as the first ounce of condensate and it was impossible to detect the difference between one sample and another. Man could achieve this high degree of purity. But nature could seldom do so.—Reuter.

CHAPAI SHOOTING

KOREAN SYMPATHISER BADLY WOUNDED

Shanghai, Aug. 31.

While lying in bed in his house in Chapei this morning, a man named Ruinhatsu, otherwise known as Liu Yin-fah, chairman of the Korean Friendly Society, was shot in the abdomen and seriously wounded by a young man who had broken into the residence.

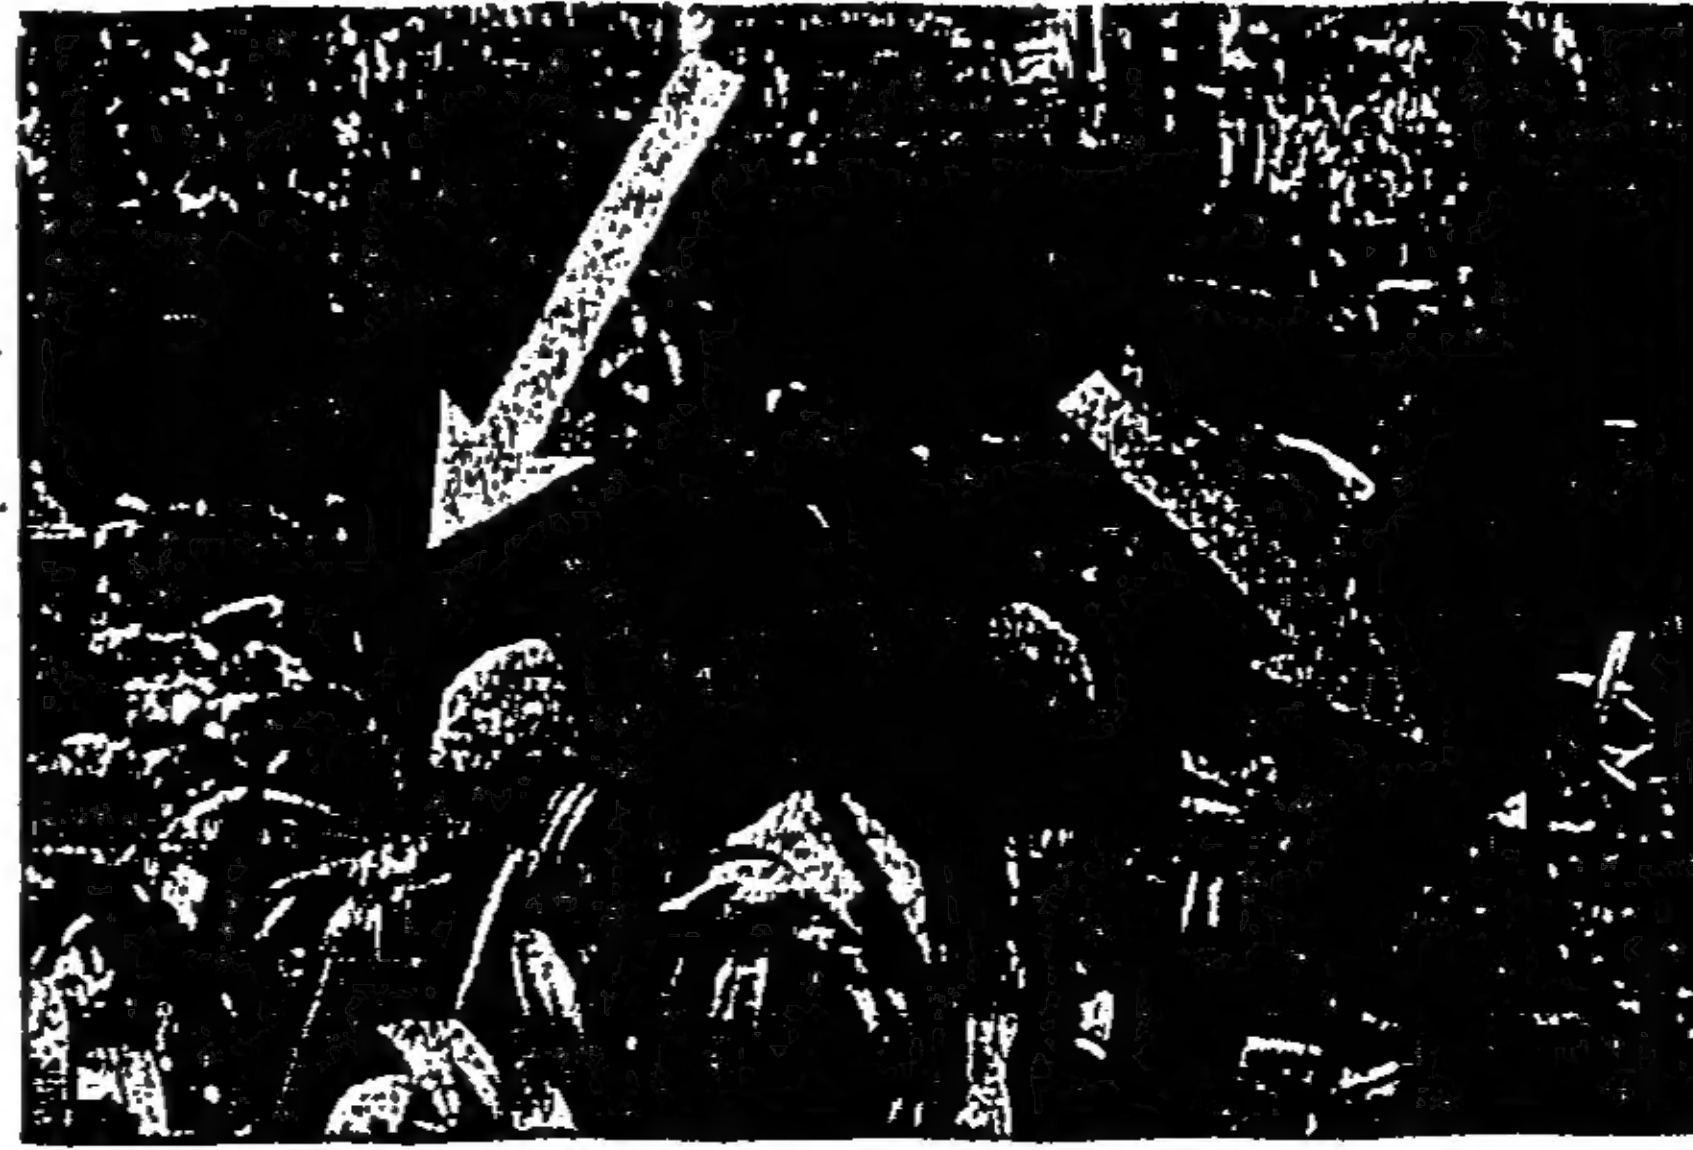

The wounded man was rushed to hospital and the gunman escaped. Police motives are believed to lie behind the shooting, as the society of which the wounded man was chairman, and which was only recently formed, is said to be opposed to the actions of the radical elements in the local Korean community.

This is the third attack upon a prominent Korean in Shanghai in recent weeks, as two others were murdered in the French concession only a short time ago.—Reuter.

tending to increase our knowledge and consequently to increase our understanding as between country and country, race and race. At one time, when it took a week to journey from London to Edinburgh, the people of the South of England knew nothing of the culture and civilisation of the Scottish capital, and considered everybody North of the Humber as barbarians and of no account. To-day London knows what is happening and what people are thinking in New York, Hongkong, Canton, and even some of the darkest parts of Africa almost as soon as the people of those very parts, and all this progress is wasted unless we can train ourselves to think internationally as well as—not instead of—nationally.

HONGKONG AND CHINA.

We in Hongkong are in the happy position of being in close contact all the time with our neighbours, and endless opportunities exist for furthering good-fellowship, understanding and good will. It is the younger generation on whom this responsibility chiefly devolves, and it is to Clubs such as yours that we look for a lead in this object. I cannot do better than quote from the striking address given by Dr. Henry of Canton to our local Rotary Club, when he said "Nothing can be more sure than that a Hongkong and Canton that know each other more, and hold a certain respect, even regard, one for the other will mean a happier and more prosperous South China," that is the end to which we are all striving, and an end which I am confident we shall achieve by co-operation, mutual give and take, and mutual work for the common end. (Applause).

Our photo shows a trench dug by the architects in the compound of St. John Cathedral in an endeavour to trace the home of the ants which have been ravaging the roof. The arrows point to where small nests were discovered and indicate the trench dug. A public appeal has been launched, through the Telegraph and South China Morning Post, for financial aid. The cost of repairs to the Cathedral will be at least $5,000 and the need is urgent.

The Admiral Arrives Too Soon

AND MISSES A SALUTE

A minor comedy was enacted on the bay recently when the model of the Victory, decked with bunting, was to fire a salute to Vice-Admiral E. R. G. R. Evans, Commander-in-Chief of the Africa Station, who arrived in the Carlisle with the three sloops.

The Carlisle was due at 10 o'clock and the volunteer crew of the Victoria, which was lying at anchor at the side of the Channel, were rowing out to man the ship. Suddenly the Carlisle appeared inside the harbour; and though the crew-to-be of the Victory rowed frantically, the flagship had gone by before they could reach their stations. The Admiral had arrived too early.

The sloops followed shortly afterwards and, when the last was in, 15 rounds were fired aboard the Victory, but by that time the war vessels were securely tied up at Congella, at the head of the Bay.—Reuter.

LARGEST DAM IN EUROPE

OPENED RECENTLY BY M. LEBRUN

Paris. The largest dam in Europe, sustaining an immense reservoir containing 305,000,000 tons of water, was opened recently by the French President, M. Lebrun.

The scene of this great feat of engineering is the Truyere, a mountain stream, in the district of Aveyron. Between two rocky sides of a gorge, which is 600 feet deep, the great dam containing 627,816 cubic yards of concrete, has been built to a height of 345 feet. It was begun in 1929. Its width at the top is 720 feet.

The harnessing of this mountain stream provides waterpower with which to operate a huge electric power-station. This station is, in part, serving Paris, more than 300 miles away, with electricity.—Reuter.

GIRL'S NIGHT RIDE

CYCLING ROUND IN CIRCLES

"The constable is always keeping an eye on me whenever I go out on the bicycle," remarked a pretty looking Chinese girl, Mow Cheung, charged before Mr. Schofield, at the Central Magistrate's Court this morning, with having ridden a push bicycle in a dangerous manner in Hennessy Road at 1 a.m. to-day.

The constable stated that he saw the defendant riding in circles in Hennessy Road at 1 a.m. to-day. There were no other cyclists with her, but after she was arrested she called out to someone in a bicycle shop. When he arrested her, defendant asked him to mind his own business.

Defendant stated that at 1.20 a.m. she hired a bicycle, and shortly after she had mounted it, fell off. She got on again and continued riding, but on the approach of a car stopped and allowed it to pass. Witness had threatened to arrest her if she rode again.

Mr. Schofield remanded defendant until to-morrow morning, to get verification of the time of the offence, on which point both the witness and the defendant had differed.

PARK KEEPER ATTACKED

IN THE BOTANICAL GARDENS

An incident in the Botanical Gardens earlier in the day, resulted in Mak Kau, a coolie being charged before Mr. Wynne-Jones in the Central Police Court this morning with assaulting a Forestry park-keeper. Defendant was convicted and fined $15 or three weeks' gaol.

It was stated that the defendant accosted some girls in the gardens, and when told by the guard to "keep off the grass" he bluntly refused. It was alleged that defendant then knocked the guard's hat off, and tore the badge from his uniform. The guard blew his whistle and gave chase. Defendant ran out of the gardens and was finally caught in Arbuthnot Road by an Indian constable.

It was revealed that incidents of this nature had become frequent of late.

R. O. PLEADS FOR ACCUSED

ASKS MAGISTRATE TO GIVE OPTION

Sentence of three months' gaol was imposed on a Chinese by Mr. Wynne-Jones in the Central Court this morning when the man faced a charge of boiling opium at 5, Tin Po Street.

R. O. Grimmitt said that the penalty had been three months without the option for many years now. He wondered if whether the magistrate would consider the option of a fine of $250. Mr. Schofield, he added was not keen on giving the option.

Mr. Wynne-Jones: Before I make any departure from this I would like to consult my brother magistrate.

UNMANIFESTED MONEY BROUGHT TO H.K.

Ignorance of the Law Plea Fails

Pleading guilty through Mr. C. E. Lowe, of Messrs. Denny & Co., Lee Chek, caterer aboard the s.s. Chung On was fined $25 by Mr. Wynne-Jones in the Central Police Court this morning, on a charge of bringing 2,500 Canton twenty cent pieces to Hongkong without placing it on the manifest. No order for confiscation was made.

Pleading in mitigation of the offence, Mr. Lowe said his client was asked by some people in Wuchow to deliver the money to the local To Hong Bank. He did not know he was breaking the law. The money was placed under the oil and gas, defendant explained to the Police, he did for fear that the money might be stolen. The oil was placed on the manifest. Defendant had been quite frank about everything when questioned by the authorities. He asked his Worship to discharge the defendant with a caution and not to confiscate the money.

Revenue Officer Grimmitt said that defendant had been on the run for a long time and was not ignorant of the law. He hid the money in packets under the oil.

The magistrate: I would not place five hundred dollars under the oil. I would choose the comrade's safe.

Mr. Lowe: These Chinese may have some suspicion of the comrade.

ELECTRICIANS STEAL FITTINGS

WHILST ENGAGED ON RE-WIRING HOUSE

An electrical fitter and his apprentice employed by the Electrical Department of Sincere Company, appeared before Mr. Wynne-Jones this morning charged with the theft of electrical fittings from house No. 22 Kennedy Road.

It was stated that the defendants were engaged on re-wiring the house. The apprentice acted under orders of the first defendant who told him to carry the fittings. First defendant was sentenced to six weeks' hard labour while the second man was bound over.

BROTHERS QUARREL

ONE STABS THE OTHER WITH PAIR OF SCISSORS

Two Chinese brothers had their quarrel settled at Kowloon Police Court this morning.

It was stated that the older one was working and the younger was always pestering him for money. On one occasion the younger one picked up a pair of scissors and stabbed his brother in the arm. Defendant was bound over in the sum of $50.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By W. E. McKenney

After a championship has been won, if you talk with the winners you will generally find that, while they might be able to name a hand in the tournament which they would have played in a different manner if they had another opportunity, it is seldom that a hand has been lost due to carelessness.

Just because your hand contains practically worthless cards you should not lose interest in the defence.

Walter Malowan of New York, a member of the team which recently won the All-American Contract Team-of-four championship at Hanover, N. H., gives us a hand to-day which well demonstrates this point.

The Bidding

Mr. Malowan was sitting in the North. His partner in the South was dealer and opened the contracting with one club. West passed—Mr. Malowan bid two clubs. East bid two spades, South three clubs. West went to three spades. North passed and East bid four spades. North and South were vulnerable, therefore they could not consider taking a sacrifice.

The Play

South opened the king of clubs and continued with the queen of clubs, which East trumped. Declarer took two rounds of trump which picked up the outstanding trump, and then led four rounds of diamonds, winning the fourth diamond in his own hand.

The bidding had practically marked South with the ace of hearts, therefore the declarer's only chance to make his contract was to find South with only the ace and one heart or to induce him to make a mistake. East, the declarer, next played a small heart, South played the ten and a small heart was played from dummy.

might be quite natural to play a small heart and allow partner's ten to hold the trick. However, if this is done the declarer will make his contract as South will now be forced to lead either the ace of hearts or a club, which will enable the declarer to ruff in one hand and discard a heart from the other.

However Mr. Malowan, sitting in the North, had been able to obtain a perfect count on his partner's hand, and he overtook his partner's ten with the queen. He immediately returned a heart which allowed his partner to win both the ace and jack of hearts, defeating the declarer's contract one trick.

FOR THE LOVE OF EVE BY LUCY WALLING

with you. Decided to go to meeting again. Don't wait up for me. I may be late. Love, Dick."

Eve wanted to cry. How could he go away and leave her to spend this dreadful evening alone? Reason reminded her that he had to spend the early part of the evening alone. But she couldn't help that. She had wanted to come home early. Dispiritedly she warmed over the food Dick had prepared for her—a chop and some stewed corn. There was a plain cabbage salad that had grown wilted and discoloured with waiting. There was a dish of canned peaches for dessert. They had had canned peaches for dinner the night before. And because she had forgotten to order fresh fruit they had had canned peaches for breakfast, too.

As Eve ate she became resentful, suspicious. Dick's going out that evening had not been a sudden decision. The hastily prepared meal proved that. This was Tuesday and it was on Tuesday evening that he had been away last week. He had said very little to her about that absence. In fact, he had avoided the subject when she had questioned him casually the following day. Laughingly, it is true, putting her off with the excuse that fraternal matters were secret and not to be discussed outside the lodge even with one's lovely and charming new wife.

Eve had just finished clearing the table and stacking the dishes at the sink when there was a knock at the door. She was startled for a moment. She tried to convince herself that she should not be nervous, yet she stood very still, half fearing to go to the door.

SLUM CLEARANCE

LIVERPOOL APPROVES
BIG PROGRAMME

GOVERNMENT'S ACTIVITY

London, Aug. 31.

A slum clearance scheme estimated to cost £7,400,000 was to-day approved by the Liverpool Corporation Housing Committee.

The scheme includes the demolition of 12,742 slum houses and the erection in their place of 15,692 houses to accommodate 40,000 people. Building operations, which will extend over several years, will alone employ 1,600 men.

The scheme is to be submitted for approval to the Minister of Health who called upon all local authorities affected to produce by the end of September five-year schemes for the definite elimination of the slum evil.

Many schemes have already been submitted and are receiving the consideration of the Ministry.

A few have been judged insufficiently drastic and have been returned to the local authorities for prompt amendment.

SLUM EVIL GONE.

Numerous progressive boroughs have already freed themselves of the slum evil but in other instances local difficulties have been encountered which will be swept aside in the campaign now

ENID WILSON WINNING

OF U.S. OPEN

LATEST RESULTS

Highland Park, Aug. 31.
Miss Enid Wilson, holder of the British title, and solo English challenger, continued on her winning path in the American women's golf championship to-day and qualified for the semi-final.

Playing in the quarter-finals, she defeated Miss Glutting by 2 and 1. Miss Wilson now meets Miss van Wie, who beat her opponent by a hole, in the semi-final.

The complete results of to-day's matches were:

Miss Enid Wilson beat Miss Glutting 2 and 1.

Miss Hicks beat Miss Robinson 4 and 3.

Miss van Wie beat Miss Cheney one up.

Miss Orcutt beat Miss Hill one up.—Reuter.

being undertaken by the Health Ministry.

Several London Boroughs have shown notable zeal in tackling the problem inherited from past days when conditions of housing out of all keeping with modern ideas of sanitation were considered quite normal.

BERMONDSEY EXAMPLE.

Bermondsey, for instance, where a few years ago whole areas consisted of hovels of the worst type, has replaced these by pleasant flats equipped with

BROADCAST ATTACKS

MUNICH. CARRIES

Munich, Aug. 31.

The steady stream of anti-Austrian propaganda continue to issue from the German broadcasting station in Munich.

Last night, the broadcaster was Herr Knaus, the chief Nazi official of Styria.

He accused Austria of faking its currency, in the course of a long condemnatory harangue, declaring that the State printing presses were uttering notes without any financial backing.

He asserted that all Austrian officials in Styria had been paid by the Government with two notes having the same values, the same numbers and the same dates.—Reuter.

baths, airy rooms kitchens and electric light.

Bermondsey is mainly inhabited by riverside workers and is entirely a poor area. But the manner in which those who were previously slum dwellers have responded to the opportunity of living in better surroundings is a complete answer to the sceptics who doubted the social effect of good housing condition.—British Wireless.
